HOUSE GROUP DISAPPROVES FEDERAL FUND RELIEF PLAN

Appropriations Committee Votes Down the Senate's Proposal to Contribute $25,000,000 to Aid the Distressed.

SALVATION ARMY HELP CONSIDERED

Democratic Senators, Determined in Fight for Money, Now Thinking of Increasing the Sum to $50,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The House Appropriations Committee today voted to disapprove the Senate $25,000,000 Red Cross proposal for relief. The vote was 18 to 11.

Representative Cramton, in charge of the bill, said the measure would be reported to the House, disagreeing with all of the Senate's amendments to the Interior Department supply bill.

The committee also rejected by the same vote the proposal by Representative Byrnes, ranking minority member, that the fund be made available to a Government agency to be designated by President Hoover.

Plans continued in the Senate, however, for some other relief agency to administer the fund that the Red Cross has refused.

Democratic Leader Robinson said he was considering proposals to ask the Salvation Army, the Public Health Service or some agency to administer it if the Red Cross stands by its refusal to accept the fund. "I expect to announce something definite in a day or two," Robinson said.

Robinson said he was willing to specify in his relief bill that the Red Cross "is at full liberty to employ such agencies as it chooses" to administer the fund.

Other Agencies Suggested.

"The purpose of the amendment," said Robinson, "is to give prompt and adequate relief and there is no objection to making it clear that the Red Cross is at full liberty to employ such agencies as it chooses.

"If the organization declines to make the distribution, it will be easy to substitute the Salvation Army, the Public Health Service, the American Legion or some other organization or agency."

Robinson was replying to a statement that the Red Cross would not administer the fund. "Those sponsoring the proposal are convinced that objections to it are captious. They are determined to do their utmost to secure its adoption or enactment of some similar provision," Robinson said. He added that messages were coming in from all sections of the country urging the substitution of some other agency for the Red Cross.

The controversy has brought one of the sharpest of the many issues between President Hoover and the Senate. House leaders, who have upheld the President in past contests, still are dubious of checking the $25,000,000 relief appropriation, which was voted by the Senate over the objection of the President.

Denies "Playing Politics."

Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross today issued a statement emphatically denying the charge made in the Senate yesterday that his organization was "playing politics." Payne asserted his organization was not in a position to administer the fund.

"No thoughtful member or friend of the Red Cross will be deceived by the charge made in the Senate that, in refusing to administer a $25,000,000 general relief fund, the Red Cross is 'playing politics,'" he said.

Payne said the welfare of the Red Cross required that "it continue its historic voluntary rule and refuse to be drawn into politics." Payne said the actual work had been done through local Red Cross chapters, adding that neighbors and friends of the sufferers in their home localities had extended the actual relief and determined the amount and character of the ration to be given. The bill under discussion is a general relief bill and not a drouth relief bill, he said.

What Red Cross Is Doing.

It would require, he declared, that the money be expended anywhere within the United States. He said unemployment relief was being given by splendid relief agencies in the cities such as the Salvation Army, the great Catholic, Jewish and Protestant charitable organizations. Red Cross officials said today it was feeding 42,332 more people in the drouth area

COAST GUARD AND LIQUOR CRAFT RUN CLOSE TEST RACE

Object to Determine Whether Canadian Vessel Could Have Been Overtaken Without Firing Shots.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Josephine K, Canadian rum runner, and the Coast Guard cutter 145 showed themselves almost equally speedy this afternoon. They met in a race off Ambrose Light over the course along which the cuter pursued the liquor ship Saturday night, overhauling and shelling her and killing her master, Capt. William P. Cluett. Unofficial observers said the ships covered the course in virtually the same time.

The purpose of the race, which was arranged by the Coast Guard board of inquiry investigating the shelling, was to determine whether the cutter had speed enough to overhaul the liquor ship without resorting to direct fire.

This question was injected into the investigation by Gerald Campbell, British Consul General in New York, who is participating at the request of the Canadian Government. Commander J. I. Bryan, presiding officer at the inquiry, announced the race at the opening of today's session.

The two vessels, one known as one of the fleetest craft in the liquor service, the other designed to cope with just such speedsters, were to cover the same two-mile course they raced over Saturday night, but this time there was a starting gun instead of a finish gun.

The Josephine K., the board of inquiry was informed, had been put in shape for today's race. Her steering gear was damaged by one of the direct hits scored by Boatswain Karl Schmidt in Saturday's encounter.

11.7 Miles Offshore.

The board heard testimony before the race from C. G. Burkett, executive officer of the Coast Guard cutter Sebago, who drew up alongside the Josephine K. a few hours after the shelling. He had been summoned by a radio message from the 145.

E. Gerald Shepherd, representing the British Consul, questioned Birkett in an effort to establish that the Josephine K. had been towed back within the 12-mile limit before he reached the scene. The Coast Guard officer did not think she had.

Birkett told the investigators that shortly after he boarded the liquor ship he talked with Alfred Cluett, whose brother, Capt. William P. Cluett, was killed. The officer said he inspected Alfred Cluett's bank book and was surprised to see a balance of only $50.

"I told him he must be a newcomer to this business," Birkett testified, "and he said, 'This is my first—and last—trip.'"

Barge Captain's Story.

Capt. Mario Landi of the barge Brooklyn, which was seized with the Josephine K., explained to the board of inquiry that the 1400 cases of liquor found aboard the Brooklyn were there through no fault of his. A band of 25 men, many of whom held their hands in apparent readiness to draw revolvers, forced him to accept the cargo when he was on his way back from a trip to the ocean dumping grounds, where he had deposited a load of refuse, he testified.

The Captain declared the boarding party, coming from the Josephine K., ordered him below, with his crew of two, and began loading burlap-wrapped packages on his scow. Shots interrupted that activity, he said, and straightaway the interlopers got furiously busy dropping the packages over the side into the water. About that time a speed boat pulled alongside, the band of 25 boarded her, and disappeared in the darkness. Shortly thereafter, Landi said, the cutter 145 appeared, and he and his crew of two were arrested.

SLAYER OF SIX LYNCHED BY MOB IN NORTH DAKOTA

SHERIFF TIED UP AT HIS HOME

Victim Pleads for Life of Father, Also Suspected in Killings—The Latter Is Not Molested.

By the Associated Press.

SCHAFER, N. D., Jan. 29.—Charles Bannon, 22 years old, confessed slayer of a family of six, was taken from the McKenzie County jail here shortly after last midnight by a mob of 80 men and hanged from a bridge. He was to have been arraigned tomorrow.

Bannon was arrested last November after he had sold hogs belonging to A. E. Haven, a farmer for whom he worked. He confessed killing Mr. and Mrs. Haven and their four children last February.

Seized by the mob, he pleaded in behalf of his father, James F. Bannon, also held for the murders. The father was not molested.

The men of the mob, all masked and some of them armed, battered down the jail door. The leaders asked Deputy Sheriff Peter S. Hallan for the prisoner. On his refusal to give them the keys they overpowered him, broke into Bannon's cell and departed with him in automobiles, first tying up at his home Sheriff F. A. Thompson, who was aroused by the noise of the timbers breaking down the doors. The Sheriff's home is two blocks from the jail.

Pushed From Bridge Rail.

At a bridge two miles east of here, a rope was produced from an automobile. It was fastened to the railing and a slipknot placed around Bannon's neck. He was pushed off the rail and dropped about 20 feet. The mob dispersed. No shots were fired. Bannon's body was found some time later, cut down and brought here.

Young Bannon was brought here several days ago from the Williams County jail at Williston, N. D., where he had been held for safekeeping since his arrest. He and his father were to have been arraigned on first degree murder charges.

Charles Bannon had confessed early in December that he had slain Mr. and Mrs. Haven and their four children. Bannon had been employed on the Haven farm, near Schafer, which is in Northwestern North Dakota. He told authorities that after a quarrel last February he shot and killed first one and then another of the Havens and buried their bodies in a barn.

Said Family Had Moved.

He told friends and neighbors that the Havens had left the farm and had gone to live in Oregon. No suspicion attached to him until late in November, when he was arrested on a charge of selling property that did not belong to him—hogs from the Haven farm. At his trial he was questioned repeatedly about the whereabouts of the Havens. Finally he told authorities he had helped bury a baby which he said Mrs. Haven had killed during a fit of insanity.

He led the officers to the spot where the body was buried. Further questioning and search eventually led to the finding of all the bodies and a confession that he alone was responsible.

Authorities continued a search for his father, who was wanted for questioning on certain details. He was arrested Dec. 13 near Toledo, Ore., at a tourist camp, and returned to North Dakota. He has denied any connection with the killings.

The lynching was the twelfth in North Dakota since 1888. The victims of the previous lynchings were seven white men, three Indians and a Negro.

Governor Orders Thorough Investigation Into Lynching.

By the Associated Press.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 29.—Gov. George F. Shafer today ordered a thorough investigation into the lynching of Charles Bannon and sent three State officials to the scene of the hanging near Shafer.

"The hanging of Bannon by a mob," Gov. Shafer said, "is a shameful act which destroys the good reputation of the State for law and order. Lynch law in North Dakota should not be tolerated."

ACTORS RUN SHOW WHEN LOSSES MAKE REAL OWNERS QUIT

W. C. Fields Pays Off Nightly in New York and Stars Share What Is Left.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—New York's only co-operative play is feeling stronger. At the Hammerstein Theater, where "Ballyhoo" is still running despite the recently gloomy predictions of its producer, a profit-sharing cast is hopeful that the production will finish the winter. Arthur Hammerstein closed the show about a month ago as a flop.

But W. C. Fields, comedian, and his co-workers, including the orchestra, decided to go on with the piece. Hammerstein let them have the use of the theater free and waived any share in the profits.

Fields was elected business manager. Every night after the final curtain he counts the cash. After the wages of the theater staff, the chorus and the orchestra are deducted, the principals split the rest—if any—share and share alike.

"Everybody owns this show," says Fields, "so everybody has a lot of bosses. But they've all got jobs, and jobs is what folks want these days."

CHARGED WITH USING GRAIN FROM RED CROSS FOR WHISKY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JONESBORO, Ark., Jan. 29.—Using grain donated by the Red Cross in the manufacture of whisky is the charge against Clarence Vandiver, who was arrested while working on the county road near Risher. He was doing the work in exchange for rations and feed donated by the Red Cross.

Vandiver is alleged to have gone Saturday to the committee and made regular application for the $3 rations allowed a family of five, and also for $2 for feed for livestock.

Accompanied by officers, the committee went to the home of Vandiver and is alleged to have found two cookers and a 30-gallon barrel of mash.

The committee has decided to visit every home that the Red Cross is aiding and determine the use being made of the money. Vandiver waived preliminary hearing and was released on bond.

WON'T CALL ENVOY HOME TO TELL OF SWEDISH LIQUOR PLAN

Stimson Refuses Request of House Group Planning Hearing on Dry Report.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Chairman Graham of the House Judiciary Committee said today the State Department had refused to permit American Ambassador Moorehead to return from Sweden to testify on that country's liquor control system.

He made the request in contemplation of intensive hearings on the report of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission. Holding the hearings is still being considered, he said, but no plans have been made.

"I asked the State Department to allow Ambassador Moorehead a leave of absence, in order that he might give us his views on the workings of the Swedish system of liquor control," Graham said. "Secretary Stimson wrote me, declining. There was no explanation."

A modified form of the Swedish system was proposed by Henry W. Anderson, a member of the Commission from Virginia, as a substitute for the present prohibition laws.

CUBAN VOODOOISTS CHARGED WITH SACRIFICING WHITE CHILD

Several Arrested After Kidnaping of Victim, Slain in Belief Blood Was Needed to Cure Woman.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Jan. 29.—Voodoo worshipers in the hills of the interior were charged today by Mariano Torres, Subinspector of the Judicial Police, with having kidnaped and sacrificed the white child, Martin Perez, in their weird rites.

The boy was kidnaped Christmas eve from a plantation near the town of Artemisa. Torres, who investigated the disappearance, said the boy had been sacrificed by the Voodooists in the belief that the blood of a white child was needed to cure the mental disease of a woman named Alepandrina, who lives in the town of San Antonio de Los Banos. The same cure was to have been applied, he said, to another woman. Several persons have been arrested and charged with witchcraft.

Torres said relatives of the women cast lots and chose Gonzales Larrinaga as the kidnaper, but his attempt to steal a child named Jose Martinez failed and he was arrested. Lots were cast again, Torres said, and Lucas Quintana was chosen. He succeeded and when he was arrested said the sorceress, Andrea Chile, had directed the kidnaping.

The body of the Pere boy has not been found.

TO URGE CLOSER REGULATION OF SERVICE CARS

Aldermanic Committee to Recommend "Putting Teeth" in the Ordinance Governing Them.

HEARS RECORD OF THEIR DEFICIENCIES

Speeding, Over-Crowding, Interference With Traffic Among Complaints Recited Against Them.

Service cars are "running wild" in St. Louis, in the opinion of members of the Special Transportation Committee of the Board of Aldermen. The statement was made in the committee's meeting yesterday that effective regulation of this speedy form of transit was nonexistent here. The committee, which is considering the recent report of the Transportation Survey Commission, intends to recommend "putting teeth" in the ordinance regulating service cars.

Capt. John Goodin, head of the Police Traffic Bureau, and City Traffic Engineer Gonter were at the meeting, and Aldermen mentioned among the things to which they objected about service car operation the following:

Speeding, reckless driving and "hogging" the road.

Jockeying for business, interfering with other traffic.

Failure to maintain spaced intervals between cars.

Run in Profitable Hours.

Operation only in profitable day hours, infrequent night cars charging a high rate and running ahead of owl trolleys to try to pick up passengers waiting for the latter.

Lack of officially established and maintained routes.

Inefficient brakes on some cars; dangerous doors on some; lack of speedometers or the disconnecting of speedometers on some.

Overcrowding.

Slow driving downtown in looking for passengers, interfering with traffic, and causing congestion in loading zones.

Alderman Wiehe, chairman of the committee, began the complaints, saying to Capt. Goodin: "If a business man fails to make a boulevard stop or parks five minutes too long, a policeman is sure to give him a ticket, but you don't do anything about service car drivers. Why don't you put those fellows where they belong? They don't stop for anything."

Cost of Joining Association.

Alderman Kaufmann, who rides in service cars regularly, said they made the round trip between Third street and University City in 45 minutes, with stops for passengers, showing that they must speed. He related that a driver had said it cost $400 or $500 to join one of the two associations controlling the business, the United Service Car Co. and the St. Louis Service Car Co. Alderman Neu proposed that service cars be confined to streets not having bus or trolley lines.

Capt. Goodin said he could control service cars if his force of 70 motorcycle officers were augmented by 100 men. Alderman Schwartz replied that two policemen in a week's time could abate troubles by rigid inspection of the drivers' licenses.

Traffic Engineer Gonter, supervising service cars for the Street Department, recommended a complete revision of the ordinance on the subject, with provision of stringent regulations and severe penalties. He insisted that a sufficient force of inspectors, not authorized to make arrests, would be needed for enforcement.

Can't Enforce Rules.

Only the three general traffic inspectors are available now, aside from the meager force for checking cars when they are licensed. As a class, Gonter asserted, service car drivers are "doing very well," but "there are a few who can't understand they must operate in a reasonable manner." Gonter said the department was unable to enforce new rules of the Board of Public Service about downtown loading and speedometers.

It was asserted that the city did not exercise or lacked the right to fix routes and schedules.

Oliver T. Remmers, attorney for the Bus Drivers' Union, told the committee that there was a general tendency to make transportation a monopoly under strict public control. Other large cities he declared, barred service cars altogether or kept them out of the business district. He advocated an equalization of taxation between busses,

U. S. APOLOGIZES TO ITALY FOR GEN. BUTLER'S REMARKS; COURTMARTIAL FOR OFFICER

Admits That in Philadelphia Speech He Repeated Story That Mussolini's Auto Ran Down Child and Did Not Stop.

SECRETARY OF NAVY ORDERS HIM TO TRIAL

State Department Expresses Regret —Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. Credited With First Telling Tale That Caused Uproar.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The United States Government has apologized to Premier Mussolini of Italy because of a recent speech in Philadelphia by Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the Marines, in which remarks derogatory to the Premier figured.

Secretary of State Stimson, in a note handed Italian Ambassador de Martino, formally apologized to Mussolini and the Italian people for the remarks made by Butler.

Only a short while before, Secretary of the Navy Adams had ordered a courtmartial for the Marine officer.

Butler had been reported publicly as saying he had been told by a friend that Mussolini's automobile struck a child and that the Premier drove on without stopping.

Substance of Remarks Admitted.

Adams, while not divulging Butler's explanation of the incident, said today that, on the strength of the order for courtmartial, it seemed fair to assume he had admitted the "substance" of his alleged Philadelphia remarks criticising Mussolini.

"Having learned from the Navy Department that Major-General Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps," a formal statement by Stimson said, "has admitted that the quotation of his remarks in the press was substantially correct, I have this morning handed a note to the Italian Ambassador expressing to Signor Mussolini and to the Italian people the deep regret of this Government at this unauthorized action on the part of an officer on active duty."

Ambassador de Martino called on Stimson, at Stimson's request, to receive the note. The Ambassador expressed satisfaction afterward that the United States Government had acted to ameliorate what was considered by the Italians as an affront to Italy.

Text of U. S. Apology.

The American note was dated Jan. 29 and read as follows:

"Excellency:

"I have the honor to express the deep regret which this Government feels at the reflections against the Prime Minister of Italy in the unauthorized speech of Major-General Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps, at Philadelphia on Jan. 19.

"The sincere regrets of this Government are extended to Mr. Mussolini and to the Italian people for this discourteous and unwarranted utterance by a commissioned officer of this Government on active duty.

"Accept, Excellency, the renewed assurance of my highest consideration.

"Signed
"HENRY L. STIMSON,
"His Excellency,
"NOBILE GIACOMO DE MARTINO,
"Royal Italian Ambassador."

State Department officials could not recall any similar apology recently. On occasion, the Government has apologized to other governments where loss of life has resulted from skirmishes such as in China or incidents involving unwarranted seizure of goods of a foreign nation. This Government formally apologized in 1929 when the Washington police seized and later released a diplomatically immune

PIPE LINE FIRM'S TRUCK CROSSES BERRY PATCH

Property Owner Charges Deputy Held Her at Bay With Machine Gun.

The berry patch of the Fuchs family, on Ambs road near Jefferson Barracks, was crossed today by a truck being used in construction of the Phillips Petroleum Co. gasoline pipe line despite the warning sign—"No trespassing, keep out or get shot," which was posted there.

With six other landowners in the vicinity of Jefferson Barracks the Fuchses have been resisting efforts of the oil company to complete the last 10 miles of its 1000-mile pipeline from the Texas Panhandle by crossing their land. They have demanded that the company buy the land outright instead of leasing a right-of-way.

Mrs. Herman Fuchs stood in the berry patch and watched the truck as it was driven by. Her husband and his brothers, John and Joe, who patrolled their boundaries yesterday with rifles and shotguns ready to repel any invasion, were not there.

Deputy Has Machine Gun.

Mrs. Fuchs charged that Deputy Sheriff Orion Litzsinger held her at bay with a machine gun as the truck entered her husband's farm. Litzsinger said she had mistaken his movements, that the machine gun was not loaded, and that if it had been pointed at her that happened inadvertently as he manipulated it to keep it from becoming entangled in the berry bushes.

Litzsinger said he had been sent there with another deputy, John Corrigan, to preserve the peace and see to it that workers on the pipe line were not harassed. The oil company, he said, has condemnation proceedings pending, and any interference with its workers would constitute contempt of court. Litzsinger said the company had deposited money with the clerk of the Circuit Courts at Clayton sufficient to safeguard the rights of property owners with whom it has not been able to come to terms.

Herman Fuchs, who said yesterday that his family had owned the farm on which he lives for 100 years and that he did not propose to have his berry patch torn up, left after the entry had been made to consult his attorney in St. Louis. He said he would probably seek an injunction.

In State of Siege.

Since November residents of the vicinity who have not agreed to terms with the oil company have been living in a state of siege, dodging process servers by remaining within their homes. Others have abandoned them and are living in St. Louis.

The oil company has considered changing the route of its line to avoid the property of objectors, but it was said today that adjacent landowners had proved to be equally adamant in their demands.

The terminus of the line, when it is completed, will be on the east side near Cahokia.

STOCK EXCHANGE EXPELS TWO BROKERS, SUSPENDS ANOTHER

Members of Barbour & Co., Charged With Supplying Own Securities to Customers.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The New York Stock Exchange today announced the expulsion of Philip L. Smith and Philip W. Smith, and the suspension for one year of Henry M. Wreszin. All are connected with Barbour & Co.

Action was taken under the sections of the rules forbidding a member to have an interest adverse to that of a customer.

The firm, which acted as specialists in certain issues for other brokers, was found to have supplied stocks owned by themselves, rather than buying stock in the open market, in executing orders for other brokers, and to have charged commissions without disclosing that they were supplying their own stock.

The firm merely did a business for other brokers, and had no public clientele.

With the announcement of the expulsions, it was disclosed that the firm had dissolved as of Jan. 10. It was formed in 1902.

$4500 STOLEN IN HOLDUP OF BANK AT GORHAM, ILL.

Two Robbers With Shotguns Intimidate Employes and Customers and Flee in Auto.

By the Associated Press.

GORHAM, Ill., Jan. 29.—The First National Bank of Gorham was robbed of about $4500 soon after it opened today by two men with shotguns. The robbers escaped in a small sedan which headed west.

Cashier E. Schwartz, Blanche Peters, assistant cashier, several customers and a man making measurements for a new vault, were in the bank when the robbers entered. One robber stood guard at the door while the other forced Schwartz to turn over all currency easily accessible. The men wore high top boots and corduroy trousers. The automobile bore a license issued to a Menard (Ill.) resident.

THOMASSONS AT HOTEL IN E ST. LOUIS TWO DAYS

They Have Been Out of State Since Application for Guardian Was Filed.

Hugh W. Thomasson, 73-year-old capitalist and his 28-year-old wife, who announced a week ago that they had been reconciled and would drop litigation over Thomasson's annulment suit, spent the last two days at the Lo-May Hotel, Fifth street and St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, it was learned today. They have been out of the State since an application was filed in Probate Court at Clayton Tuesday asking that a guardian be appointed for Thomasson.

The Thomassons left the hotel at 12:50 p. m. today after reporters and police learned that they had been staying there. They were last seen driving north in Fifth street in Mrs. Thomasson's sedan with her Negro chauffeur.

29 MINERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN INDIANA

Nine Other Men Rescued From Shaft Near Linton, Seven of Them After Remaining in the Workings All Night.

DAY SHIFT GOING OFF AT THE TIME

By the Associated Press.

LINTON, Ind., Jan. 29.—Twenty-nine miners were killed in an explosion at the Little Betty Coal Mine near here late yesterday. With the rescue of two men last night and seven more this morning, all the men in the mine had been accounted for.

Twenty-eight bodies had been taken from the mine this morning and one man died last night after being taken out. Fifteen bodies have been identified.

The men who were brought out alive this morning had barricaded themselves in an entry off one of the main corridors. When they were brought up alive rescue workers renewed their eforts to penetrate the gas-filled shaft in the hope still others might be found alive.

Two Others Escape.

Those brought to the surface were Locie Hale, Juie Wellington, William Bedwell, Ben Snyder, Charles Love, Juss Crouss and Herman Brown. All were in good condition.

Only two miners, Don Burris and Joe Wallace, of those in the immediate vicinity of the blast which wrecked the west entry, escaped immediately after the explosion. A third, Earl Bedwell, taken from the shaft alive, died of his burns last night.

Most of the 115 men of the day force working in the west entry had just left the mine when the explosion sent its warning over a two-mile radius. Others quickly scurried to safety, but it was reported that 32 were trapped underground.

Quickly organized rescue teams worked through the night while hundreds of persons, including wives and children of miners milled about the pit mouth. Eight of the rescuers were temporarily overcome by the gas.

Belief was expresed that a spark had ignited a gas pocket. Poisonous gas and brattices broken by the explosion delayed progress of the rescue crews.

Follows Trolley Wire.

Burris, from his hospital bed, told how after the explosion he grabbed a trolley wire and followed it toward the mine mouth, calling to others to follow him. He said suddenly "everything went black" and he did not remember anything more until he reached the air. He was unconscious in the mine for two hours before rescuers reached him.

The mine is operated by the Little Betty Mining Corporation of Chicago, of which Lyle Dayhoff is president. It is said to be one of the largest producing mines in the state.

Peter Donie, vice president and superintendent of the mine, rushed to the scene from his home in Vincennes, Ind., and entered the workings with one of the first rescue teams. He was carried out later in a state of collapse.

BILL TO RESTRICT PIPE LINE FIRMS TO COMMON CARRIERS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A bill to prevent pipe line companies from engaging in business except as a common carrier was introduced today by Congressman Hoch (Rep.), Kansas.

The measure would compel big refining and producing companies to divest themselves of all pipe line properties. It would have a far-reaching effect on the petroleum industry. Hoch aims it to protect independent producers.

In a statement, Hoch—a power on the House Interstate Commerce Committee that handles such matters—charged that "through manipulation of accounts between the producing, refining and transportation branches of their business they can give unfair competition to producing or refining companies which have no pipe lines."

WITHOUT ceremony of any kind, the ashes of N. M. Wilson, 82-year-old retired river boat engineer, who died Jan. 5, were poured into the channel of the Mississippi River where he spent most of his adult life. His friends, C. S. HENRY and W. L. ALBERTS, are shown on the middle span of Eads Bridge, as they followed Wilson's instructions to the letter.

HOUSE GROUP VOTES DOWN FEDERAL FUND TO RELIEVE DISTRESS

than yesterday, raising the total to 701,609, adding that $4,207,941 had been raised of the $10,000,000 fund.

The Byrnes proposal provided that, if the Red Cross declined to distribute the money appropriated, the President would be empowered immediately to designate some governmental agency to make the distribution for the relief of humans.

Should the House fail to give unanimous consent to send the measure to conference, it will be necessary to provide special legislative status and a vote will be had on the Red Cross proposal. This means that there may be several days of delay.

The Senate originally voted a $60,000,000 fund for loans to drouth stricken farmers which would have included loans for food, but the amount was cut to $45,000,000 and confined to feed, seed and fertilizer loans after opposition from President Hoover.

Senate Democrats also are considering, in case the Salvation Army is selected as the distributing agency, raising the appropriation to $50,000,000. Robinson believes a majority of the House is aligned with him in his conflict with President Hoover over relief funds.

Payne, in telling the House Appropriations Committee that his organization did not want any money from the Government, said the Red Cross was feeding the drouth-stricken farmers better food than they themselves would purchase with their own funds.

Payne said in his testimony yesterday afternoon that from his 10 years of experience as head of the organization, he had gained the knowledge that, if Congress aided the Red Cross, "the bottom would drop out of private contributions."

In the 50 years of life of the American Red Cross, Payne said, no actual contribution had been asked of the Government and none had been received. Equipment and supplies had been lent from Government departments during the Mississippi flood, he said, but they had been returned after the emergency was over.

Coming from Arkansas, Albert E. Evans, Red Cross director, later in the day testified in the House that about 57,000 families had been cared for to date, with about 50,000 additional to be fed by Feb. 1, exclusive of hot lunches given school children. The average cost for feeding one person a month, he testified, was $2, or about two and two-ninths cents a meal.

The Red Cross diet, he asserted, was better at that cost than was customary for planters to give their tenants and share-croppers. Arkansas merchants, Evans said, had cut food prices to where there was no profit. Ninety-five per cent of the drouth families, he said, had, in addition to Red Cross food, vegetables, such as turnips, carrots, beets and kale.

"There has not been an authenticated case of starvation, but I am not saying that there are not a great many hungry people," he said.

Boston Banking Houses' Warning on "Soul-Destroying Dole."

BOSTON, Jan. 29. — Seventeen Boston banking houses have united in a warning to the public that a Congressional appropriation for the Red Cross would set a percedent for the "soul-destroying dole" and work inevitable injury to the world's great relief agency.

The First National Bank, Lee, Higginson Trust Co., and Kidder Peabody Trust Co., are among the members of the Boston Clearing House Association who have taken this unusual measure.

"The undersigned members of the Boston Clearing House Association," they said, "strongly urge you to subscribe promptly and generously to the American Red Cross for drouth relief. The need is great and immediate.

"In addition there is at stake the American principle upon which the Red Cross is founded, namely, that it shall administer emergency relief out of volunteer funds free from political influence.

"If adequate funds are now provided there will be no justification for Congress to appropriate public money as is suggested. Such an appropriation would set a precedent for the uneconomic, soul-destroying dole, and inevitably the efficiency of the world's greatest relief organization would be impaired by political interference."

Arkansas House Passes $15,000,000 Drouth Relief Bill.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 29.—The Arkansas House of Representatives today passed the Fleming bill, providing for a $15,000,000 State bond issue for relief of drouth sufferers. The proceeds of the issue would be loaned to farmers to make the 1931 crop and for purchase of food for their families.

ASHES OF OLD RIVER MAN SCATTERED IN THE MISSISSIPPI

Friends Carry Out Request of N. M. Wilson, Retired Engineer Who Died Jan. 5.

The request of N. M. Wilson, retired river boat engineer, that his body be cremated and the ashes cast into the Mississippi River from the center span of the Eads Bridge, was faitfully carried out yesterday by two old friends.

There were no ceremonies of any kind. C. S. Henry of 3113 Caroline avenue, who promised 10 years ago that he would execute Wilson's wishes, emptied a cardboard box over the rail while W. L. Alberts, 5417 Arlington avenue, stood at his side with bared head.

Wilson, 82 years old, died Jan. 5 at his home, 2812 Washington boulevard, following injuries in an automobile accident Nov. 17. Having no relatives, he had lived alone for 12 years since he retired as engineer of the Government boat "Nokomis." Following in his father's footsteps, he had been a river engineer all his life.

TEXTILE STRIKE IS ENDED IN TWO VIRGINIA MILLS

Workers at Riverside and Dan River Had Been Out for Exactly Four Months.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Va., Jan. 29.—The strike of union textile workers in the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills ended late today, exactly four months after the workers walked out.

Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, the organization in charge of the strike, explained the termination of the strike by saying action of the mills in taking old employes back in considerable numbers without raising the question of union membership indicated this principle of labor was being respected.

C. S. Garrison, publicity man for the American Federation of Labor, said that while the vote taken among members of the local union would not be completed until 6 o'clock, a count showed the members overwhelmingly in favor of terminating the strike and returning to work.

"We understand," Garrison said, "that from 800 to 1000 of the workers can immediately be put to work in the mills. Others will be added gradually when the machinery is ready."

EX-GOV. WALTON, ENRIGHT, INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Impeached Executive of Oklahoma and Former Police Head of New York Named in Oil Case.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Jan. 29.—A pamphlet "why investors lose in oil" has led to the indictment of an ex-Governor of Oklahoma, a former New York Police Commissioner, an editor and a stock promoter on charges of using the mails to defraud.

J. C. "Jack" Walton, impeached as chief executive of Oklahoma; Richard E. Enright, the former ex-Commissioner of Police; Henry Knight Miller, editor of "Psychology"; and S. E. J. Cox of Oklahoma City were among 19 persons formally accused by a Federal grand jury here yesterday.

Basis of Charge.

Roy St. Lewis, District Attorney, asserted the pamphlet, written by Walton, assisted in building up confidence through which the public was defrauded of $750,000. Walton, now a candidate for Mayor of Oklahoma City, was the first chairman of the pre-organization board, the District Attorney said.

Cox, recently acquitted of mail fraud charges in Texas after serving a term with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and oil promoter, was said to have been the unofficial head of the scheme.

Cox and eight others have been free on bond for months. Walton, Enright and Miller have not been arrested.

Enright previously had been questioned in connection with a letter published over his signature by the company. The letter purporting to be the report of an investigation, said the company was "one of the most profitable in America."

Lewis said at that time the company was paying out 90 cents of every dollar for salaries and promotion.

Miller was to have been paid 5 per cent of brokers' commissions for advertising in his magazine, Lewis said.

Promotion Letter.

Evidence before the grand jury included a letter, purporting to bear Walton's signature, to prospective customers.

"As Governor of Oklahoma," it was stated, "I came into close contact with the secret working of that mysterious machine which determines the destinies of nations and institutions. * * * A smoke screen of propaganda is keeping the outsider misinformed, while the insider is grabbing billion dollar oil and gas structures defined by scientific research. * * * To gather a portion of this wealth from oil and gas, a few of my business friends and myself are organizing an oil and gas company. We have acquired a refinery and producing property with a potential value of $10,000,000. * * * We would like to have you with us."

Enright will be permitted to make bond before a United States Commissioner in New York. A warrant is being forwarded for Enright's arrest.

Enright Quoted in Prospectus of Oil Company.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Richard E. Enright, New York Police Commissioner from 1918 to 1925 and candidate for Mayor in 1929, first became publicly identified with the Universal Oil and Gas Co. last February, when the Attorney-General's office, investigating sale of the company's stock in this State, summoned him as a witness.

He was called because Deputy Attorney-General Sherman had noted in a prospectus excerpts from two letters in which Enright was quoted as praising the company's properties, its outlook, and its personnel.

Enright denied he was connected with Universal Oil and Gas, save as a stockholder, but acknowledged having written the letters and said that, after a tour of inspection at the company's expense of its properties in Texas and Oklahoma, he had invested liberally in its stock and had persuaded some of his friends to do so.

He later produced canceled checks showing he had invested $2500 in Universal Oil and Gas, and he told Sherman he still considered it an excellent investment.

About a month before the investigation started here, Enright said he made a two weeks' trip to the company's wells in Stephens and Comanche Counties, Texas, and to its offices in Oklahoma City. The trip cost $250 and the company paid for it, but that, he said, was the only money he had ever received from Universal Oil and Gas.

One letter, dated Jan. 16, 1930, was quoted in full by the company, and references to Enright's former connection with the Police Department and some of his more enthusiastic comments were underlined in red.

Besides investing $1000 outright in stock, Enright said he had paid down $1500 in stock royalties for property leased by the company.

U. S. Apologizes to Italy For Gen. Butler's Remarks

Major-General Fuller, marine commandant, transmitted the order to Gen. Butler today and directed him to confine himself to his station at the marine barracks, Quantico, Va.

For nearly an hour this morning Adams was closeted with Navy and Marine Corps officers considering action to be taken. They had Butler's letter before them.

Butler in Trouble Before.

Butler is known in the Marine Corps as a fearless officer, but he has been in trouble before because of speeches. He was called in by Adams in 1929 to explain an address he made about the Marines in connection with Nicaraguan elections. He satisfied the Secretary, however, that he had been misrepresented.

The General's career as a director of public safety in Philadelphia was spectacular, but he returned to the Marines after trouble with city officials.

Adams ordered Gen. Fuller to name the high ranking officers of the naval service who will constitute the court. Navy regulations stipulate that not less than five or more than 13 officers shall constitute a court. While the number of men to try Butler was not specified, Fuller's selections are subject to the approval of Adams.

Rear Admiral Sellers, Judge Advocate-General of the navy, will prosecute the case before the assembled court. The court, on hearing the evidence, is closed and the defendant found guilty or not guilty on each charge.

A final judgment is reached which must be approved by the Secretary of the Navy before becoming final. Gen. Butler will have an opportunity to prepare his case. The place where the court will sit has not been selected.

Valorous on Many Fields.

Gen. Butler has won valor decorations on many widely separated battlefields. Two Congressional Medals of Honor have been awarded him for bravery. He is not so big, but he puts his whole 140 pounds or more into everything he does, whether it is leading a cheer or a charge.

He is pictured by associates as a man of engaging personality "who makes you work and like it." Gen. Butler, who has the reputation of "patting his men on the back" when they do the job well, probably calls more Marines by first names than any other officer.

This fighting descendant of Quakers, who still retains in speech his "thees and thous," likes to talk. His range of topics is wide. Gesticulating with a long, bent forefinger, he launches a yarn with zest. His deep and measured voice carries abundant humor and wit.

Most of Gen. Butler's nearly 50 years have been given to the marine corps. Enlisting shortly after he was 16 by "putting his age up a bit," he soon became a Lieutenant. He was a Brigadier-General at 39.

Philadelphia borrowed him during 1924-25 to act as Director of Public Safety. He fought bootleggers and politicians only to be replaced by the Mayor with another man.

Another Butler speech that caused wide comment was made in Oakland, Cal., some time after he quit trying to clean up Philadelphia. He was quoted as asserting that "the fool Volstead act" was supposed only to "keep liquor away from persons without influence." Many of the General's friends were surprised. He had been a supporter of the dry laws by word and deed while in Philadelphia.

He also had Col. Alexander Williams of the San Diego Marine base courtmartialed on charges of drunkenness. He preferred the charges after a dinner given in his honor at Col. Williams' home in Coronado, Cal. Cocktails were served. Williams was reprimanded and his rating lowered. A few months afterward he was drowned after his automobile plunged into San Francisco Bay.

Still another address by Butler which caused a furore in unofficial circles was in San Diego in 1926. The General had told of his experiences in Philadelphia and of instructions to police to "shoot to kill if necessary." The San Diego County Federated Trades and Labor Council wrote Curtis D. Wilbur, then Navy Secretary, that the address was "anarchistic and inflammatory." Wilbur did nothing about it.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement of the courtmartial there appeared today an official recognition by the Navy of Gen. Butler's services as an arbiter of international difficulties. It was in "The United States Navy in Peace Time," a book prepared by the officer of naval intelligence and published today.

"Probably no finer example of successful arbitration by American officers has been demonstrated in recent years than the peace making achievements that crowned Gen. Butler's efforts in China in 1927 and 1928," the article narrated. "This Marine officer won the confidence and esteem of the Chinese people, both official and private."

Speech Attracted No Attention Till Ambassador Protested.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—The speech, which resulted in a general courtmartial order for Major-General Butler, was delivered by him before the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia Jan. 19.

The General spoke on the possibilities of future wars and in the course of his talk is said to have related a story he said was told him by a friend. According to newspaper reports, the General said this friend told him of an automobile ride he took with Premier Mussolini. During the ride a small child was run over by the car. The friend screamed as Mussolini is alleged to have said "What is one life in the affairs of a state?"

The speech attracted no attention until the Italian Ambassador at Washington made inquiry of the State Department.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29.—Clarence H. White, manager of a Portland lyceum booking concern, said today Premier Mussolini was accused as a hit-and-run driver by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., before a small group in New York in November, 1930. White related he heard Vanderbilt's story at the Vanderbilt Hotel.

"The story told by Gen. Butler about Mussolini's reckless driving and his actions after running over a little girl is true to that description," White said. "Vanderbilt was telling how he had made a wager that he could interview certain prominent Europeans.

"He was successful in approaching Mussolini and the Premier invited him on a four days' tour of Italy. Mussolini prefered to drive his own machine.

"One day while driving at a high rate of speed, they came to a sharp turn in the road with a high wall facing them. Despite the speed, Mussolini made the turn and escaped the wall. Just as they swung around the turn a little girl ran out into the road. The machine ran over her, Vanderbilt said, but Mussolini continued on.

"Vanderebilt said he protested and suggested they stop, but Mussolini passed it off with a gesture and remarked that they did not have time or something similar to that."

White said other persons present when Vanderbilt told the story included Gen. Butler, Louis J. Alberts, Cleveland; O. B. Stephenson, Chicago; M. C. Turner, Dallas, Tex.; P. MacInnes Neilson, Pittsburg, and E. A. Wicks, Boston.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 29.—"I am sorry, but I have no statement to make right now," declared Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. today, when asked about a report he had originated the Butler automobile story about Premier Mussolini. Vanderbilt and his wife are at a winter resort, 15 miles northeast of here.

Italian Press Incensed; Remarks Called Insolent, Ridiculous.

ROME, Jan. 29.—Italian newspapers incensed at a speech by Gen. Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps, printed editorials today characterizing the speech as impudent, insolent and ridiculous.

La Tribuna in a headline uses the words "insolent and ridiculous," declaring in an editorial, "This is not the first time Gen. Butler has created incidents for his Government with his impudent, fantastic speeches."

OLD AGE PENSION BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR OF DELAWARE

Provides From $5 to $25 a Month for Persons More Than 65 Years Old.

By the Associated Press.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 29.—Gov. Buck signed the old age pension bill passed by the Legislature Tuesday. It will become effective when a commission is appointed by the Governor within 30 days.

Pensions will be provided for all indigent persons more than 65 years of age and will range from $5 to $25 monthly. An annual appropriation of $200,000 from the State Treasury is provided. It is expected the number of persons to be pensioned is about 1400, as this is the number that has been taken care of by Alfred I. du Pont for the last 14 months from his own funds.

HEFLIN IS REBUKED BY ALABAMA HOUSE

Censures Him for "Poor Sportsmanship" in Not Taking Defeat "Like a Man."

By the Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 29.—The Alabama House of Representatives today adopted a joint resolution expressing "its condemnation of the very poor sportsmanship exhibited" by Senator J. Thomas Heflin, "in being unwilling to admit like a man that he was defeated in a fair election." The resolution was adopted by a vote of 91 to 3.

Representative Coates of Clark County introduced the resolution, which said "no man in Alabama during the last quarter of a century has received greater gifts within the range of the electorate of this state than has J. Thomas Heflin."

The resolution read: "The said J. Thomas Heflin has during the greater part of his tenure of office as United States Senator made Alabama the laughing stock of the Union by his bigotry, lack of religious tolerance and the lack of many of the courtesies expected between one gentleman and another . . ."

Referring to Senator Heflin's announcement in the Senate yesterday that he would contest the election of John H. Bankhead to succeed him, the resolution stated: "In plain language, J. Thomas Heflin accuses the Democratic executive committee of the State and the various county executive committees and all election officers in the State of Alabama with stealing in that he says fraudulent use was made of the absentee ballots."

"In view of the fact that we are Representatives and Senators from the 67 counties and 35 districts, having been duly elected in the same general election in which the said Heflin was so overwhelmingly defeated, wish the world to know that we resent the implications that the sovereign citizens of the State of Alabama were not fair or honest in the conduct of elections where we ourselves and our friends are so vitally affected."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A demand by Senator Heflin (Dem.), Alabama, that the Senate campaign expenditures committee be given authority to seize Alabama ballot boxes caused a flare-up in the Senate today. Heflin claims that he was defeated for the Senate last November by John H. Bankhead by fraud and is seeking an investigation.

RALPH SEWER LAW OPPONENTS OBTAIN PROMISES OF HELP

Eighty Representatives in House When Delegation of 3000 Makes Appeal for Repeal.

AUTHOR OF BILL NOWHERE IN SIGHT

Size of Demonstration Greatly Impresses Capital—Leaders Are Confident of Success.

Confidence that the Ralph sewer law will be repealed by the Legislature wrs expressed today by John E. Mooney, president of the Taxpayers' Protective Association, on his return from Jefferson City, where he led a delegation variously estimated at between 3000 and 4500 in a demonstration against the act yesterday.

Veteran members of the Legislature said the demonstration was unprecedented in the State's history, none being able to recall a delegation of more than 200 persons. About 80 members of the House of Representatives were in their seats yesterday afternoon when the chamber was turned over to the protestors, who crowded every niche and overflowed into the halls.

"After the meeting in the House chamber," Mooney said, "at least a dozen members came to me to pledge their support of the bill to repeal the Ralph law. Other officers of the Taxpayers' Association also were sought out by Representatives who voluntarily promised their support.

Orderly and Dignified.

"I felt very proud, I must admit, when they commented on the orderly and dignified manner in which so large a group of protestors conducted themselves, and this made an impression on legislators which no speech ever could do.

"With justification, I feel, I am confident that both the House and the Senate are interested in our problem and I have no doubt that the Taxpayers' Protective Association within the next three months will celebrate its victory by singing, "They've Cut Down the Old Plum Tree."

More than 3000 tickets on three special trains carrying 50 coaches were sold by the Missouri Pacific Railroad and several hundred persons went to the capital by automobile. Following the arrival of the trains, the protesters, carrying many large banners, paraded to the Capitol.

Senator Richard F. Ralph of St. Louis County, for whom the bill was named, was not to be found in his office. His desk in the Senate chamber was heaped high with printed tags asking for repeal of the Ralph law. An hour after the delegation arrived automobile radiators, restaurant hat racks, door knobs and outstretched hands of statuary in the Capitol were serving as hanging places for the cards which the protestors wore on their coats.

As they filled the House chamber it was announced that a return railroad ticket to St. Louis had been found. A voice from the gallery suggested loudly: "Give it to Dick Ralph."

What Speakers Said.

Speaker Nelson opened the meeting and introduced George F. Heege of Kirkwood, a Representative, who took the chair. He introduced Representatives William Bamber and Herman Barken, the other members of the St. Louis County House delegation. They have introduced a bill to repeal the Ralph law.

Speakers, who reviewed the law and told of its operation in eight sewer districts in St. Louis County, included Mooney, George Barnett of Webster Groves, Orla M. Hill of Overland and Jules Yore of Webster Groves. Former Representative Edward Harrington of Jackson County told of the formation of a sewer district there and said the Jackson County Representatives would support a repeal bill. Representative J. D. Rebo of Clark County spoke of hardships caused by drainage ditch construction under the law after which the sewer act is patterned.

11,000 Names on Petition.

Benefit assessments in the Lemay Ferry and Central Sewer Districts were quoted and speakers stated that construction of sewers would result in the confiscation of property. It was charged that administration costs were excessive and that exorbitant salaries and fees were paid employes.

Petitions for repeal of the Ralph law, bearing 11,000 names, were filed. Mooney said the petitioners were property owners in sewer districts, the petitions stating this fact and giving the address of the signer.

A bill repealing the Ralph law, similar to one already pending in the House, will be filed in the Senate today by Senator Davis of Kansas City.

Petition Is Dismissed.

An amended petition filed by the Taxpayers' Protective Association, seeking to prevent construction of sewers in the Central Sewer District of St. Louis County, was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge

An amended petition filed by the Taxpayers' Protective Association, seeking to prevent construction of sewers in the Central Sewer District of St. Louis County, was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Faris. The petition asked that supervisors be restrained from issuing warrants to employes and levying a preliminary tax.

"If statute enjoined duties are taken away," Judge Faris said, "it will be in effect an ouster of the supervisors as effectual as if a specific decree for that purpose were entered. Likewise will the entity of the district as a corporation be destroyed."

The Aldermanic Committee received a statement from R. F. Kelker Jr., engineer for the Transportation Survey Commission, in reply to the recent report by the Downtown Improvement Association on trolley rerouting in the business district. Kelker declared his confidence, on the basis of past experience, that his routing proposals would satisfy the majority of interests, especially car riders.

Answering the objection of the association to the suggested use of Pine street downtown for westbound Olive cars, which the association thought would jeopardize business on Olive and Locust streets and Washington avenue, Kelker said this complaint was equivalent to saying that persons going downtown on busses, which use Washington avenue, did all of their shopping on that street. It is not reasonable to suppose, he added, that everybody using Olive cars confined his business to Olive or adjacent streets.

The only north-south lines which could be merged and moved to Broadway, as asked by the association, Kelker said, were the Tower Grove and Natural Bridge routes and to do so would leave Sixth and Seventh streets without cars and leave little room for future increased service on Broadway.

Kelker agreed in part to the suggestion that the Bellefontaine line be kept on Eighth and Ninth streets instead of being shifted to Twelfth boulevard, although he said the change should be made if future need required it.

Development of a rerouting plan satisfactory to all those interested was virtually impossible, the engineer continued. He explained that a practical routing plan for a business district must be based on a careful study of the complete routes to make sure that adjustment of one line does not have a detrimental effect on other lines in any part of the city.

The Aldermanic Committee has deferred consideration of the rerouting phase of the survey report until the new Progress Council, a downtown organization, can have a study made by its own engineer.

APPELLATE COURT'S RULING FOR MRS. STANLEY M'CORMICK

Wife of Incompetent Multi-Millionaire Gains Point in Her Fight to Become Sole Guardian.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick won an important victory yesterday in her fight to become sole conservator for the person of her incompetent husband, Stanley McCormick, and to gain control of his $50,000,000 estate.

The decisions of lower courts that they did not have jurisdiction in the appointment of a conservator for McCormick's person were reversed by the Appellate Court, paving the way for Mrs. McCormick again to press her demands in the Chicago courts.

A large share of the estate of the mentally deficient McCormick is comprised of Chicago real estate, but the courts had previously ruled that since he had lived in Santa Barbara, Cal., for years, jurisdiction lay in courts of that State.

Mrs. McCormick was appointed joint conservator for her husband in California, in company with her husband's two brothers, Harold and Cyrus Jr., but she charged that they gave her no voice in the management of his affairs, that she was not permitted to see him and that his estate was mismanaged.

The Appellate Court said that the established law in the matter is that the removal of an incompetent adult does not affect his legal residence.

WOMAN GRABS ROBBER'S ARM, SHOT GOES WILD

Clerk in Drug Store at 2903 Salena Street Saves Proprietor From Possible Injury in Holdup.

A robber's shot aimed at Joseph A. Albrecht, proprietor of a drug store at 2903 Salena street, was imbedded in the ceiling last night when Miss Marie Ingram, a clerk, seized the gunman's arm just as the pistol was fired.

Miss Ingram, who lives at 3511 California avenue, was seized by the holdup man and used as a shield when he observed Albrecht had suspected him and obtained a revolver. Albrecht fired a shot over their heads, breaking a plate glass window, and the robber returned the fire and dashed through a door, escaping. He obtained no money.

"I was ready to go home," Miss Ingram, a brown-haired, blue-eyed woman of 28, said today in describing her experience: "I was half way between the door and the prescription counter behind which Mr. Albrecht was working when the holdup man entered and told me and two customers to march to the rear of the store.

Well-Dressed Young Man.

"Mr. Albrecht sensed that something was wrong, and got his revolver, coming into the front of the store. The robber, who was a nicely dressed young man, grabbed me and held me in front of him. Mr. Albrecht fired in the air and then the man behind me raised his hand. I grabbed his wrist and the pistol went off. Then he ran."

The clothing store of Joseph Kreznekoff, 2347 Market street, was robbed of $226 at 10:15 a. m. today by two armed Negroes who first forced Harry Kreznekoff, brother of the proprietor, Herman Schaeffer, clerk, and William Cosby, a customer, into a rear room and bound them with rope. The three were released after half an hour. The Negroes also took clothing valued at $100.

Six other holdups with deadly weapons were reported and a window of the George L. Weber Jewelry Co., 607 Locust street, was smashed by a young Negro, captured a short distance away by police attracted by a burglar alarm which had been sounded. The boy, who said he was Roosevelt Stacker, 18, had watches valued at $581 in his pockets.

Thomas Dixon, taxicab chauffeur, was held up for $5 by a passenger at Kingshighway and Southwest avenue. Hearing the protests of the chauffeur, Cecil J. Phillips, 2604 Big Bend boulevard, a Maplewood policeman, off duty and unarmed, went to the scene. He was threatened with a revolver and the robber ordered Dixon to drive away. He left the cab after a short ride.

A pocketbook containing $8 was taken from Samuel Poulos, 5211 Emerson avenue, by a youth who stopped him at Thekla and Claxton avenues, searching him while a second youth held a shotgun.

Fires at Shoe Store Robbers.

A shot was fired by Louis De Figlio at two men who held up the shoe store of Matthew Heller, 1320 South Broadway, obtaining $33 and three pairs of shoes. De Figlio, who owns a store at 1318 South Broadway, fired as the robbers ran from the shoe store, but does not think his shot took effect.

When Fred Bach, 4759 South Broadway, was held up near his home he called for help and the robber fled.

Mrs. Agnes Rubeling, 4045 Garfield avenue, was accosted by a man in front of 911 North Vandeventer avenue and surrendered her purse, containing $55.

Albert Amback, 2855 Osage street, reported he was held up for $6 in front of 2913 Gasconade street.

NORTONI QUITS AS COUNSEL FOR GRAND NATIONAL BANK

Albert D. Nortoni today announced he has withdrawn as counsel for the Grand National Bank, of which Ed Mays is president, and that the law firm of Curlee, Nortoni & Jones, with which he is associated, has retired from pending suits in which the firm represented the bank.

Nortoni would give no reason for his withdrawal as counsel for the bank, remarking that he could not discuss a private business relationship. He is a vice president and counsel in an advisory capacity for the Continental Life Insurance Co., of which Mays is also president.

GARY ADVOCATES ADOPTION OF ALL PLANS OF SURVEY

Chairman of Commission Tells House Committee Modified Program Would Kill Tax Equalization.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—Adoption of the entire plan of the former State Survey Commission for improvement and more adequate support of State institutions and schools, without any modification, was urged by Theodore Gary of Kansas City, chairman of the commission, in a hearing last evening before the Survey Committee of the House. The hearing was the first of a series to be held by the committee on the program.

Gary asserted enactment of any "so-called compromise," or modified plan, was not desirable and that the former commission would not approve such a move. A compromise or modification, he said, would mean loss of the commission's tax equalization proposal. This chiefly involves lowering local school district taxes and sharply increasing the State income tax, which largely is paid by the cities.

Gary and his associates, as has been told, are recommending adoption of their entire plan, which, as reported by the commission, contained recommendations for expenditure of $192,000,000 over a 10-year period, in opposition to Gov. Caulfield's modified program of approximately $40,000,000 for a 10-year period.

The Survey Commission was created by the 1929 Legislature at the suggestion of Gov. Caulfield, who appointed its members, to determine the conditions and requirements of the institutions and schools. It passed out of existence more than a year ago.

$250,000 Reported Lobby Fund.

Gary told the approximately 50 House members who attended the hearing, including the 25 commission members, that he had been informed opponents of the commission program had been raising a fund of $250,000 to prevent its passage. He said he was informed $60,000 of this was to be raised in Kansas City.

Gary did not go into details with the House members of this reported lobby fund. After the hearing he said he did not know what organizations were raising the fund, but had been told the amount desired was $250,000. "I don't know who is behind it," he said, "but I think I could find out."

In his address Gary said the actual program of the commission was expenditure of $128,000,000 in a 10-year period. The commission recommended means of raising $128,750,000 in revenue, of which $103,000,000 would be derived from increases in the State income tax, on a graduated scale, up to 5½ per cent for individuals. The corporations' income rate would be increased to 2½ per cent. The present rate for individuals and corporations is 1 per cent on net income in excess of exemptions and legal deductions.

Would Shift Part of Tax Burden.

Gary said the commission plan merely shifted part of the tax burden from tangible to intangible property, through the increase in income taxes and lowering of local school taxes. He asserted the survey plan was the only one he knew of which would provide any measure of tax equalization.

In his message to the Legislature recommending a modified program of about $4,000,000 in additional expenditures a year for a 10-year period for the institutions and schools, Gov. Caulfield proposed doubling the present income tax rate of 1 per cent. The Governor said this would be ample to meet the actual needs of the institutions and schools.

RULES U. S. MAY INQUIRE INTO POWER FIRM INVESTMENTS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — The right of the Power Commission to inquire into investments of power companies in licensing hydro-electric projects was upheld today by Justice Adkins of the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Justice Adkins denied a temporary injunction against the expired Power Commission seeking to prevent a hearing to determine the legitimate investment of the Clarion River Power Co. of Pennsylvania.

Commission accountants had found the actual investment of the company to be only 45 per cent of that claimed.

'YELLOW KID' WEIL FREED; LECTURES COURT ON JUSTICE

Finds Complaining Witness Absent, Expounds Views on Organized Hypocrisy.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Failure of a prosecuting witness to appear at a hearing on a swindling charge resulted in freedom for Joseph (Yellow Kid) Weil and his partner, Fred (Deacon) Buckminster.

"The Yellow Kid" first pointed out that the Kalamazoo (Mich.) man who was supposed to be preferring the charges against him and Buckminster was not present. Then he aired his views on justice. "If organized hypocrisy can exist in this republic," he said, as he paced before the Judge's bench, "then justice has reverted to insanity. Let any man in this country come forth and accuse me. No man can say I did wrong since I left Leavenworth, March 1 last year. I want to go straight. Withal, I am not a hypocrite. But if I am to be accused of this and that and the other thing, all without reason, then we had better go back and live in caves, in keeping with such 'justice.' Once upon a time, long ago, there was a man who claimed to be a prophet. He denied himself all worldly goods. There came thunder and lightning and storm, and all the people came running to him with their worldly goods"—

"Yes," broke in Prosecutor Frank Nast, "that was the birth of the con game."

"In feudal times," continued Weil, "they lived in castles and were called Princes, and now they meet in skyscrapers, sit in swivel chairs and are corpulent. By the way, why doesn't the State's Attorney investigate the bond houses?"

CASE OVERLOOKED FOR YEAR TO BE GIVEN TO GRAND JURY

Youth Caught Robbing Poolroom Escaped Prosecution Through an Oversight.

The case of Francis Brewington, 19 years old, who was caught robbing a poolroom in October, 1929, and escaped prosecution for more than a year because of an oversight on the part of Assistant Circuit Attorney Griffin, will be presented to the grand jury next week.

In a recent check of records, Circuit Attorney Miller found that Brewington had been charged with burglary in a warrant, and had waived preliminary hearing, but that no further action had been taken. He consulted Griffin, the warrant officer, who found the Brewington file, mislaid and forgotten, in a pigeonhole of his desk.

Brewington has been under bond since he was caught by a patrolman in George Berger's poolroom, 726 North Taylor avenue. Police reported that he confessed six previous burglaries.

Webster Groves Shocked By Mrs. Flournoy's Play

Author Defends "Blind" Against Charge of Immorality, Declaring Critics Miss the Point.

If Webster Groves was shocked by "Blind," the most recent offering of its Theater Guild, written by Mrs. David M. Flournoy, 107 Glen road, in collaboration with a professional "play doctor," it was because those who saw it missed the point, Mrs. Flournoy said today.

"Blind," an old-fashioned melodrama in an ultra-modern setting featured by an all-night party in the swimming pool at the home of a wealthy wastrel, tells the story of a neglected wife who seeks and fails to find happiness by leaving her husband for the man who has a private swimming pool and promises to amuse her by taking her to the Taj Mahal and the Garden of Allah.

"Of course, Mrs. Flournoy said, "that is Broadway stuff and may not go so well on Selma avenue. But it is not the story of a bad woman, as some have said, but the story of a weak woman and her regeneration after she had sunk to the depths."

Since the play was produced in the auditorium of Webster Groves High School on Selma avenue a week ago last Friday night, with Mrs. Flournoy in the leading role, she says she has received numerous telephone calls from unidentified critics who used such terms as "disgraceful" and "immoral" in referring to the play.

She has received also an anonymous letter which was sent to the editor of the community newspaper but not printed, which states that the production "sounds the death knell of the Theater Guild." "What a shame it is," the letter says, "that Mrs. Flournoy did not use her talents as a playwright and actress in something enobling and fine instead of a lewd, coarse, common thing she called 'Blind' that she gave to the Webster public Friday night."

"There is not a thing objectionable in the first or third acts," Mrs. Flournoy said, "but to teach the lesson I wanted to teach I had to make the second act a bit common. In the first act we meet Sylvia and her husband, Philip, a doctor, who is too deeply interested in his research to pay much attention to his wife. He is blind to her needs for companionship and she to his for science.

"She leaves him in the second act for Bob Jennings, who promises her all that her husband has denied her, but after seven months with him she realizes that she has never wanted anything that he can give her. She asks Bob to marry her and he refuses, telling her that men never marry a woman they have lived with and that husbands never take back their wives.

MRS. DAVID M. FLOURNOY

"I think maybe that is what they objected to, but it had to be written that way to teach the strong moral lesson that I wanted to bring out. At least it teaches us all something and should not be as objectionable as some plays we've had in St. Louis this season which make light of sex and have no lesson to teach."

In the third act, Sylvia is reunited with Philip, who, she learns, has been blinded during an experiment in his laboratory. She settles down to make amends by taking care of him in his helplessness.

Criticism has not weakened Mrs. Flournoy's confidence in the merits of her play and she is negotiating to present it again under the auspices of the Women's Club of Paducah, Ky. She is the wife of David M. Flournoy, president of the Alligator Co., manufacturers of raincoats.

BASIS OF PIERSON'S PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL

Defense Prepared to Carry Arson Murder Case to Supreme Court.

Arguments on Ralph Pierson's motion for a new trial, in his conviction of first-degree murder in the Buckingham Hotel Annex fire case, will be heard by Judge Taylor within a few days. Pierson, co-owner of the Annex, was convicted last Friday of instigating a plot to burn the building for the insurance, and his punishment was fixed by the jury at death. Seven deaths resulted from the fire, Dec. 5, 1927.

Charles M. Hay, Pierson's lawyer, will plead that Judge Taylor erred in refusing to grant a change of venue, which would have taken the case outside St. Louis for trial. He will argue that improper questions and statements by the prosecutor, Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan, were admitted by the Court.

Sullivan brought into evidence the fact that Pierson was a law school classmate of Circuit Attorney Miller. This was improper, Hay holds, as it tended to give the impression that Pierson must be guilty or the Circuit Attorney's office would not be prosecuting him.

In an argument to the jury, Hay says, Sullivan told the jurors he would be willing to accept full responsibility for a verdict of hanging. This is declared by Hay to have been improper.

If the motion for a new trial should be denied, it is expected that the same points will be raised in an appeal to the Supreme Court. The conviction and death sentence of Andrew B. Meadows, Annex night watchman and confessed party to the arson plot, is now before the Supreme Court.

Two defendants remain to be tried. The case of Lewis E. Balson, co-owner with Pierson, is set for March 23. The case of Robert H. Cotham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel, and witness against Pierson and Balson, has not been set.

BOY KILLED BY TRUCK, TWO OTHERS INJURED

Stanley Ellington, 5, Fatally Hurt on Way Home From Kindergarten.

Stanley Ellington, 5 years old, 5118 McKissock avenue, died at Christian Hospital at 2:30 p. m. yesterday of internal injuries suffered when he was hit by a truck at noon when on his way home from Lowell School, where he attended kindergarten.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellington, started across Broadway, near Linton street, and was struck by a truck driven by Ted Wollgast, a chauffeur of Spanish Lake. One wheel passed over his body.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today after an inquest. A policeman testified that the boy darted from behind a post into the path of the truck, which was moving slowly.

This death was the thirteenth motor vehicle fatality in St. Louis since Jan. 1, as compared with 10 at this time last year.

Clifford Aubuchon, 7, 4037 Camella avenue, suffered fractures of the left leg and foot at 4:30 p. m. when struck by an automobile while roller skating in the street at Kossuth street and Dryden avenue. John Peterson, 2629A Slattery street, the driver, swerved against the curb, smashing a wheel, in an effort to avoid hitting the boy.

Robert Glaesner Jr., 12, 5750 Lotus avenue, suffered a fractured arm and internal injuries yesterday when struck by a street car while attempting to cross the street at Easton avenue and Hodiamont tracks.

Arthur Steib, 47, 1511 Natalia avenue, East St. Louis, owner of a chain of filling stations, died today at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, of injuries suffered last night when his automobile collided with an Alton & Southern freight train at the Collinsville road crossing near Madison Kennel Club track. He suffered internal injuries and fractures of the jow, right arm and right leg.

ETHEL BARRYMORE'S SON MAKES SILENT STAGE DEBUT

John Drew Colt Appears as One of a Crowd of Negroes in "Scarlet Sister Mary."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. — Another member of the Barrymore-Drew family has followed his theatrical forbears and made his stage debut. John Drew Colt, second son of Ethel Barrymore, made an unheralded appearance in a scene in his mother's latest play, "Scarlet Sister Mary," Monday night.

Since it was not a speaking part and she did not want to attract "undue attention" to her young son, Miss Barrymore said nothing about his appearance. But she admitted today that "Jacky" was one of the young Negroes who attended her wedding on the Harris Theater stage Monday night.

"Since he is going to be an actor, it is just as well that he start young," she said.

Miss Barrymore's daughter, Ethel Barrymore Colt, made her debut in "Scarlet Sister Mary" when it opened in Columbus, O., last fall. She plays the part of "Sister Mary's" daughter.

Young Colt followed the Barrymore-Drew tradition which calls for a red apple for a debut or a first appearance in a new role. He carried in an inside pocket a large apple that had been ordered by telegraph by his uncle, John Barrymore. The screen actor wished his nephew luck and recalled that he made his stage debut in Chicago 29 years ago in "Magda."

BANK HAVING $6,750,000 DEPOSITS CLOSES IN JERSEY

Directors of Elizabeth Depository Ask State to Take Charge; Lacked Cash Resources.

By the Associated Press.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 29.—The Board of Directors of the People's Banking and Trust Co. has requested the State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance to take charge. Directors said lack of cash resources caused the closing.

The bank has demand deposits of $2,449,736, time deposits of $4,301,057, capital of $350,000 and surplus of $250,000.

30 HURT IN SCHOOL BUS

Children Injured When Vehicle Is Upset Near Youngstown, O.

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 29.—Thirty children were bruised or cut when a school bus overturned in a ditch today 18 miles east or this city. Two of the children were taken to a hospital at New Castle, Pa.

Thirty-five children were riding in the bus. All but five were cut or bruised. The bus was upset when it was forced off the road by a truck, R. M. Barris, the driver, says.

MAGISTRATE BRODSKY DENIES ANY IMPROPER DEALINGS

New York Judge Says He Did Not Know R. H. Loeb Guaranteed His Stock Account.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Following testimony of six social workers who told the five Justices of the Appellate Division that Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky had been a most patient, understanding and industrious magistrate in Family Court, where he spent half his time, Brodsky yesterday took the witness stand and told hof he, a successful lawyer, had gone on the bench because he "wanted to render service in the Family Court."

He declared he never had taken a day off except when there was a death in the family, that he had worked overtime to use moral suasion on delinquent husbands, that he had voluntarily gone to work in Brooklyn and Far Rockaway when there had been a shortage in magistrates. He declared that his extensive estate and stock market dealings had never taken a minute of attention from his duties on the bench.

Brodsky denied each charge and implication that there had been anything improper in his realings with E. J. Byrne or his father-in-law, the late James J. Hagan, district leader, who got Brodsky his job. He denied that he had any knowledge that his stock account with E. Weisel & Co. was guaranteed by Robert H. Loeb, the broker, whom he had previously discharfged in court.

Civil Jobs for Army Officers.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 29. — Following appointment of Gen. Michael Jonescu as Director-General of Rumanian railways, the War Ministry announced today that it is preparing a law that would permit military officers to accept posts in the Civil Service while retaining their status in the army. The prospect has caused uneasiness among the people. The news paper Lupta says that the first appointments probably will send high army officers into Bessarabia as civil servants.

ALBERT W. SCHWARTZ FUNERAL SATURDAY

Former Assistant Chief of Police to Be Buried in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery.

Funeral services for Albert W. Schwartz, former assistant Chief of Police with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, who died yesterday at his home, 4356 Evans avenue, will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Pleitsch funeral establishment, 5966 Easton avenue. Burial will be in Mount Lebanon Cemetery.

Mr. Schwartz, who was 80 years old, died of a hemorrhage but had suffered from heart trouble for two years. Prior to entering the Police Department, where he served for 38 years, he was in the United States cavalry participating in the Indian campaigns of the '70s and 80s. He became assistant Chief of Police on March 5, 1926, and retired a year later at his own request.

Running away from his home in Philadelphia, he enlisted in the army when a youth and was a Sergeant when he left the service 17 years later while stationed at Jefferson Barracks. He joined the police force, in 1889.

Six years later he became a Sergeant and in 1899 a Lieutenant. He was promoted to a captaincy in 1910, serving at the Central, Laclede and Mounted District stations. He was connected with several Masonic organizations.

Besides his widow he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Leslie C. Speer, Mrs. Edward E. Christopher and Mrs. Alexander G. Bolm.

HOWARD C. BROKAWS HELD UP WHEN PLAYING BACKGAMMON

Robber Invades Library of New York Home; Gets $175, Ignoring Jewels.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Brokaw, socially prominent, Tuesday as they sat in their library playing backgammon and the loss of $175 was disclosed by authorities last night. The home is on upper Fifth avenue.

A well-dressed youth called at the home and presented a revolver instead of a calling card to the Butler, John Darby.

"Keep quiet, nothing will happen to you," he said, "take me to the Brokaws."

With the muzzle of the revolver in his back, the butler led the way through the foyer and up a winding staircase to the second floor library. Then he stepped aside and presented the visitor.

"Keep quiet and you won't be harmed," the latter said, "I want money and I want it bad."

As the backgammon board fell to the floor, Brokaw handed over a wallet containing $175 and the youth bowed in acceptance. Ignoring Mrs. Brokaw's jewels, the robber ordered all three into a bathroom across the hall and locked the door.

Near the Brokaw home are the residences of Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff and Mrs. Benjamin N. Duke. The district is exceptionally well patrolled.

CUT IN INTEREST RATES ON 'THRIFT' ACCOUNTS CONSIDERED

Several New York Clearing House Banks Plan Reduction to 2½ Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Several New York Clearing House banks are considering a reduction in the interest paid on accounts variously designated as "thrift," "special interest" or "compound interest" accounts effective on or about Feb. 1, it was learned yesterday. The reduction, it was said, probably will be from 3 per cent to 2½ per cent.

The rate of interest paid on these accounts is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Clearing House Committee, which fixes the rate of interest paid on all other classes of deposits, except foreign. Last year the Clearing House Committee made three separate reductions in rates paid on checking accounts, the average rate for which is now 1 per cent. At the time these reductions were affected Clearing House banks took no action on the rate paid on special interest accounts.

Last year some of the banks paid as high as 4 per cent for some of these accounts, but when the large nonmember banks joined the Clearing House in December the rate became more or less uniform at 3 per cent on deposits, with some on a 4½ per cent basis.

MARC KLAW'S SON SAYS HIS FORTUNE IS DOWN TO $3000

Makes Plea in Opposition to Former Wife's Demand for More Alimony.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Joseph Klaw, the once wealthy son of Marc Klaw, of the one-time theatrical firm of Klaw & Erlanger, told Supreme Court Justice Morschauser yesterday his fortune had dwindled to $3000.

Klaw opposed application of his former wife, Mrs. Marjorie Klaw, New Rochelle, for increased alimony. He said he paid her $120,000 the day they were divorced in 1925. She remarried in 1927 and he did also. Her marriage since has been annulled.

Mrs. Klaw said stock declines had cut her settlement to $90,000. She said she spent $1500 educating their two children and the court allowed her that sum, giving Klaw a year to pay it.

Reno Attorneys Want Curious Public Kept Out.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Jan. 29.—The curious public would be prohibited from attending divorce hearings in Reno's District Court under a ruling to be submitted by local attorneys for the approval of the State Supreme Court.

The proposed ruling, being drafted by a committee from the Washoe County Bar Association, would provide that only court attaches, the litigants themselves and accredited newspaper writers be admitted to the hearings.

Will of F. Edson White.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The will of Frank Edson White, president of Armour & Co., who recently fell to his death from his apartment home window, divides the bulk of his $1,000,000 estate equally among his widow and two daughters.

A Personal Message from Mr. Cyril Farny, Vice-President, The Wurlitzer Grand Piano Co.

"I am proud to have this new piano bear my name. As its creator, I am confident it offers today's greatest value in a fine piano."

Cyril Farny

It took 7 years . . . to build this piano

The new Farny Grand Piano, announced just a few days ago, has already created unusual interest among lovers of good music. It is a piano you will treasure for its superb tone, for its graceful semi-period design, for its practical compactness.

In quality and price this new piano affords a value never before approached. It is the result of years of research, of costly experiments, of testing and improving—plus the vast resources of the world's greatest music house, and the latest advancements in engineering and acoustical science.

Wurlitzer is proud to have created in the new Farny Grand, a piano which critics agree opens a new era for the enjoyment of good music in the home. It is the piano of the future—achieved today.

FEATURES

INDEPENDENT STORES HOLD OWN WITH CHAINS

Dr. Julius Klein Tells of Midwest Inspection; St. Louis Drug Store Survey.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, thinks the independent retail merchant is holding his own in competition with the chain store.

Basing his conclusions on data collected on a tour of the midwest, he is outspoken in his opinion that the local independent, engaged in the stiffest commercial contest in modern times, is achieving a considerable measure of victory.

"The new chain store extensions are taking their first experience with seriously slackened business," Dr. Klein observed, "and my idea is that the impact of adversity hasn't been any lighter upon his relatively new form of retail organization than upon the traditional independents.

"In my opinion, chain stores, in spite of the recent growth in numbers of their units, are not doing much more than 15 per cent of the country's retailing. Of course, they are holding a larger per cent of the grocery trade, perhaps purveying 35 per cent of the American food supply, but the advance has been checked there."

"It has been rather noticeable that the local grocer has been able to dig in and fight back, and to use co-operative methods of equaling chain service, which is his real hope.

"The Commerce Department made a street to street study of the grocery business in Louisville a year or two ago, which resulted in suggesting methods of bettering business and decreasing loss largely for independents—although of course, chain stores are welcome to the facts—and as one result, there were in 1930 only three bankruptcies of grocers in that city, against 360 in 1928.

"Now, we are arranging to repeat the study method for drug stores, taking St. Louis as the point for the work," Klein said.

"Aside from these collective methods of reaching his difficulties, the independent has advantages in initiative which show up in times like these, because he has the power to direct his own affairs.

"Thus a man in Minneapolis told me the other day of being able to buy on the spot a big shipment of grapefruit that happened to reach the market, and retail the whole thing before his chain opposition could get authority to make an unusual outlay."

UNION ELECTRIC OFFERS EVIDENCE ON REALTY VALUES

Fred J. Zeibig Says Site of Office Building at 12th and Locust Is Worth $60 a Square Foot.

CITY CONTENDS $50 WOULD BE FAIR

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—Into the Public Service Commission's hearing on the rates and valuation of Union Electric Light & Power Co., yesterday was injected the views of a veteran St. Louis real estate dealer as to the trend of property values, the most valuable piece of land in the business district, the effect of street widenings on retail business and the measurable advantage of a river front location for an industry.

The witness was Fred J. Zeibig who has been in the real estate business in St. Louis for 52 years and has handled many large transactions. He was offered as an expert witness by Union Electric and was cross-examined by City Counselor Julius T. Muench and Associate City Counselor Forrest G. Ferris Jr., of St. Louis, after having given direct testimony as to the value of all the real estate owned by Union Electric.

Supporting a valuation of about $6000 a front foot for the ground occupied by Union Electric's office building at Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, Zeibig said values had moved westward in recent years and that he considered the west side of Twelfth boulevard worth fully as much as the east side, despite the fact that the central retail district was to the east.

"Most Valuable Corner."

He told of having sold 75 feet of the Twelfth and Locust site 25 years ago for $300 a front foot and of reselling it five or six years later for $1600 a front foot. He had not been concerned in any sales of the property since then.

When asked by Muench to name the most valuable land in the retail business district, Zeibig replied that on the basis of known transactions he believed it was the southwest corner of Sixth street and Washington avenue, occupied by Kline's woman's apparel store. He said this ground was leased for 99 years to the K.-B. Investment Co., on the basis of a value of $400 a square foot, or $40,000 a front foot for a depth of 100 feet.

The value of $400 a square foot assigned to that property compared with $60 a square foot which he estimated for Union Electric's Twelfth and Locust site, and for which the city contends $50 a square foot is a fair value.

The widening of a street does not increase the value of property on that street for retail purposes, Zeibig said, but helps cross streets.

Zeibig was questioned at length by Muench and Ferris on his method of appraising the land occupied by the company's Ashley street power plant, for which he gave a value of $1,587,460 in excess of that assigned to it in the audit of the company's property by the Commission's accountants.

Access to the River.

The unit value given this land by Zeibig was $20 a square foot, compared with $7.50 allowed by the Commission's accountants. For other land in the same general locality Zeibig said $10 was a fair value. He gave the double value to the Ashley street site, he said, solely because it reached to the river and provided the company with an unlimited supply of free water and access to river transportation. When asked if he had any scientific basis for this estimate, he said he had not, it was merely his best judgment.

Earlier in the hearings the company was overruled by the Commission when it sought to bring out evidence of "special value" for a peculiar use attaching to the site because of its access to the river, but the Commission said any additional general value because of location might be shown.

The purpose of the hearing is to enable the Commission to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to establish a rate base and whether a reduction in rates is justified. The company insists that the value of its property is such that present rates do not provide any more than a reasonable return and that a reduction would impair its credit. The city contends a reduction of $1,000,000 a year is justified.

NEW SERVICE CAR ROUTE

Autos to Run Downtown From Lee and Shreve Avenues.

A new service car line will be started Monday from a terminus at Lee and Shreve avenues to the downtown district.

The route will be over Lee avenue, Prairie avenue, Kossuth avenue, Twenty-fifth street, St. Louis avenue, Fifteenth street, Cass avenue, Ninth street, Franklin avenue and over Eighth street to Walnut and Seventh. Machines will run at five-minute intervals between 6:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. Fare will be 15 cents.

THORNTON N. WILDER HOPEFUL OF 'TALKIES'

Author of "Bridge of San Luis Rey" Going to Florida to Write Plays.

The theater is "the chosen art form of the American people," Thornton Niven Wilder, whose novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," won a Pulitzer prize a few years ago, said here yesterday.

Wilder is acting on his theory, for, on vacation from Chicago University, where he teaches English and literature, he is going to Florida to write plays. He has in mind one dealing with outcasts who drift along the China Coast. He spoke last night at Lindenwood College, and visited his uncle, Thornton M. Niven of 731 Yale avenue, University City, general auditor of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

"The attention unit of the American people is shorter than that of other peoples," Wilder explained. "To naturally realistic minds, also, the theater conveys a sense of pure experience without comment.

"Although the novel seems to be holding sway as a favored form of art, one very seldom sees a pure novel. Most novels now are vehicles for editorials, sermons, sociological studies and so on. The type to which the novel always must return is a series of events illustrating a complex of human passions.

"The theater, of its very nature, resists the intrusion of nonfiction elements. It must move through rising action."

Wilder, who has been asked to write conversation for moving pictures, declared that he "believes in" the talkies. The stage and the talkies now seem to be struggling, he said, because they are trying to find their respective functions, and "in time they will live side by side."

$22,000,000 N B C REVENUE

Gross Receipts Increase $7,000,000 in 1930 Over 1929.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Gross revenue of the National Broadcasting Co. totaled $22,000,000 in 1930, M. H. Aylesworth, president, has advised the advisory council in his annual report. This represented an increase of $7,000,000 over 1929. The total number of sponsors during 1930 was 263, the report added.

Aylesworth pointed to the addition of six stations, making the total served 74 and requiring 34,500 miles of program wire lines. He also said 2,000,000 fan letters were received, more than six times the number in 1926, the year NBC was organized. The chain now has a personnel of 1226, exclusive of artists and musicians, double the number employed two years ago.

MENINGITIS ON FRENCH SHIP

Not Allowed to Dock at Rio; Outbreak of Grip Also.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 29.—The French liner Lipari arrived yesterday from Hamburg and ports of call with several cases of spinal meningitis among the third class passengers. There also was an outbreak of grip aboard the vessel and one person died before it touched Pernambuco.

Port authorities did not permit the Lipari to dock, but one passenger suffering from pneumonia was taken to a shore hospital and other third class travelers destined to Rio de Janeiro were placed under medical observation at the Immigration station.

SMALL PUSHER PLANE TO BE PRODUCED HERE

Curtiss-Wright Junior Weighs 500 Pounds, Has 3-Cylinder Motor.

Manufacture here of a new airplane designed for persons of moderate means was announced today by the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Co., Lambert-St. Louis Field, makers of the Curtiss Robin, with which Jackson and O'Brine twice set refueling endurance records.

The new plane, a pusher type, has been named the Curtiss-Wright Junior. The ship weighs only 500 pounds without fuel or passengers and is powered with a three-cylinder motor developing 40 horsepower. The engine is mounted at the trailing edge of the single wing, a selling feature being the low gasoline consumption, given as two and three-quarters gallons an hour.

Dual control is provided, making the ship available for training purposes. Two cockpits, one in the nose of fuselage and the second beneath the wing, are provided for pilot and passenger. The ship has an abbreviated landing gear, the fuselage having a clearance of about two feet when the plane is on the ground. Wing span is 39 feet and fuselage length is 20 feet 6 inches. The wing is easily detached, making storage in a limited space possible. The gross weight, loaded, is given as 900 pounds.

Top speed for the ship is 80 miles an hour, with cruising speed 72 miles an hour. In tests the ship has taken off in five seconds and can be flown in and out of a five-acre field, the makers say. The original Junior is now in the hands of Department of Commerce inspectors and it is expected that an approved type certificate will be issued this week. The plane will retail at $1490 delivered.

MEXICO SLASHES BUDGET

Drastic Economies Ordered to Save $15,000,000 This Year.

Copyright, 1931, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—The Mexican Government will attempt to balance its budget this year by means of drastic economies. It is unofficially stated that 30,000,000 pesos ($15,000,000) must be saved to achieve this end.

The economies will be effected by abandoning the Mexican navy, greatly reducing the appropriations for the army and cutting expenses in every other department, excepting those of education and communications. Ten regiments of cavalry will go out of existence, making a total of 20 regiments abolished in the last six months. Decreased returns from taxes, as well as the desire to balance the budget, are cited as among the reasons for these cuts in national expenditure.

German Rail Freight Rates Cut.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—The company which operates the German railroads announces reductions in freight rates retroactive from Dec. 1. The company has been allowed a loan of 50,000,000 marks ($11,910,000) by leading firms in the electro-technical industry to be used in electrifying about 150 miles of the system. The freight rate reduction includes the "very considerable" ones—percentage not made public—for coal for export.

Tax Liens Against Movie Players.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—Income tax liens were filed against three motion picture players by the Government yesterday. The defendants were Gary Cooper in the amount of $589; Lupe Velez, $952; and Jack Mulhall, $290.

FUNERAL DRIVERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

Employers Refuse Union Demand to Hire Extra Men—About 90 Affected.

The majority of the 90 union funeral drivers here went on strike today because of a disagreement with the St. Louis Funeral Directors' Association over a new working agreement. The drivers are associated with Chauffeurs' Local Union No. 405.

The strike will not interfere with burial service, according to Charles Kron, secretary of the association, who said the undertakers had agreed to drive machines at funerals directed by fellow members. Chief of Police Gerk issued orders to all officers to see that funeral processions are not molested. The union announced that drivers remained at work at several establishments, which made separate agreements with the organization.

The disagreement arose over an attempt by the union to find work for additional men by requiring that the driver of the vehicle sent out to call for bodies be a union man. This work has been done by an embalmer's assistant. At a meeting last night attended by 68 members of the Funeral Directors' Association, it was decided to resist the attempt to increase the number of union employes.

"We have asked for no change in wages or working conditions, a fact which the union should appreciate," Kron said. "However, we will not agree to paying an additional man $35 a week just to drive the first-call wagon. That is work for the embalmer's staff, and the number of such calls made in a week certainly does not justify our hiring an additional man."

Because of the large number of privately owned machines in every funeral procession now the strike is not expected to work any hardship, Kron said. "Two-thirds of the vehicles in the average funeral procession today are privately owned machines," he explained. "We anticipate no difficulty in manning the few limousines needed to complete a procession."

Union funeral drivers receive $35 for a six-day working week, no funerals being held on Sundays. Each undertaker employes one or two men regularly, renting additional vehicles from other undertakers as he needs them.

UNEMPLOYED SALESMAN ENDS LIFE ON COLLEGE HALL STEPS

The body of Alfred H. Annan, an unemployed salesman, 56 years old, stopping at Hotel University, 6603 Delmar boulevard, was found last midnight on the steps of Eads Hall, Washington University, with a bullet wound in the right temple and a revolver nearby. Identification was made by his widow, found through a paper in his pocket.

MAYOR BACKING FIELD IN RACE AGAINST NEUN

Election of Secretary Would Give Miller Control of Estimate Board, Politicians Point Out.

The entry of Jules R. Field, secretary to Mayor Miller, as a candidate against Walter J. G. Neun, incumbent, for the Republican nomination for president of the Board of Aldermen, has put new interest in that race. The primary election for this office and 14 places as Aldermen from the even-numbered wards will be held March 13.

Politicians point out that Field's election would amount to giving Mayor Miller control of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which governs the fiscal policies of the city. This board consists of the Mayor, aldermanic president and Comptroller Nolte. Frequently Nolte and the Mayor differ on policies, and Neun, who is completing his second four-year term, has held the balance of power.

Field has the Mayor's support for the nomination and this is taken in political circles to give him a decided advantage at the start of the campaign. A small vote, largely controlled by the Republican City Committee, is anticipated, and a majority of the committee members, it is thought, will indorse the Mayor's candidate.

Field told reporters he had decided to enter the race of his own volition, as he wished to start building up a law practice. As secretary to the Mayor at $6000 a year he must devote full time to the city, and he is kept busy day and night. As head of the Board of Aldermen at $3000 a year, he would be called on only for board and committee meetings and short visits to City Hall as Acting Mayor when the Mayor was out of town.

Field's political career began when he appeared as counsel in a suit challenging the city's right to erect the municipal auditorium on Memorial Plaza. The Supreme Court of Missouri decided against him, but he attracted attention and Miller made him an Associate City Counselor. He held this position five years, and for the last two and a half years has been the Mayor's secretary. He has been an adviser and political manager for Miller. Field is 37 years old, a World War veteran, and active in American Legion affairs.

Several political leaders have promised to aid Field. One other candidate for the nomination, Alderman Kuhs, of the First Ward, has been talked of, but he is undecided. There is speculation that if Field should be elected, Associate City Counselor Harry Richards might succeed him as secretary to the Mayor.

MOVIE ACTRESS DENIES SHE STOLE LOVE OF LEADING MAN

Edwina Booth Answers $50,000 Alienation Suit of Mrs. Suzette Renaldo.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—Edwina Booth, former actress, gave a deposition yesterday in the $50,000 alienation of affections suit filed against her by Mrs. Suzette Renaldo. The actress denied Mrs. Renaldo's charges that she had stolen the love of Duncan Renaldo, actor, while they were filming "Trader Horn" in Africa last year.

Asked if she spent her leisure with Renaldo in Africa, Miss Booth replied vehemently, "No, I did not. I wandered about alone at night." She also denied she visited Renaldo's cabin while on shipboard, and almost screamed denials to allegations that the actor lived at her home on their return.

Miss Booth's marriage to Anthony G. Schuck was annulled and the Renaldo's were divorced after the film party returned to Hollywood.

Miss Booth said she first met Renaldo in New York shortly before the screen party sailed, and did not learn he was married until they were sailing through the Red Sea, when another member of the cast told her he had a wife and a 4-year-old son.

Near the end of the brief hearing Miss Booth was asked whether her landlady had threatened to evict her after finding Renaldo in her room. The actress refused to answer. At the close of the hearing Miss Booth walked hurriedly out, brushing past Mrs. Renaldo, who fell backward over a chair. Mrs. Renaldo charged the actress pushed her.

HOW TO MAKE CITY LIFE PURE DISCUSSED

Civic Union Decides to Continue Work of Opposing Evil Influences.

Members of the Civic Union of St. Louis, an organization to purify literature, the stage and the movies, agreed unanimously yesterday to help raise funds which will permit the union to continue functioning.

The vote to raise money was taken after addresses, at a luncheon at the Town Club, by the Rev. J. E. Crowther, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, Lansing F. Smith, president of the American Educational Association; Prof. R. F. Holden, principal of Franklin Intermediate Public Schools; former Police Captain Seth Singleton; Prof. Theodore Graebner of the Concordia Seminary faculty, and others.

The Rev. Mr. Crowther prefaced his remarks with an anecdote about his college days when "I organized a campaign to put the saloon out of the college town. I arranged a mass meeting and talked for an hour and a half on Civic Righteousness."

Effect Upon Children.

Stressing the malign influence of motion pictures upon children, he said: "We are confronted with a very serious problem which threatens not only the intellectual but the moral welfare of the coming generation. The movies are very largely enmeshed in a condition over which the producers have little control.

"The films are done by people of low moral standards in their own lives.

"We are told that people want something salacious, but I cannot see that they are given any opportunity to choose, to patronize really high-class plays."

A motion picture, "The Woman Who Was Forgotten," which was presented by the Civic Union two funds, closed after two days with a $1500 deficit. The reason given for closing was "lack of interest."

Matter offensive to the Civic Union is "much more prevalent and much worse now, than 10 years ago," the Rev. Mr. Crowther continued. "Something should be done at the source, particularly of the films, to give us some relief. We must raise the standard and have the cleansing process at the fountainhead.

"I know of very few Americans that these flims represent. They certainly don't represent our representative Americans. Even from so-called un-Christian countries and semi-barbarous countries come protests against the tendency of our films toward immorality."

In "Belvedere Joe" Raid.

Prof. Graebner, who at one time participated in a raid on the cabaret of "Belvedere Joe" Gonnella, spoke briefly on that experience after Smith mentioned it. He warned that the investigators of the union "in our work have met people who would kill the souls of 10 children if they could make a dollar."

The organization, he said, "represents the average citizen. We believe the average citizen is a decent fellow." Prof. Graebner also informed the group that "motion picture distributors are men of conscience," saying, "It may surprise many of you to hear that."

Prof. Graebner also deplored the existence of persons who would "make art a purveyor of those aspects of life which the common consent of our Western civilization regards as immoral and contrary to the best interest of the State."

In summation he said: "Many people won't believe that people like this exist. You see, we don't know how the other half lives—the criminal half."

A motion was made to continue the organization and, after several other speakers had told of the problems which confront the organization, was passed.

E. R. HANDLAN FILES ANSWER TO $15,628 GAMBLING SUIT

Says Note Is "Unenforecable and Void" That He Signed at New Orleans Resort.

E. R. Handlan, vice president of the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing Co., filed an answer in Civil Court yesterday to a suit to collect a $15,628 note filed again him by L. Goldsmith of New Orleans. The note was assigned to Goldsmith by M. Karger, also of New Orleans, whom Handlan describes in his answer as a gambling house owner.

Handlan, who filed depositions last October describing how he lost the money playing roulette in New Orleans the night of Feb. 1, last, claims in his answer the plaintiff was aware the note represented a gambling debt and that it is unenforceable and void. Handlan says enforcement of the note would be "against public policy and the morals of the State."

In his deposition, Handlan described Goldsmith as the "greeter and mixer" of the Club Forest, where the roulette wheel spun for seven hours and described the evening's play.

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE IN ALBANIA; 4 KILLED

People Suffering in Bitter Weather—750 Houses Wrecked at Koritza.

By the Associated Press.

KORITZA, Albania, Jan. 29.—Earthquakes continuing throughout the day caused considerable damage in Koritza and vicinity yesterday. Four persons were killed and many injured. Seven hundred and fifty houses were destroyed, damaged, or made uninhabitable. Their people have suffered intensely because of bitter weather.

King Zog, seeking medical treatment at Vienna for an inflamed throat, decided today to return posthaste to Albania to superintend relief work.

Communications were disrupted and in view of the scarcity of roads in the mountains hereabout many weeks may pass before extent of the damage is known. Many of the villages affected are inhabited by shepherds.

Koritza has a population of 8000. Nearby towns are Emporia, Pilassa and Merkapoli.

Tremors yesterday also shook Hindenburg province in upper Silesia, but damage there was comparatively slight.

By the Associated Press.

ALCOY, Spain, Jan. 29. — An earthquake was felt here last night. The people were frightened but there were no casualties and little damage. Light and power services were disrupted.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—Advices to the newspaper Excelsior from Oaxaca say earth shocks caused alarm last night but no damage or casualties. Oaxaca was the center of a damaging quake several weeks ago.

TO INVESTIGATE MEAT INDUSTRY IN ST. LOUIS

Committee Representing Civic Groups Chosen Following Discussion.

Representatives of civic organizations, meeting at lunch yesterday at the Missouri Athletic Association at the invitation of Government inspected packing houses, appointed a committee to investigate conditions in the meat industry in St. Louis.

The committee was appointed after a resolution calling upon municipal and State officials to purchase for public institutions only Government-inspected meats had met with opposition and had been withdrawn.

Packers engaged in interstate business, for whom Government inspection is mandatory, have conducted recently a campaign to call public attention to the merits of this inspection. About half of the meat consumed in St. Louis is so inspected.

Objections to Resolution.

Mrs. Virgil Loeb and Mrs. George Gellhorn, both active in the League of Women Voters, objected when the resolution was offered on the ground that no opportunity had been afforded to hear representatives of packing houses which are not required to have Government inspection.

Alderman John Neu objected also, saying that adoption of the resolution would result in unfair discrimination against packers who do not do an interstate business and do not have Government inspection, although their products may be just as wholesome as those of inspected plants.

P. E. Burton, who is directing the publicity campaign for the packers, replied with the assertion that the city recently contracted with an uninspected packing house for pork sausage at 8¾ cents a pound: "Either that sausage is not up to grade or the average housewife is being imposed upon," Burton said. "Pork sausage can be sold at that price only if cereals, water or hog lungs are added to it, and then it is not pure pork sausage."

Talks for Inspection.

Before the resolution was offered talks in favor of Government inspection were made by Dr. Thomas B. Pote, head of the Bureau of Animal Industry in St. Louis, who is in charge of Government inspectors; Elmer H. Bartlesmeyer, secretary of St. Louis Medical Society, George S. Langland, director of the merchandising department of the Better Business Bureau, and Miss Marie Ames of the League of Women Voters.

Pote said that Government inspection had been a factor in preventive medical work. Bartlesmeyer told of a survey he made recently and said that 3862 diseased carcasses were condemned last year in inspected plants, on the basis of which he estimated that 1100 carcasses which should have been condemned were passed in noninspected plants.

The grading of beef by United United States Government inspectors was described by W. C. Davis, of the Department of Agriculture, to members of the Kiwanis Club today at Hotel Jefferson.

Most buyers, Davis said, do not know how to judge the quality of the meat and the grade stamp placed on retail cuts of beef is a useful guide in purchasing. Graded meat has been available in St. Louis during the past three months, the cuts being stamped according to the quality of the meat.

FOG AND GALES STILL HAMPERING MAWSON

Unable to Send Up Plane So the Discovery Is Moved to Another Position.

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON.
(By Wireless.)
(Copyright, 1931.)

ABOARD THE S. S. DISCOVERY, in the Antarctic, Jan. 26.—Though clearing of the weather seemed imminent an the 21st we were sadly disappointed, for no sooner had the Discovery pushed out of the ice pack to the open sea than an easterly gale arose and the ship then hove to for two days. The wind gradually abated and the clouds cleared from the southern horizon where land appeared.

While waiting the subsidence of a heavy swell for suitable conditions to launch our airplane a heavy fog with snow descended and still remains unchanged. Evidently this is an exceptionally foggy locality. This morning we decided we could wait no longer, hoping for the weather to clear, so we have moved and now are in 240 fathoms of water in latitude 6.10 S. and longitude 109.30 east. This is dead reckoning position, for the sun has not been seen for several days.

While thus fog and weather bound, we still are able to prosecute much scientific work. Thus, without delaying the purely scientific operations, an important series of marine investigations have been conducted throughout the cruise.

Data relating to the temperatures, chemical characteristics, current movements and the peculiar life of the sea have been accumulated at frequent intervals along the route. Each of these investigations deals with a series of observations from the surface to the ocean bottom.

Today marine life has been particularly abundant. Prof. Johnston and other zoologists working overtime to deal effectually with the catches. The netting taken between 500 and 550 fathoms surpasses anything thus far experienced at such a distance below the surface. In this instance there is more life in the deeper water than nearer the surface. Many varieties of fish in addition to multitudes of invertebrate life are represented.

While one of the nets was being hauled in two blue whales became interested in the operation. After examining the steel wire hauling cable at the stern of the ship one of the whales followed the cable down toward the net. For a time we contemplated with anxiety the possibility of securing an undesirably large and embarrassing catch, but the monster evidently lost interest before reaching the net.

Senator Simmons in Hospital.

By the Associated Press.

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 29.—Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, who has been slightly ill at his home in New Bern for several days, was admitted to the Duke Hospital here late yesterday. Nothing could be learned about his condition.

Three Americans Hurt in France.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune says it has learned that Mrs. Emily Davies Vanderbilt Thayer, Arthur Richman, the playwright, and another American, Charles Stuart, were injured Jan. 14 in an automobile accident. The accident occurred near Saulifu in Burgundy, their automobile skidding into a tree. Mrs. Thayer and Richman had to remain several days in Saulifu.

CHICAGO AGAIN UNABLE TO MEET CITY PAYROLL

Less Than $400,000 in Treasury—$1,000,000 Due Next Monday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—City Comptroller Peterson has served notice to all city employes that no more payrolls can be met "until Feb. 10 or thereabouts," due to low cash reserves.

Peterson said there was less than $400,000 cash in the City Hall, that the $1,000,000 payrolls of the fire and police departments could not be met Monday, and that the city will have to depend on the unlikely sale of 1931 tax anticipation warrants if payrolls after Feb. 15 are to be met.

Chicago's finances have struggled through several crises due to the continued delay in the receipt of 1929 taxes pending reassessment of property values. A citizens' committee raised $75,000,000 last year to buy anticipation warrants on 1930 taxes. The committee recently warned that banks may not buy 1931 warrants on taxes due in October, 1932, unless the Board of Assessors and Board of Review are consolidated.

The City Council decided yesterday to meet Feb. 9 and act on the release of $3,341,000 from the working cash fund in order to pay employes for the first two weeks of the month.

The school board authorized the sale of $12,500,000 in bonds from the working cash fund for salaries due between Feb. 5 and April 1. In order to meet its Feb. 5 payroll it resorted to an extra-legal transfer of $2,200,000 from its building fund to its educational fund.

Assistant Deputy Comptroller O'Connor said Cook County was also feeling a pinch for money. The county, he said, was completely out of cash and will be able to meet its $1,000,000 monthly payroll only if the County Treasurer will juggle his special funds in order to lend the money.

Officials said tax anticipation warrants would have to be sold for the city after Feb. 15, for the county after Feb. 12 and for the school board after April 1.

NELSON MORRIS SUES AGAIN

Alleges Movie Company Filmed Wife Without His Permission.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Nelson Morris, Chicago millionaire who for a long time has been trying to keep his actress wife, Jane Aubert, off the stage, filed a suit in Paris courts today against the Franco Film Co., for $16,000 damages.

Morris alleges that his wife did a song and dance act for the film company since the court's decision denied her the right to appear on the stage without his permission. He says also that in the act his wife was dressed in a costume "offensive to conjugal decency." The case will be heard in the civil tribunal Feb. 6.

30 Held Up in Loan Office.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Twenty men and 10 women were clustered in the offices of the Williamsburg Commercial Loan Corporation in Brooklyn last night, paying insurance dues and reducing loans. Four masked men pushed their way into the office, lined them all up against the wall, took $550 from them and $150 from the corporation and escaped.

His Aid Tells House Committee There Is Not a Penny Available for Payment of Certificates.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—While Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today was voicing again his objections to cash payments on veterans' compensation certificates, his recommendations were attacked by Congressman Patman as being tempered by personal views.

The Texas Democrat, in testimony before the Senate Finance Committee, said, "We all know Secretary Mellon has been against veterans' legislation. His feelings naturally cause him to make estimates in accordance with his opinions. His feelings are such that his mistakes are always against veterans."

Patman added that he did not mean to imply Mellon is dishonest or there is any corruption.

The Secretary, who appeared yesterday before the Senate committee, meanwhile reiterated before the House Ways and Means Committee his objections to cash payments now.

Concerned Over Anticipated Deficit.

Under-Secretary Mills followed Mellon and said the Treasury was very much concerned over an anticipated $375,000,000 deficit for the year. Mills added, however, "we are not recommending an increase in taxes at the present time."

The Treasury official made the statement in an argument with Democratic leader Garner of the House over interpretation of the provisions of the Veterans' compensation act.

In reply to a question by Chairman Hawley as to the amount of money available in the Treasury for payment on the certificates, Mills said: "Not a penny."

Legion's Representative Heard.

J. Thomas Taylor, Legislative representative of the American Legion, said before the Senate Committee his organization had taken no stand on the question of whether the full face value or the current value of the certificates should be paid.

Taylor presented the resolution passed by the National Executive Committee of the Legion at Indianapolis last Sunday.

Members of the committee asked what the resolution meant by indorsing "the principle of immediate cash retirement," but Taylor said he could not interpret the phrase.

"It means it rests with Congress what method should be adopted," Taylor said.

Urges More Hospital Space.

Thomas Kirby, national legislative chairman of the Disabled American Veterans, told the committee cashing the certificates would not only benefit the veterans, but would be an extremely valuable method of meeting the national depression.

Kirby urged early enactment of legislation to provide more hospital space for disabled veterans. Their program, he said, calls for 5000 beds at a cost of $15,000,000. "The cash bonus is needed," he said, "but the hospitalization program is the thing most imperatively needed at the present time."

A motion of Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, to consider the hospitalization program immediately after the close of the present hearings was unanimously adopted.

Government Bond Market Slim.

Congressman Rainey (Dem.), Illinois, asked Mills if the slump in the stock and bond market on Wall street yesterday after Secretary Mellon's statement was made public before the Senate Finance Committee was not due to manipulation.

"I certainly don't think so," Mills said. "Word went out last week that this proposition was being considered seriously."

"What are these Government bondholders going to do?" Mills asked, and answering the question himself, said, "They are going to sell their bonds."

The Under Secretary said the Government bond market was slim because of the proposed payment of the veterans' certificates.

TELLS CONGRESS ABOUT RUSSIA

HUGH L. COOPER.

Hugh L. Cooper Quotes Stalin as Saying People of His Country Are Willing to Pay Premium for American Goods.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Hugh L. Cooper, American engineer employed by the Soviet Government, testified before the House Ways and Means Committee that in five years American exports to Russia might reach a billion dollars annually.

Appearing yesterday for the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, he opposed present Treasury interpretations of the tariff regulations as well as proposed tighter restrictions.

Cooper said Joseph Stalin had informed him last fall the Russians wanted to buy American goods and were willing to pay 25 per cent premium for them.

"It seems to me that in the face of the situation we're asleep at the switch if we don't look into this," he added.

Cooper said he was opposed to Communism and did not want to be understood as defending it or Russia.

Cooper, who built the Keokuk dam and the power plant at Muscle Shoals, is supervising construction of an 800,000-horsepower project on the Drieper River for the Soviet Government.

His Views on Russia.

Here are some of his conclusions after seven years' first-hand observation of the Russian scene.

Marriage—"Legally recognized. . . . Divorce is a disgrace. They started out on a different track, but the women soon fixed that up."

Communism—"Embraced by less than 1 per cent . . . But the 1 per cent Government is stronger with 99 per cent than ever before."

Employment—"Russia is the only country without an unemployment problem . . ."

The future—"It's so huge, I'm at sea, but generally speaking they've got to go back to some form of modified capitalism because the people, after universal education, won't be satisfied with the standards of communism."

Forced labor—"I've got 16,000 of them working for me, and I'd like to see someone force them."

Cooper said that the United States Treasury department's interpretation of tariff restriction on forced labor products were sufficient to kill trade with Russia.

The committee was informed by Assistant Secretary Lowman that proposed embargoes on Russian goods are a matter of policy for Congress to determine.

"I do not care to express an opinion," the Treasury Department official said.

He added that a bill to exclude forced labor products, aimed at Russian commodities, would only weaken a prohibition on such goods written into the new tariff act to take effect next January.

Two of the House conferees on the new tariff—Minority Leader Garner and Representative Bacharach (Rep.), New Jersey—said the tariff provision was designed to reach imports that proposed legislation would restrict.

Garner said the tariff conferees had spent three days drafting the provision and inquired whether it did not go far enough. The Texan told one witness, who stressed the necessity for protecting American labor from unfair competition that "American cotton laborers have a right to consideration, too. Last year we sold Russia $40,000,000 worth of cotton."

"Might Go Too Far."

"There is a possibility," Bacharach put in, "that, as Mr. Garner suggests, we might go too far."

Lowman said the tariff provision would exclude all convict labor products, while the proposed legislation would exempt certain goods, some of which were not produced domestically in sufficient quantities.

He said in response to questioning that American exports to Russia for 1930 were estimated at $150,000,000, and imports at $30,000,000 and that he believed exclusion of imports would result in shutting off exports.

Lumber, manganese and coal mining representatives urged the committee to enact an embargo against forced labor products. They described depressed conditions in American industries and said protection from such competition would help them.

Representative Fish (Rep.), New York, urged execution of his Communist investigating committee's recommendations for an American investigation of convict labor in Russian lumber production, and later of forced labor conditions.

"The five-year plan is a success," Fish said, adding that through it Russia would capture the world markets for wheat, lumber, manganese and cotton.

Should Russia refuse to allow an American investigation, Fish insisted that "a flat embargo" should be laid against timber.

Amos Fries, former chief of the chemical warfare service, asked on behalf of the Reserve Officers Training Corps "what is $100,000,000 worth of trade to us? We're facing revolution."

$169,837,364 DROP IN 1930 INCOME TAXES

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A decrease of $169,837,364 in income taxes collected during the calendar year 1930 is shown in statistics issued by the Internal Revenue Bureau. The total was $2,332,968,392, compared with $2,502,805,757 in 1929. There was a reduction of 1 per cent in normal and corporation rates payable in 1930.

Corporation taxes decreased approximately $22,000,000 to $1,242,595,782 in 1930 from $1,264,673,434 in 1929. Individual income taxes amounted to $1,090,372,611 in 1930 and $1,238,132,324 in 1929.

New York State, which led in income tax payments, reported a total of $791,277,321 in 1930, as compared with $852,422,267 the previous year. Pennsylvania was second with $215,329,754, as compared with $214,275,811 in 1929. Illinois was third with $214,639,909, as compared with $236,986,918. Collections in Missouri for 1930 were $49,549,515.77.

The Treasury estimated the rate reduction, which was for only one year, resulted in lowering income tax receipts by $160,000,000.

NYE SUGGESTS MOSES SEEKS TO PREVENT HIS RE-ELECTION

Thinks Expenses of His Investigation Were Put in Congressional Record for That Purpose.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Chairman Nye of the Senate Campaign Funds Committee indicated in the Senate today that the placing in the record by Senator Moses (Rep.), New Hampshire, of the expenditures by the Nye investigators was for the purposes of defeating Nye for re-election next year.

Moses placed in the Record earlier in the day a statement Nye filed with the accounting clerk of the Senate, showing how the original $100,000 given the committee had been spent.

"I can see these pages of the Record in the hands of every political enemy of mine in North Dakota when I seek re-election next year," Nye said.

Nye said he had heard it whispered in the Senate that a "scandal was coming" in connection with his committee and that one member was advised he had "better get off" to avoid being involved.

The North Dakotan said he could "see the tongues wagging" in North Dakota when the people read the account and word was spread about how "lavishly Nye lives when out on Government expense."

Nye said there was a possibility that the account would be misinterpreted and that there were some errors in it.

"Never before has the chairman of a committee been treated in such a way," Nye asserted. "I think I understand what underlies it. But I am willing to have every one see how every dollar is spent."

Moses said he had placed the account of the committee's expenditures in the Congressional Record "without any regard for the future political ambitions" of Nye.

MELLON DOUBLES HOOVER ESTIMATE OF U. S. DEFICIT

BITTER CONFLICT LIKELY ON BONUS

It Is Indicated President Will Veto Any Legislation Providing Cash for Former Soldiers.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—It may have been generally overlooked that the administration, through Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's statement yesterday to the Senate Finance Committee, has materially increased its estimate of the Treasury deficit for the current fiscal year, ending June 30 next.

President Hoover in his budget message to Congress at the opening of the present session forecast a deficit of about $180,000,000, adding that this might be increased by pending relief measures.

Secretary Mellon told the Senate Committee, in his statement opposing immediate cash payment of soldiers' bonus certificates, that present indications pointed to a deficit of at least $375,000,000, which is more than double the tentative estimate of last December.

This red-ink figure compares with a surplus of $183,789,214 with which the Treasury finished the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930. The conversion of that surplus into a $375,000,000 deficit means total shift to the wrong side of the ledger amounting to more than half a billion dollars.

"The present condition of the public finances," said Secretary Mellon, "is far from being satisfactory. Expenditures are running considerably in excess of receipts."

He added his apprehension that the prospective income tax receipts, based on incomes of 1930, will not reach the estimated figures, and that possibly the national debt, instead of being decreased during the fiscal year, will actually show an increase on June 30. The national debt is now something over $16,000,000,000, having been reduced from a peak of more than $25,000,000,000 in 1919.

The Secretary's statement recalled a recent prediction by Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, that when the March income tax returns are in, their comparative smallness will "give us the shock of our lives."

Mellon's gloomy picture of the financial state of the Government forecast a bitter fight between Congress and the administration if legislation is enacted to provide for cash retirement of the bonus certificates. The inference was clear from what the Secretary said that any legislation to this effect would bring a veto from the President.

BODY OF PAVLOWA CREMATED

Funeral of Dancer Held in Russian Church, London.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—In the Russian Church, where her body had lain in state since it was brought from Holland yesterday, funeral services were held today for Anna Pavlowa, the famous dancer.

There were magnificent wreaths, but there were also many unpretentious nosegays contributed by poor Russians who knew her in their better days. The rites of the Russian Church last two and a half hours. In the great congregation were the Russian Consul-General, many persons of international prominence and several of the dancer's pupils. The body was cremated at Golder's Green this afternoon.

BRITISH PRINCES SAIL FOR CUBA AFTER SHORT STOP IN BERMUDA

Game of Golf Makes Them Two Hours Late at Reception at Government House.

By the Associated Press.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 29.—The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, sailed over rough seas today toward Havana, the next stop on their trip to South America. Residents and the winter colony crowded the dock last night as the Liner Oropesa, which brought the Princes from Spain, departed. Some visitors broke through the police lines to take pictures of the Prince of Wales.

The trip to South America, which will culminate with inauguration of the British Trade Exposition in Buenos Aires in March, generally is regarded as an attempt to sell British good will in undeveloped markets.

While here the Princes played 18 holes of golf on the Tuckerstown links, the Prince of Wales' opponent being Eldon Trimingham, yatchtsman and sportsman. No scores were announced, but Trimingham said they were evenly matched. Prince George played with one of the equerries.

After the golf the brothers changed from flannels to blue pin stripe suits and hurried, two hours late, to a reception at Government House, to whcih more than 600 guests had been invited.

The Oropesa will arrive at Havana probably Sunday. It will remain there only an hour or so. The next stop will be Jamaica.

FOR GENERAL INVESTIGATION OF PRICE OF COMMODITIES

Senator Steiwer Would Broaden Inquiries Into Bread, Sugar and Meat.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A proposal for a general investigation of fluctuations in commodity and security prices was pending today in the Senate, which previously had ordered inquiries into bread, sugar and meat costs. The broad study of prices would be conducted by a special civilian commission appointed by Vice President Curtis. Its purpose would be the determination of causes and remedies for price fluctuation. It was proposed in a resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Steiwer (Rep.), Oregon. The measure went over for future consideration.

The meat price investigation was added to the bread and sugar inquiry of a special committee headed by Senator Capper (Rep.), Kansas, late yesterday. It was proposed by Senator Carey (Rep.), Wyoming and approved unanimously.

Capper called the committee together for a meeting today to employ special investigators for the bread and sugar studies. He said these would proceed ahead of the meat investigation. The committee at present is seeking to determine whether bread prices have declined in conformity with wheat quotations and, if not, the reason and remedy.

STRIKING STUDENTS RIOT IN TWO CITIES IN SPAIN

News Censorship Regarding Republican Movement; All Universities Are Closed.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Jan. 29.—Rioting broke out in two Spanish cities today as a result of the strike of university students in protest against the monarchy and the Government of Premier Berenguer.

At Santiago de Compostella, students took part in a Republican demonstration and police reserves were sent to the university to restore order. Several persons were injured and many students were arrested.

At Huelva striking students paraded shouting demands for a republic and for the immediate release of students and professors imprisoned for republican activities last December. The police arrested several of the leaders.

Every university in the country is closed by the strike.

Martial law continues in Madrid and Saragossa, while the censorship has suppressed all details of the strike. No Spanish newspaper has been allowed to print anything about the students' strike or concerning the serious election situation.

Thinks Mound Builders Stripped Flesh From Bodies of Honored Dead and Buried Only the Bones

Prof. Kelly of Illinois U. Reports on Study of Relics Found in Tumulus Destroyed Near East St. Louis.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan, 29.—The prehistoric Indians who built the huge mound destroyed by steam shovel near East St. Louis last month stripped the flesh from their honored dead before burial. Prof. A. R. Kelly of the University of Illinois has concluded, after a month of laboratory study.

A purple stain was found on some of the bones. A chemist was unable to identify it except as a vegetable dye, crudely extracted from some bark or root, but did establish that it was not from grape, plum or elderberry, and had not got on the bones by accident.

Four different stages of construction were disclosed by the steam shovel, says L. E. Workman of the Illinois Geological Survey. Workman accompanied C. W. Clancy, Prof. Kelly's field assistant, in the Illinois Archeological Explorations, in the study of the mound for the week that remained when the university was notified that it was being leveled.

The geologist found pits several feet deep in both the second and third levels above the base line left by the steam shovel. Those in the lower level seemed to have been filled in by the action of storm water before the higher stage was built, and one, at least, of those in the upper level had been dug through to an old pit in the lower level.

No indication of the use of those pits was found. They showed no particular concentration of the charcoal and bits of pottery scattered throughout the mound. Pits similarly coinciding on two levels have been found in a village site.

Unusual Burial Mound.

The stained bones were unearthed near the edge of the mound on one of the lower stages. The last stage, a cap 18 feet thick, had been put on over a burial platform, unlike any ever previously

NATIONALIST BODY IN INDIA OPPOSES BRITAIN'S OFFER

MORE LEGISLATIVE POWER DEMANDED

Moderate Members Favor Suspension of Civil Disobedience — Full Session Set for Sunday.

By the Associated Press.

ALLAHABAD, India, Jan. 29.—Members of the Working Committee of the All-India National Congress, sponsors of the campaign of civil disobedience, disclosed at an informal meeting today that they were virtually opposed to the British offer of a revised constitutional status for India.

This revised status was evolved substantially at the London Round Table Conference and was put into words at the close by Prime Minister MacDonald, who offered India an eventual dominion status qualified with reservations to the British Crown of authority in foreign relations, finances and defense.

Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Nationalist forces who came here yesterday from Bombay, played a leading part in the meeting of the Working Committee members, not all of whom have arrived here yet. Their informal decision may postpone a settlement in India indefinitely.

Pending the recovery of Motilal Nehru, who next to Gandhi is at the head of the organization, the Working Committee will not hold a full meeting until Sunday.

Radical members, including Gandhi himself, argue that the Legislature must have absolute control of recruiting employes for all branches of the Indian Government service.

Some of the more moderate members of the committee favor the suspension of the present Congress activities, that is to say the Against Jury Service for Women.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WOMEN of the State of Missouri, please ask yourselves by what authority does the Missouri League of Women Voters assume to represent the feminine citizens of this State on the question of jury service for women? How many of you want to serve on juries?

Is it your idea that any woman is lacking in good citizenship because she refuses to overstep the bounds of decency, propriety and her own special sphere in the social scheme, to land in a morass so disagreeable and in many cases so uncouth and repulsive that most men shrink from it? At best, it is a source of trouble, annoyance, mental vexation, and not one good, legitimate reason has been advanced why women should assume the burden.

The innately refined, well balanced womanly women of our State are not going to be dragged beyond the limit of endurance just to gratify the vanity and political ambitions of a few consistent seekers after front-page notoriety and posers in the limelight. It is not because we are dense, or household drudges—as they so contemptuously refer to us—or not progressive. For years many of us have been voters and successful in the business world; but there is a limit, even to progress, and this has gone far enough. For innumerable ages, men have taken care of this difficult problem, and I believe they are just as efficient, just as thoroughly capable of handling the situation today as they were then. If they are not—I fail to see how they have the ability to provide a good living for these women, whose chief occupation in life seems to be running around and dabbling in affairs of state. I take off my hat to their menfolk, for their patience and indulgence.

Thousands of good women kept up their homes, reared splendid families—many to fame—performed their religious, domestic and social duties, long before these progressives were ever born, and I dare say thousands more will do the same thing long after they are gone and forgotten. Jury service was unheard of—as a part of their duty—yet they were useful citizens, carrying on the really most important obligations in life—their duty toward their God—and humanity.

Old Age Pensions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

YOUR editorial anent old age pensions was a splendid exposition of the justice due to aged men and women whom varying causes have left in indigence through the unjust system of profit distribution wherein the "laborer" well "worthy of his hire" has received about one-tenth of it.

Old age pension is not a charity, it is not a dole, nor is it a special philanthropy decreed by the state, unearned, but given as an altruistic gesture to the worthy of each sex. Indeed, it is not! It is justice to them, not alms; it is an increment, a treasure stored up by their grand army, the soldiers of peace, from which each one is entitled to a fair and just share. Give what we owe these worthy fathers and mothers who reared us all to be the giant that we are today. Banish the evil misanthrope who would say no.

HENRY J. PATEE.

A Marylander's View of Gov. Ritchie.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IT is true as you say in your editorial which I have clipped from the Baltimore Evening Sun that Gov. Albert G. Ritchie is the only man in the history of the State to hold office for so extended a tenure (four terms). However, you probably do not appreciate the fact that this is not due to unalloyed popularity. His opponents in the recent election were: William F. Broening, Republican Mayor of Baltimore, and Miss Elizabeth Gilman, Socialist. Broening, already thoroughly unpopular with the citizens of Baltimore, made his best showing in the counties of the State; Miss Gilman never had a ghost of a chance. I heard one prominent citizen of Baltimore say, "I hate to vote for Ritchie, but I can't vote for Broening, and I'll be hanged before I vote for the woman!" Believe me, there were many other voters in the same quandary. Yet, the result is interpreted as a great personal victory for Gov. Ritchie by the citizens of other states.

In the preceding elections, with one exception when Ritchie was opposed by Alexander Armstrong, the rival candidates were so impossible that there was no choice but to support Ritchie. Armstrong, a worthy opponent, wrecked himself trying to straddle the "wet-dry" question. If the truth were but known, the citizens of Maryland are tired of this perpetual jobholder, but as long as we are given only fourth and fifth class candidates to oppose our Little Dictator, we must perforce continue to put up with this second rate politician. We have Republicans in Maryland who are men of distinction, but the office of Governor pays such a small salary and carries so little prestige that of late years such men cannot be induced to seek the office.

A CITIZEN OF MARYLAND,
Frederick, Md.

THE ALBANY CONFERENCE.

The Governors of seven industrial states have been considering compulsory unemployment insurance in a conference at Albany which was called by Gov. Roosevelt. The states represented by their executives, either personally or by proxy, are New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Those states pay 63 per cent of the nation's income tax and more than 50 per cent of the nation's total wage bill. The subject, therefore, is one in which they are vitally concerned, and anything they decide to do or not to do about it will be of consequence.

Nothing definite was agreed upon at the conference, but sufficient information was developed during the discussions to make the meeting distinctly worth while.

It is accepted, of course, that some plan must be worked out, as a matter of justice and public policy, to protect employes in a measure against recurring business depressions. Sentiment at Albany was against any participation by the Federal Government and for restricting the individual state's participation to a minimum. This attitude may be partly accounted for by our national tradition and, in larger part, perhaps, by the European experience in the venture, particularly that of Great Britain. It was the judgment of the conference that this was a problem for industry itself to solve, with capital and labor jointly bearing the cost. The state, however, was not to be excluded. Both the state and the Federal Government must co-operate, by legislation and construction, in any effective program for coping with unemployment.

Nothing was added in the way of legislative suggestions to the now familiar Wagner bills. Those bills, the work of Senator Wagner of New York, and introduced by him in the Senate when the country was at its prosperity peak, provided for bureaus to compile dependable and up-to-date statistics on unemployment, for the planning in advance of public works as a matter of intelligent preparedness against the necessities of a depression, and for the creation of Government employment agencies.

Some disillusioning information as to the national administration's relief contribution to the present situation was given by one of the experts in attendance, Leo Wolman, a member of the President's committee on recent economic changes. There was no more money spent upon public works throughout the country last year than in 1929, and less will be spent this year than in 1930. The same authority said that, during the period of the last 10 years, public expenditures "rose with the advance in general business, furnishing added employment at a time when employment in private industry was expanding."

In Mr. Wolman's opinion, public construction is a large enough industry to serve as a balance wheel, if competently administered. He quoted convincing figures, to the effect that, in 1927, public construction was a $3,400,000,000 industry, being but $600,000,000 below the automobile industry. It really does seem that with such means at hand the governments, Federal and state, could substantially relieve unemployment induced even by a depression as severe and persisting as the present. Obviously, though, it calls for managerial ability of a high order and that genius for looking ahead which is the hallmark of statesmanship. Obviously, too, the enactment of the Wagner bills would not only be a very practicable form of unemployment insurance, but would be a boon to harassed statesmen as well as a blessing to people in need.

The financial ability of industry to provide for unemployment insurance was pretty well demonstrated in figures cited by Paul H. Douglas, economist, of Chicago and the Swarthmore College unemployment study, who has won recognition in the field of wage statistics. While the country's payroll was declining 20 per cent the dividend payments of a large group of leading corporations were $8,000,000,000 in 1930, an increase of a half a billion over those in 1929.

It is in such facts and figures as those brought out at this conference, and in the research thus inspired, that a way will be found to mitigate the effects of industrial slumps. Of course, something more than facts, figures and formulas must be had. There must be the illumination of a new philosophy, as finely presented by Senator-elect Costigan of Colorado in his Atlantic Monthly article, which the Post-Dispatch reprinted in part on Monday. A decade of reckless privilege has blown the bubble and brought us to the election of last November, the mandate of which Mr. Costigan interpreted in these stirring words:

> The demand is for a people's, not a profiteer's, sovereignty; a people's education, literature, financial system, tariff and life; a people's electric age, a people's government in all branches, executive, legislative and judicial; a people's prosperity, a people's peace.

That is what we are striving for—security of spirit as well as body, under the lash of an admittedly stupid depression, logical sequence of a stupid prosperity.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE'S HIGHLY MORAL STAND.

That prim old institution, the New York Stock Exchange, has abandoned the practice of giving out the exact total of its daily transactions because a lottery known as Numbers, very popular in Harlem, has been based on those figures. The Stock Exchange does not want to be associated, even though innocently and indirectly, with this gambling game. It refuses to be a party to a habit which is sapping the character and the pocketbooks of the people of Harlem. Says who? Says the New York Stock Exchange. Pardon us if we snicker.

THE TAILOR'S ANDREW.

One of history's most tragic loves came to an end just 400 years ago. It was in the winter of 1531, when the plague was sweeping Florence, that Andrea del Sarto, forsaken by his faithless, overbearing wife, Lucrezia, died of the dread disease. She comes down to us in many a Madonna from her husband's palette and he remains the constant lover, devoted though she bring the heavens upon his head. That the artist was conscious of his plight is the inference of Browning, who has him lament: "Had you, with these (features) but brought a mind!" At any rate, whether jealous Lucrezia urged him on to "God and glory" with "never a care for gain," she was the type of his finest portraits and in his depiction of flesh was much of her loveliness. From copying models in the shop of a goldsmith, the tailor's Andrew rose until he painted at the invitation of a French King, only to leave his triumph when Lucrezia called. Faultless though Andrea's technique was, he did not rise with his great contemporaries, for in his adoration there was unending sacrifice of his ideals. Yet who can say the world is the loser? In that love was the inspiration of as fine a monologue as the language contains. Every high school student knows the haunting figure of the disillusioned artist, still content, as he sits by the window, watching the silver-gray dusk darken into autumn night.

FACTS ABOUT GRAVOIS AVENUE.

There is much confusion in the public mind about the variety of proceedings involved in the improvement of Gravois avenue. It should clarify the atmosphere to explain the four phases:

1. The city is widening Gravois from 60 to 100 feet between Grand boulevard and Eighteenth street, and extending it, 100 feet wide, between Eighteenth and Twelfth streets. It has paid into court the damages for property taken and is having buildings removed from the way. Complying with the law, condemnation commissioners appointed by the Circuit Court fixed damages and set up a district where property was held to be benefited by the improvement. The district covers an unusually large area and some of the property owners in it, feeling the prospective assessment burdensome, have sought to have it set aside, so far without success. Should they succeed, an important and long awaited traffic artery would be delayed longer and a variety of complications would ensue.

2. It will be necessary to pave the strip taken in widening and, of course, to replace the old pavement in the present street. A public hearing was conducted on Tuesday to see if the adjacent property owners, who would be taxed for part of the cost of the pavement, wanted this work done and whether they wanted to save money by leaving a parked strip in the center as a site for future double car tracks, where there are none now. The people showed they wanted pavement for the full width, and no parkways. An unusually large proportion of the paving cost will be borne by the city out of bond funds because of physical characteristics of the improvement.

3. The Public Service Co., seeking to save $500,000 for the relocation of its present single and double tracks in Gravois, between Mississippi avenue and Arsenal street, recently sought permission from the State Public Service Commission to tear up the tracks and substitute bus service. The city feels the company might have started this action months ago, as its recent institution threatens to delay completion of the paving this year. The paving hearing had to be on the basis of the existing track situation, under the law, and the city could not propose an alternative for the possibility of a track-free street. The car company in recent advertisements has erroneously charged the city Board of Public Service with blame for this. The hearing on removal of the tracks will be conducted Feb. 23. Many trolley patrons are opposing this plan in an organized way.

4. The discussion of paving costs has resulted in a proposal to have the State share the burden of maintaining city streets which, like Gravois avenue, are used for carrying traffic to and from State highways. The Board of Aldermen has indorsed the pending effort to arrange for this in a law before the State Legislature.

PROF. NUNN IN ST. LOUIS.

A plea was made in our letter column yesterday for reparation to Prof. Nunn. The correspondent thinks that the weather dispensed by the professor during our so-called winter makes amends for the ice age of a year ago and the inferno of that dreadful summer. We dissent heartily. The current weather, it seems to us, is contemptible. It isn't winter. It is an imitation. And, now that we think of it, we know what's the matter with Prof. Nunn. Professionally he scorns the happy medium, the golden mean, the estimable norm, the praiseworthy orthodox. Since that fateful day when he bade farewell to the lush meadows, "green-walled by the hills of Maryland," and turned to the West, our weather has been exotic. We have, as our correspondent recalls, recorded our opinion of the Arctic malevolence and sizzling malediction of the professor's 1930. And the simpering April behavior of the January now dying has been almost loathsome. We simple, unsophisticated prairie folks want our weather to keep faith with the calendar. We want to shiver in winter and sweat in summer, as provided in the rules and bylaws of our temperate zone. We don't want to be frozen stiff or roasted to a turn as we were last year, neither do we want to be nibbling at pomegranates, as we now are, when we ought to have nipped noses and bright red ears. If our meteorologist will cease experimenting and give us the snows and apple blossoms our fathers knew, all will be well with us. And, as the insurance people say, Prof. Nunn will be a better risk.

TAFT ON WICKERSHAM.

As the years roll around they bring a steady increase in Mr. Taft's reputation as a profound student of American institutions, as a keen observer and as an accurate judge of how certain policies would affect the national status, not to say as a seer of rare prophetic powers. Some time ago we commented on the letters, written in 1918, in which Mr. Taft stated his opinion that national prohibition would result in unenforceable laws, an enormous force of Federal police and detectives, corruption in high places, delivery of the liquor business to a quasi-criminal element and an unwise structural change in the relation of the states to the Government. It is now of interest to note Mr. Taft's private opinion of Mr. Wickersham, whose report on the subject, though clothed in ambiguities, bears out the ex-President's statements of a dozen years ago. In the final volume of Maj. Archie Butt's letters, the White House Boswell reports Mr. Taft as speaking as follows, in January, 1911, to a group of intimates:

> Wickersham is wordy, strange as it may seem. You think he is clear and concise, and it sounds so when he is talking, but I find that after he has finished he has been neither, and I had missed the very points which I would have expected him to bring out.

And that was 20 years ago!

MIRAGE!

Russian Trade and "Dumping"

While other nations "are all sinners" in respect to cutting prices on foreign markets, fire is centered on Russian "dumping"; this has now become a political smokescreen in many countries, including U. S. and England; Soviet has vast potentialities as buyer for years to come; fair treatment will develop profitable customer.

Louis Fischer, Moscow Correspondent, in the Nation.

MARCH 21, 1921, Herbert Hoover made a famous statement about the Bolsheviks. "Under their economic system," he said, "no matter how much they modify it in name, there can be no real return to production in Russia, and therefore Russia will have no considerable commodities to export and, consequently, no great ability to obtain imports." Perfect logic: no production, no exports, no imports. That was almost 10 years ago. Mr. Hoover's own Department of Commerce has disproved every word he said, and the current campaign against Soviet "dumping" is the best indication that the Bolsheviks can and do produce and export, as well as import.

"Dumping!" exclaimed Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, at a recent free trade meeting in Manchester; "that word has come to be used to describe all fair and legitimate commerce between countries." At the last League of Nations Assembly, Baron Rheinbaben, the German delegate, speaking of dumping, declared that "it was not giving away a secret to say that in certain measure we are all sinners." The London Times Oct. 4 discussed the British coal export subsidy which for years had made it possible for Yorkshire to undersell Poland and Germany in European markets. There is not a country on the face of the earth which has not indulged in dumping at one time or another.

The charge has been repeatedly made that the Bolsheviks dispose of their exports at ridiculously low prices in order to undermine the prosperity of the bourgeois world and thus hasten the advent of the world revolution. The Russians are neither so foolish nor so Machiavellian. They get as much as they can for their goods—not one kopek less. Soviet exports constitute 2 per cent of world trade. The charge is laughable.

The anti-dumping arguments are unworthy of serious treatment. "Nationalized" women and "stolen" oil have had their day. Now it is "dumping." The world must be entertained. Soviet exports, however, are extremely important in world affairs, and deserve careful consideration—something which the dumping cry makes almost impossible. Dumping is objectionable because it upsets price levels. But Soviet grain exports would unsettle the market even if they were sold at the same price as American, Canadian or Australian cereals.

If there was agricultural overproduction before the Soviet Union began claiming again its natural position in the international grain trade, if hundreds of thousands of farmers are deserting their holdings in various countries, if the Canadian wheat pool and American warehouses hold tremendous unsold reserves, what will happen with Russia exporting in ever-mounting quantities, as she should, barring bad crops, in forthcoming years? What if Russia again becomes the biggest seller of grain? Perhaps the fear of such eventualities is the real root of the "dumping" cry. Heavy Soviet wheat exports struck the world at a time when huge supplies and low prices made the market especially vulnerable. Hence all the noise.

It may well be, furthermore, that some business men see farther into the future. Russia's exports of flax and other agricultural products, as well as of oil and lumber, are also bound to grow within the next few years. Indeed, the whole face of Soviet foreign trade may undergo transformation. Today Russia imports nonferrous metals and chemicals, tractors and automobiles, special steels and electrical equipment. But gigantic plants rising in various sections of the country will soon cut such imports to the bone. And who will say when the Soviet may be exporting these same articles?

The revolution released the productive instincts and energies of a virile nation inhabiting one-sixth of the earth's dry surface—presumably the world's richest country in natural resources. This is what might well worry foreign nations, not dumping.

The Bolsheviks sell because they must buy. And they will buy where they can sell; hence their reprisals against those who have instituted an official embargo on Russian commodities. If the world wants Russian orders it will have to take Russian exports. No other alternative is possible.

Nor do I believe that the Soviet demand for foreign goods is likely to fall in the near future. The Bolsheviks assure the country that in two or three years they will become independent of cotton imports from America and Egypt. I doubt it. When the period of privation ends, when the nation's tremendously increased buying capacity is given free rein, and when the Government possesses more money for purchases abroad, there will be no limit to cotton imports because there is no limit to the textiles which the country can consume. The same is true of many other articles.

When will Russian cease needing foreign machines? If nations like Germany, France, England and the United States still buy technical equipment from one another, will Russia ever become self-sufficient in this respect? Certainly not for decades. Germany industrialized is a far bigger market than a backward rural Germany. This applies with greater force to the Soviet Union, where millions still satisfy only their most primitive immediate consumption requirements, yet where the standard of living and the yearning for comforts have climbed sharply since 1917. The world stands in no danger of losing the Russian market unless by embargoes and boycotts it compels the Bolsheviks to restrict their exports.

Unfortunately, since the importance of Soviet trade is not yet considerable, Soviet exports have become a political football, and the issue is obscured. The British Conservatives and pro-protectionists use Russian wheat as an argument against free trade. In the United States it serves the useful purpose of diverting attention from the fundamental ills of agriculture. When governments and parties need a lever, a scapegoat and an excuse, and find it in Soviet "dumping," the truth about Russian exports is likely to be obscured.

WHEN Jan. 29 of each year rolls around, the admirers of Thomas Paine remember with gratitude what he did for his fellow men. Born of humble parents in Thedford, England; he knew the sting of poverty and devoted his life to helping the oppressed of all lands. His words, "The world is my country; all men are my brothers; to do good is my religion," are worthy of the man. A hundred years ahead of his time, he advocated measures which since have been adopted. Ready at all times to sacrifice himself for the good of the many, he was a true patriot.

Ingersoll said of Thomas Paine: "With his name left out, the history of liberty could not be written." Ingersoll also wrote: "Paine gave to the world his 'Common Sense.' It was the first argument for separation, the first assault upon the British form of government, the first blow for a Republic, and it aroused our fathers like a trumpet blast. No other pamphlet ever accomplished such wonderful results. It was filled with argument, reason, persuasion and unanswerable logic. It opened a new world. It filled the present with hope and the future with honor."

Everywhere the people responded, and in a few months the Continental Congress declared the colonies free and independent states. In Ingersoll's words: "A new nation was born. It is simple justice to say that Paine did more to cause the Declaration of Independence than any other man. In my judgment Thomas Paine was the best political writer that ever lived."

George Washington wrote to Paine from Rocky Hill on Sept. 10, 1783: "I have learned since I have been at this place that you are at Bordentown, whether for the sake of retirement or economy I know not. Be it for either, or both, or whatever it may, if you will come to this place and partake with me, I shall be exceedingly glad to see you. Your presence may remind Congress of your past services to this country; and if it is in my power to impress them, command my best exertions with freedom, as they will be rendered cheerfully by one who entertains a lively sense of the importance of your works."

Thomas A. Edison, vice president of the Thomas Paine National Historical Society, says: "I began reading Paine at 13 years of age. We never had a sounder intelligence in this Republic. He was the equal of Washington in making American liberty possible. Where Washington performed, Paine devised and wrote. The deeds of the one in the field were matched with the other by the pen. I consider Paine our greatest political thinker."

Paine's four books, "The Age of Reason," "The Rights of Man," "Common Sense" and "The Crisis," are masterpieces in literature. Any reader with only a thought for human justice is sure to be compensated in a knowledge that will thrill him to the depths.

The struggle for industrial democracy against industrial despotism is now in our midst. The words of Paine, "These are the times that try men's souls," are just as vital in the present effort to establish an industrial democracy as in the days of Paine when they referred to the struggle that set up political and religious freedom. Progress in every direction has proceeded at a phenomenal pace. Who would dare predict what greater wonders the immediate future has in store for us once our economic wants are positively assured, with the establishment of a real industrial democracy to harmonize with our political and religious democracy?

THE ECONOMIC LIFE OF SOVIET RUSSIA. By Calvin B. Hoover. (The Macmillan Co., New York City, $3.00.)

SOME days ago this column contained some brief comment on "These Russians," by William C. White. Here are two more sanely conceived and temperately written studies of the tremendous social experiment that is now being made in Russia. Both of these books are by men who have observed the experiment at first hand and both give convincing evidence that their authors were sincerely trying to get at the truth with no intention either to champion or oppose the Soviet social theory. The two works differ not at all in intention and little or not at all in their implications. Calvin B. Hoover has carefully analyzed the economic structure of Russia as it is now and as the dictating minority plans to make it in due time. Sherwood Eddy discusses the Soviet experiment in a more general way, and with a very evident desire to be fair; but the implications, for the careful reader, are the same.

There is not much use in attempting to "review" all these works that are being written on what is unquestionably the most important problem in the modern world. It is significant that a great change has come over the spirit of those who write about Sovietism. The experiment is now being taken most seriously by those of the capitalist world who are capable of thought, and at last undoubtedly the truth is breaking through. That truth, it must be admitted, is of a nature that ought to sober up all but the hopelessly drunk in this wild party that we call Western civilization. It might be a godsend for us in America if the majority of our reading public could throw aside the ridiculous jazz twaddle of the perverted sophisticates that makes up so much of our literature, forget the emotional maunderings of silly women and sillier effeminate creatures who are technically to be classified as male, and read as many as possible of these saner books on what is happening in Russia. But whoever has endeavored to reason with a thoroughly drunk man or woman, will know what the chances are for such a shift of interest.

Great social catastrophes generally come suddenly and, for the great mass of men and women, without warning. Few believed a world war possible, and the few who knew not only that it was possible, but inevitable, were simply "queer." Those who sincerely believe most in the possibility of making our fundamental American institutions something more than a matter of hypocritical and windy phrasing are precisely those who should study the Russian experiment most assiduously. But if we have a single leader anywhere, either in statecraft or in industry, who realizes what is actually now preparing in the world, there is nothing in either their acts or public utterances to indicate the fact. The old ostrich stuff won't do, fine phrases won't help, and chasing down "Reds" is of no avail. There are causes for events, and sane men must look for causes, for the social dynamite lies there.

You may feel safe in being a good Republican or a good Democrat. Wake up! The truth is not to be found in names but in realities.

C. Leonard Woolley, director of the joint archeological expedition of the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania to Mesopotamia, is widely known by his two fascinating books, "The Sumerians" and "Ur of the Chaldees." In the present volume, based upon a series of radio lectures, he tells just the sort of thing about the purposes and methods of the field archeologist that the average person, with any interest whatever in the subject, would like to know. How do great cities get buried? How does an archeologist know where to dig? How is it possible to reconstruct a dead civilization out of what may be found in the ruins of ancient buildings and in tombs? To what extent does mere conjecture enter into such reconstructions? Such questions are answered in an illuminating way and many highly interesting instances are cited by way of illustration.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 29.

ONE trouble with the argument proposing to revive business by distributing a cash bonus among the veterans of the world war is that it proves too much. If only that were necessary to make good times probably we now should have our greatest peace-time prosperity, for the amount of money being paid out by all our governments is the greatest on record. If properity is the goal a distribution of public money would evidently be more effective if given to everybody.

Another difficulty is the necessity of borrowing this fund. At a time when capital has been exhausted and needs to be recreated by earnings the dissipation of a large sum of borrowed money could only delay prosperity. We cannot lift ourselves by our financial bootstraps. Anyone familiar with governmental finance knows that borrowing increases the burden on production and is a wasteful process. The future is already over-mortgaged. We need to conserve, retrench and reduce expenses to income. What the veterans gave cannot be measured in money. It was priceless. Both paying a cash bonus and borrowing money to revive business are part of the same delusion that the people can rely on the Government alone to furnish salvation.

M'CORMACK SINGS TO 8000 AT COLISEUM

Tenor Gets Many Encores From Enthusiastic Audience —Concert for Boys' Club.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN.

JOHN McCORMACK sang for the benefit of the Boys' Club and about 8000 adults last night at the Coliseum. The performance was a success from practically every standpoint, despite the fact that the Washington boulevard auditorium is about as congenial a place, acoustically, for such an event as the middle span of Eads Bridge would be. The wide-open spaces of that yawning amphitheater dissipated some of the warmth and solidity of McCormacks tones. Even so, it was quite apparent to anyone within earshot that McCormack was still an incomparable artist and one of the musical wonders of the age.

One is naturally a little suspicious of a singer who becomes the darling of the multitudes, but in this case the only effect of such adoration has been to make McCormack's programs run rather heavily to smiling Irish skies and blue-eyed colleens. That, of course, is something of a pity in view of the fact that he can sing the songs of Schubert and Hugo Wolf with a perfection of phrasing and accent that only a few singers alive can hope to approximate. But since the great tenor's debt to his public will not permit him to indulge himself exclusively in masterpieces, one can only note that even songs of commonplace sentiment are delivered with such simplicity, restraint—such delicacy of color and proportion—that they achieve a certain dignity.

Last night's program began with a group of old German, English and Italian songs, followed by a group of modern art songs. After that he gave himself to his larger public completely with an expected effect. The enthusiasm of the audience led to many encores.

Except for one or two bad notes in his upper register McCormack's voice was about the same as ever.

The concert was given for the benefit of the Boys' Club of St. Louis and a total of about $12,000 was taken in at the box office. Practically all of this went to the beneficiary as McCormack, his accompanist and Walter Brower, the cellist, who took part in the program, accepted payment only for their expenses.

McCormack was led to offer his services not only because of his interest in boys but because of a certain sentimental interest in St. Louis. He filled his first professional engagement here during the World's Fair when he received an honorarium of $48 a week.

100 AT STATE EPISCOPAL DIOCESAN CONVENTION

Bishop Johnson Delivers Annual Address; Delegates to General Session to Be Chosen.

Bishop Frederick F. Johnson, presiding officer of the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri, in session today at Christ Church Cathedral, was celebrant at a communion service at the cathedral this morning. Later he delivered his annual address at a business meeting in the Bishop Tuttle Memorial.

About 100 delegates from the 30 parishes and 23 missions of the diocese, which embraces the eastern half of the State, were present at the convention. Committee reports were presented in printed form at the opening meeting last night. After the selection of eight delegates to the general convention of the Episcopal Church at Denver, Colo., next September, the convention will close this evening.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

INVITATIONS have been received in St. Louis from Mrs. William W. Beck of Baltimore, formerly of St. Louis, for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Merritt-Page Beck, and Robert Wright Thomas Jr., Hartford, Conn., which will take place at 4 o'clock Monday, Feb. 16 at the Emmanuel Church of Baltimore. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's mother.

The wedding is of interest in St. Louis, where Mrs. Beck spent her girlhood. She is a sister of Mrs. Ross A. Woolsey, 6350 Waterman avenue, and Miss Elsie Beck, and is a daughter of the late Merritt Beck of St. Louis. Before her marriage she was Miss Page Beck. She was educated at Bishop Robertson Hall, a fashionable girls' school here a few years ago.

Miss Adele Hayes, 4916 McPherson avenue, will spend several weeks of the late winter visiting friends in Washington and New York. She plans to leave St. Louis next month.

Mrs. Charles N. Whitehead of the Park Plaza and Miss Peggy Cahill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Cahill, departed yesterday for California to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Dysart, 13 Kingsbury place, are in New York for a short visit.

Mrs. J. Porter Tirrill of Tirrill Farms, Clayton road, will depart about Feb. 4 to spend the remainder of the winter in Palm Springs and Santa Barbara, Cal.

Her aunt, Miss Linnie Allison, will leave today for New York and accompanied by an Eastern friend will sail for a Mediterranean cruise.

Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun of the Kingsbury apartments returned home Sunday night from New York, where she accompanied Mr. Calhoun's mother, Mrs. Luigi Signorini, who has been visiting here. Mrs. Signorini sailed for her home in Rome.

Invitations have been received for a children's party Saturday afternoon complimenting Betty Benoist, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Benoist, who are making their home temporarily with Mrs. Benoist's mother, Mrs. Allen Baker, 4545 West Pine boulevard, since disposing of their home in Normandy. They have purchased a new home in Westminster place, and will take possession soon. Mr. and Mrs. Benoist are the parents of a second child, a daughter.

Parties are being arranged in honor of Vladimir Golschmann of Paris, guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. On Feb. 5 he will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Mrs. H. Blaksley Collins, 50 Portland place. Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Edward Worcester Jr., 6401 Wydown boulevard, will entertain Mr. Golschmann at dinner, after which there will be a program of music. Bernard Ferguson will present a group of songs, and the Horn Trio of St. Louis, consisting of Edward Murphy and Joseph Saerber, both members of the Symphony, and Mrs. Corinne Frederick, pianist, will play.

U. D. C. HONOR MAID

—Straus Photo.

DAUGHTER of Mrs. Eugenia Ely Werber, 6250 Clemens avenue, who will be a maid of honor at the annual benefit of Margaret A. E. McLure Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, ball, to be given at Hotel Jefferson, Saturday evening, Feb. 7.

Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the Women's Committee of the Symphony will give a tea for Mr. Golschmann at the Coronado Hotel. A talk by the guest of honor will precede the tea.

Invitations have been received from Dr. and Mrs. John Ellis Jennings, 4339 McPherson avenue, for a tea at their home Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Mrs. George N. Seidlitz, 5939 Clemens avenue, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Donald Gillette Allen of Des Moines, Ia., departed a few days ago for Havana, Cuba, where they will spend a month.

Mrs. Roland S. Kieffer, 4738 Westminster place, is convalescing at her home after a recent illness.

Mrs. Richard Belding of the Chester Apartments has as her guest her sister, Mrs. Walter G. Peterson of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who has arrived to spend a week.

"Napoleon at the Chateau Rambouillet" will be the title of the French lecture to be given tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the Junior League clubrooms, 4914 Maryland avenue.

Miss Winifred Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caldwell, 16 Algonquin Lane, Webster Groves, will depart about Feb. 4 for Syracuse, N. Y., to attend the junior prom at Cornell. Her brother is a student at the university there.

BARNETT, PIANIST, TO APPEAR WITH SYMPHONY TOMORROW

Young American to Play Beethoven G Major Concerto, Supplying Own Cadenzas.

David Barnett, young American pianist, who has played with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, and the Paris Symphony Orchestra and in concerts abroad and in the United States, will appear as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at its regular concerts tomorrow afternoon and Saturday evening.

He will play the Beethoven G Major Concerto, for which he has supplied his own cadenzas for the first and third movements, in accord with an old tradition for musicians to supply their own commentary on the spirot of the composer.

The program for the two concerts, to be directed by Vladimir Golschmann, new guest conductor, follows:

Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" .... Mozart
La Procession Nocturne .... Rabaud
Concerto No. 4 in G major for Pianoforte, Op. 58 .... Beethoven
  Allegro moderato
  Andante con moto
  Rondo vivace
    Mr. Barnett
Symphonic Suite "Scheherazade" after the "Thousand Nights and a Night" Op. 35 ..... Rimsky-Korsakoff
  The Sea and Sinbad's Ship
  The Story of the Kalandar Prince
  The Young Prince and the Young Princess

MABEL G. THOMPSON TO WED IN PANAMA

Marriage to Claude K. Wilkinson of New York Is Set for Feb. 12.

MR. and Mrs. Walter Duke Thompson, 5045 Lindell boulevard, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Mable Green Thompson, and Claude K. Wilkinson of New York. The announcement comes from Panama, where the prospective bride, with her mother and sisters, Miss Marian and Miss Betty Thompson, are visiting, following a several weeks' cruise. The wedding will take place there Feb. 12.

Miss Thompson is a graduate of Mary Institute and Miss Moxley's School in Rome, Italy. She was presented to society here several seasons ago and is an active member of the Junior League. With her family she has traveled extensively during the past few years.

Mr. Wilkinson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wilkinson, Fort Sumner, N. M. He is a graduate of the University of New Mexico, and is now in charge of installations being made by the Western Electric Co. in Colombia.

After the wedding Mr. Wilkinson and his bride will live in Bogota, Colombia.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson Sr., departed today for Colon to attend the ceremony.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ENTERTAINMENTS

PRAISES CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Hoover today congratulated Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the International Christian Endeavor Society, on the occasion of that organization's fiftieth anniversary. The President said:

"The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor is indeed an occasion for world-wide gratification to all who have witnessed its steadfast service of the high ideals of life and character. I join its multitudes of friends in best wishes for continued success and growth."

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.

BROADWAY slang of the moment is ancient verbiage to the tent showman as well as many of the underworld and lads who live by their wits. Odd phrases that pop out in musical comedy and swing from lip to lip among wise crackers are often a quarter century old.

Incidentally the term "wise crack" was coined by Chic Sale, the actor. Much modern slang is current, too, in the hobo jungles and among race track touts. It seeps up from the bogs and gradually flowers in the exclusive drawing rooms.

"Main Stem" was heard in tramp camps as early as 1900 and is mentioned in a feature story in the Sunday Herald of the time. Beggars spawn many of the terms in effort to be picturesque. The main stem was, as now, the term for a city's chief thoroughfare.

Mark is a word fattened by the prefix easy. Grifters with circuses would say in asides: "Nix cracking to the mark." They were saying: "Do not talk so the sucker can hear." Carnival showmen later on adopted pig-latin which a few years ago spangled Broadway's patter.

On the carnival lots the meaning would be obscured by making "Nix cracking" to sound "ixnay ackencray" to bewilder the yap or apjay. Old time shell workers are able to transpose obscure slang into pig-latin so adroitly it sounds like heathenish gibberish from the wilds of Borneo.

Broadway about 12 years ago discovered women were "broads." Yet the circus folk called them by that term during the creaking travail of wagon shows. Complimentary tickets were also "broads." Later skulls, signifying dead-heads. Still later "Annie Oakleys" because pierced with bullet-like holes.

Thus urbane Broadway froths with the yokelisms at which it laughs. The Forty-Niners called a suit of clothes "a set of threads" but used in a 1930 revue it convulses sophisticates. Many acts, too, that are wows on the Rialto were outmoded in the tent shows years ago.

THE late Frank Bacon elaborated his sketch, "Lightnin'," with which he knocked about in the kerosene lighted town halls for 20 years, into a play that ran on Broadway three years.

IN the carnival world a fortune teller is a mitt reader. A carnival was called a racket long before there were modern racketeers. A gambling game is gaffed to trim the sucker. Gaff comes from the sharp-pointed fishhook used to secure fish.

DARB, which is slang for something superior, is from the race tracks, an abbreviation of the English pronunciation of Derby. Buck was originally a circus term for a $10 bill but modernized means a single dollar. Century for a hundred and grand for a thousand are outdoor show terms. Acrobats used to be told to "get hot" as tap dancers are encouraged today. Mug and bozo are also out of a dimming decade, lingual caprices of the wagon circus.

DYSPEPTICS will shudder at the gourmandish ork-orks of a current comic called Chez Chase. M. Chase with play feet and baggy pantaloons gallivants around devouring stage flowers, cigar ends and huge boxes of lighted matches for a couple of hours.

YOU-KNOW-THE-TYPE: Sort of fellow people give $2 bills in change.

IN a sudden and futile burst of shopping fever last night I sought a pocket knife. Finally I tried a chain drug store. After repeating my desire to a bored clerk several times he looked up and snapped: "We don't sell them!" I pivoted about slowly but half way through the door stopped. My mouth set in a cold straight line, my eyes became tiny points of steel and I screeched: "Well, you sell everything else, for land's sake!" That's talking back.

RESOLUTION TO CONDEMN BRUNK AND BRITAIN TABLED

Missouri House Rejects Proposed Action Based on Treasurer's Bribery Charge.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—The House of Representatives today refused to enter into a discussion of the merits of charges and counter charges by State Treasurer Larry Brunk and State Representative Edward L. Britain of Greene County, involving bribery charges pending against Britain, by tabling a resolution which would have condemned the conduct of both Brunk and Britain.

The resolution, introduced by Representative Miller of Andrew County, proposed that the House "condemn with all the emphasis they command" the conduct of which Brunk and Britain had accused each other, and deplored "the regrettable incidents which resulted in the accusations and counter accusations."

Blair, Cole County, the Democratic majority floor leader, moved the resolution be tabled, stating he saw no reason for adopting it or debating it. The motion to table it immediately was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Britain was arrested last Monday evening on a charge of accepting $400 bribe from Brunk to use his vote and influence to obtain a report favorable to Brunk by the House committee which is investigating charges against Brunk to determine if the evidence justifies impeachment proceedings.

Brunk made the bribery charges after entrapping Britain at Brunk's office, following a conference in which the money was alleged to have been paid by Brunk to Britain. Britain denies that he solicited or accepted a bribe and asserted he was "framed" by Brunk.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYE HELD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Fred Baumann, a Government employe, is held for questioning today in connection with the unsolved mystery of the death of Beulah Limerick, 17 years old. The girl, formerly an usher in a Washington playhouse, was found dead Dec. 31. Physicians said death was due to natural causes, but an undertaker discovered a bullet wound in her head.

Police said they believed Baumann could give them valuable evidence. He has been friendly with the Limerick family, they said, although he never showed Beulah any marked attention.

No Report on Benham Case.

BELVIDERE, Ill., Jan. 29.—The Boone County grand jury has adjourned until Feb. 9 without reporting on the case of A. W. Benham, whose payments of exceptionally high interest on money intrusted to him for investment precipitated an inquiry. The investigation of his activities will be resumed when the jury meets again.

THINKS MOUND BUILDERS BURIED ONLY BONES OF HONORED DEAD

discovered so far as Dr. Kelly has been able to learn.

Clancy, through the co-operation of Powell Brothers, on whose truck farm the mound stood, troweled out the burial platform by hand. As previously related, he unearthed first a very thin cornhusk mat over a thin layer of bark. Beneath were hundreds of thousands of tiny perforated shells in three layers, of uniform size and in regular rows. Another layer of bark covered the bones, which had been compressed by age and tons of earth into a homogeneous mat, and a third bark layer lay beneath them.

In a part of the platform bare of shells was a necklace of perforated beads ending in an ornamental dipper or spoon. In another part of the mound were two spindles, three to four inches long, pointed at the ends and grooved in the middle. One had a buckskin thong in the groove, and both were sheathed in copper. Dr. Kelly surmises they were used in some prehistoric game. Other explorers have remarked upon the absence of ornamental copper in the great Cahokia mound group, to which the Powell mound belonged.

Beads From Sea Shells.

Dr. Kelly identified the ivory-like material of the beads as the thick inner core of conch shells brought from the Atlantic or Gulf of Mexico. The millions of shells in the blanket that covered the dead were of marine snails from Florida waters.

"That implies trade," said Dr. Kelly, "although it seems difficult to conceive so extensive a trade as it would require to explain the great numbers of these shells. They must have been brought up by the canoe-load."

He pictured a great metropolis of Cahokia mound-builders in the American bottoms opposite St. Louis. The population, he judged, was probably as great as the territory would support, and he said that the fertile Mississippi Valley probably had a place in the economic structure of that departed civilization very similar to its position in modern industrial civilization.

With the expert assistance of the geologist, he established that the burial platform and the 18-foot earthern cap above it were parts of one project executed by one people.

"The work of my distinguished predecessor, Dr. Warren K. Moorehead, in directing the university's archeological research, has already indicated that the Upper Mississippi Valley was a focal center of higher civilization in the mound area," said Dr. Kelly.

A Center of Population.

"The Cahokia mounds are among the largest in the United States, and Monks' Mound is the largest in North America. The Cahokia culture, but partially known and understood as yet, is already recognized as a distinct civilizational development on a par with the famous Hopewell culture in Ohio.

"Dr. Moorehead traced the distribution of a large prehistoric Cahokia village which extended over six miles in one continuous sweep. The construction of such large mounds required vast reservoirs of labor and the strongest of motivations, such as the vanity of a powerful king with many subject peoples, or the driving force of religion. The latter suggestion is the more in keeping with what is known of the culture of the Mound Builders in other parts of the country."

Profound regret at the destruction of the mound was expressed by Dr. Kelly, but, with it, an appreciation of the helpfulness of the Powell brothers, Will and Fred, in allowing the university to study for the record what was left when the work of destruction became publicly known. As previously related, the one and one-half-acre mound was leveled and its earth spread over 15 acres of swamp to reclaim land for the Powell's truck farm.

Dr. Kelly related that the farmers some years ago had offered the site to the university for scientific excavation, provided the dirt was spread over the swamp, but that the expense had been considered unjustified by prospective disclosures. Dr. Moorehead had judged the mound to contain little positive contribution to the still unknown story of Cahokia. The State had made some inquiry toward purchase for preservation, as it has purchased and preserved Monks' Mound, but found land values in the section too high.

Regrets Mound's Destruction.

"Destruction of a mound is an exact parallel to tearing a page from an old and precious manuscript," said Dr. Kelly. "Each mound has its contribution—and each is different—to the story which the Universities of Chicago and Illinois co-operatively are making an intensive effort to decipher, page by page. As the story unfolds it stimulates a growing movement for the purchase of such monuments and their inclusion in State parks. Owners, where land is too valuable for State purchase and preservation, should notify the university before actually destroying them.

"The Powell mound was the most westerly intact mound of the Cahokia group. It was the most perfect in form and symmetry. It has long been regarded by scientists as among those most worthy, after Monks' Mound, of inclusion in a State park. Dr. Moorehead, leader of the fight to preserve Monks' Mound, felt that the Powell mound was unique and of especial importance, and that, as a prehistoric monument, it should be preserved at all costs.

"The loss of this mound was an American tragedy, the full meaning of which will become more apparent as the public conscience and understanding of the true significance and value of such prehistoric monuments becomes clearer, incident to gains in knowledge which may be expected in the near future through the archeological explorations now under way and an increasing respect for the civilization of the Mound Builders."

Hospital physicians asked the Police Department for a volunteer after specimens submitted by friends did not correspond to the requisite classification. Trelford was the first to volunteer.

ARREST OF WRITER ORDERED

H. H. Van Loan Accused of Failure to Support Daughter.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—The arrest of H. H. Van Loan, short story and scenario writer, was ordered yesterday on a charge of failing to provide for his 13-year-old daughter.

The warrant was issued at the request of Van Loan's wife, Mrs. Gertrude Van Loan, who said he had contributed but $25 toward the girl's support since 1929. Van Loan recently was ordered by Superior Court to pay $50 a month for the child's support.

SWEETEN BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Try This Tonight

What do you do when a sluggish system shows the bowels need help? The best thing yet discovered for this is still a little candy Cascaret. Take one tonight if liver and bowels aren't functioning as they ought. See how quickly unpleasant breath, coated tongue or a bilious, headachy condition is cleared up. No griping or discomfort from Cascarets. The quick, pleasant relief they always bring constipation sufferers is lasting. For Cascarets are made from cascara which doctors say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So you can take Cascarets as often as needed. 20 million boxes used yearly proves their merit.

FORMER SALOON KEEPER SHOT BY UNIDENTIFIED ASSAILANT

Says Man He Heard Running Behinm Him Fired Once; No Explanation for Attack.

Charles Gozia, former Granite City saloon keeper, was shot in the leg and slightly wounded last night by an unidentified assailant, he told attaches of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, where he is being treated for the wound.

Gozia said he was walking at Tenth and Reynolds streets, Madison, about 7:30 o'clock when he heard someone behind running toward him. He turned, and as he did so, the man fired a single shot, swung about and fled, Gozia said. Gozia, now employed as a steel worker, closed his saloon some time ago. He could give no reason for the attack.

HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Former Columbia Transfer Worker Returned From Cleveland.

Philip Hummell, 29 years old, a former supervisor for the Columbia Terminals Co., was returned to St. Louis last night from Cleveland for prosecution under a warrant which charged embezzlement of $358.

According to police, Hummell said he decided to move to Cleveland while intoxicated and did not realize he had company money in his pockets until he arrived at his destination. Information as to his whereabouts was obtained from letters he mailed to St. Louis acquaintances.

Mme. Jenny has the rare distinction of having been awarded the ribbon of the Legion d'Honneur, in recognition of her "eminent services" in the creation and inspiration of a French art.

Her name ranks among the real leaders of the great French dressmaking houses. In her workrooms are silks and chiffons worth thousands of dollars. Lingerie—fine as sheer veiling! Laces of incomparable beauty.

You may be sure Jenny has given the most serious attention to the care of these exquisite garments ... and especially to their proper cleansing. She says:

"Lingerie safe if washed with Palmolive Beads"

"Coarse, harsh soaps—scalding hot water—bits of soap left after washing—all these are fatal risks for delicate fabrics.

"But the sheerest lingerie is safe if laundered with Palmolive Beads. They dissolve completely in lukewarm or cool water, and leave no soap to dry in the fabric and rot or break the threads.

"I recommend Palmolive Beads for washing even the daintiest lingerie and sheerest fabrics."

So different from other soaps

Many women are unable to believe a soap can be radically different from all others. Madam—we ask you to try just one box of Palmolive Beads, if that is your view!

Palmolive Beads are really beads of soap ... hollow ... tissue thin. They dissolved at 80 to 83 degrees, the safe temperature for washing fine silks ... and full 20 degrees lower than most soaps require.

Palmolive Beads are made of olive and palm oils. For more than 40 years silk makers have trusted their precious skeins to no other type of soap. It is the finest you could use. And never before available for everyone. Try Palmolive Beads today. Begin now to give your delicate garments the care they should have. Your dealer has Palmolive Beads.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29.—Sweden's 72-year-old monarch will take active part in the tennis tournaments on the French Riviera next month. King Gustave, who probably will leave Stockholm on Feb. 4, has entered his name as a contestant in the Beaulieux tennis matches on Feb. 18.

It will not be under his royal name that the King will compete but under the title of "Mr. G." In suite of his age he plays a fast game and asks for no handicaps, although his opponents often are only half his age.

Aside from playing tennis, the King delights in hunting and each year brings down a number of moose, deer and hare. He is also an ardent fisherman.

STUFFED BEASTS AND BIRDS SELL FOR $816

It was a bear market yesterday for bull moose heads and stuffed birds and beasts in the collection of the late Harry von Stein Grover, former president of the bankrupt St. Louis County Automobile Co. and sportsman. The collection, which had been appraised at $2600 and, according to Henry Kirchner, trustee, "should be worth at least $5000 with the expenditure of a little money," was sold by auction in individual lots for a total of $816. Office and garage equipment of the bankrupt company brought $2781 in gross for creditors.

The bidding, which had been fairly spirited for office desks, automobile jacks and old tires, lagged noticeably after Auctioneer Ben Selkirk mounted a chair in the company's show room at 7915 Forsythe boulevard, Clayton, and invited several hundred "good people" to compete for possession of "rare specimens in one of the world's finest collection of whiffenpoofs and wampuses."

"The big bull moose with the twisted horns" brought $41 after a few flips of the auctioneer's wrist. A monkey mounted on an electric lamp ("who'd want to read Darwin by that lamp-light") brought $16.

Lump Offer of $525.

The $525 offer for the collection in bulk was quickly surpased in the individual offerings under the stampeding staccato bark of the auctioneer. The sale is subject to approval of Referee-in-Bankruptcy Coles.

The "other bull moose, slightly moth-eaten and scarred from battle with the first bull moose," sold for $9. A buffalo head brought $44 and four cases of birds, "drake mallards and pheasants, maybe," brought the highest price, $108.

"Lot No. 153," droned the cajoling Selkirk, "a very fine, very fine-uh-animal. It's the mountain goat. Only $2 for a mountain goat? He looks like he's mad. Two dollars, make it a-three. Sold for $2.50. And the name, sir?"

"A pussy skin, I can't think of the name, call it a wampus, and a paper-mache shield. Don't bid and walk away. What's that? Sold for $1.50."

"Leopard Skin for a Cave-Man."

A "leopard skin for a cave-man" sold for a pittance, as did six prairie dogs playing poker around a chip and bottle laden table. An eagle, a loving cup, a duck and an ostrich egg went in one lot for $5. "An armadillo, a skunk and some other kind of animal" went to one bidder. "A pearl-handled pistol with a notch in it" brought $16 and a "whole arsenal of other deadly weapons" sold for $22.50. Bids were slow for "a flock of pelicans."

A full-sized reindeer, that would fill any ordinary parlor, was sold for $23. Then the crowd, composed mostly of men, yawned and started to the branch at 23 South Meramec street, where secondhand autos were to be sold.

Grover shot and killed himself last July when his obligations became pressing. He had borrowed more than $100,000 on collateral, much of which was forged. Later, bankruptcy schedules of the automobile company listed assets of $217,000 and liabilities of $123,000. Still later, the assets were appraised at a net value of $89,236.

FUR MARKET ENDS SEASON WITH INCREASE IN PRICES

Macon (Mo.) Dealer Reports Mink, Which Started at $3, Brought $5 at Close.

MACON, Mo., Jan. 29.—Hhe fur market closed this season with a decided advance and those dealers who bought early in the season and held their stocks made money, according to Clyde Butler of the Macon Hide & Fur Co.

"Mink started at $3 and $3.25 and were bringing $5 at the close of the market," Butler said. "All other fur also advanced.

"The market started out so low in November that many of our best customers took up their traps. The inactivity of the trappers this season will greatly increase the game for next year, and if prices are restored there will be heavy offerings.

"The scarcity of offerings during the season had something to do with the sudden advance at the close. The big scale buyers began to fear they wouldn't be able to get enough for their markets, and shot the price up without warning. Had prices at the start been anything like they were at the close, we probably would have been swamped with fur."

ADVOCATES ALL-YEAR BUILDING

St. Louisan Elected President of U. S. General Contractors.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—A. P. Greensfelder, St. Louis, president-elect of the Association General Contractors of America, recommended all-year building in a speech prepared for delivery before the organization here today.

Seasonal building, he said, is the result of habit, not climate. The practice, he said, ties up costly equipment and throws skilled men into idleness during many months when they could be employed. "During the last 10 years," Greensfelder said, "the building industry has succeeded in reducing the difference between the peak and low building seasons by 20 per cent. The difference has been calculated to be between 45 and 65 per cent."

WOMAN, TRYING TO DROWN SELF, SAVED FROM RIVER

Mrs. Marie Woolford, 21, Rescued by Unidentified Man; Taken to Hospital.

Mrs. Marie Woolford, 21 years old, 1911 Arsenal street, was rescued from the Mississippi River yesterday by an unidentified man when she walked into the water near Baden.

Taken to city hospital, where she was treated for exposure, Mrs. Woolford explained her action resulted from a sudden impulse to drown herself. She had removed her hat and coat and was struggling in the water when her rescuer swam out and dragged her to shore. She was taken to a boathouse and fishermen notified police. Her husband, Leroy, said he could not account for her action.

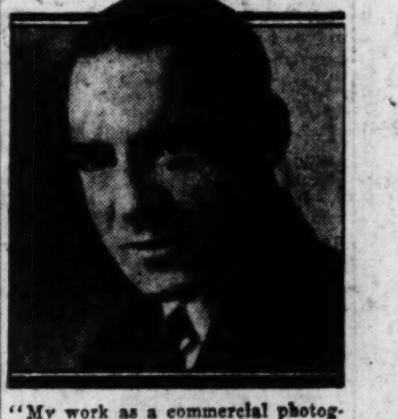
WELL-KNOWN MAN PRAISES DIAPEPSIN FOR ACID STOMACH



"My work as a commercial photographer keeps me on a strain," says J. Walter Ingraham, 1004 21st St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"So my digestion suffered. I got so I would have severe headaches and a heavy feeling in my stomach after meals. I had gas, a sour, hot taste in my mouth and felt stuffy. Few things agreed with me.

"A friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had immediate relief from the first few tablets, so I kept on with it. Now I feel fine; eat anything I want without bad after-effects. I intend to keep on with Pape's Diapepsin until I am sure my trouble won't come back. The tablets are pleasant to chew and sure get results quickly."

Pape's Diapepsin is one of the best things yet prepared to relieve digestive worries, give tone to a disordered stomach, increase appetite, make digestion vigorous and complete. Its success in so many cases where many other things have failed, proves that.

All drug stores sell these harmless, pleasant tablets. If you prefer to try them before buying, a letter to Pape's Diapepsin, Wheeling, W. Va., will bring a sample box, FREE.

SAY L. E. ANDERSON CO. WILL PAY ALL DEBTS

Receivers Tell Court They Expect Reorganization to Be Completed by Feb. 26.

Reorganization, meaning the the sale, of the brokerage business of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., will make possible the payment of customers and creditors in full, the receivers of the company stated today in their report to Circuit Judge Hartmann. The receivers were appointed one week ago, after four stock exchanges had suspended the firm for insolvency.

The Court continued the appointment of the receivers, Charles D. P. Hamilton and Rodowe H. Abeken, until Feb. 26, and granted an injunction to prevent the filing of suits against the firm in the meantime.

Edward W. Foristel, of counsel for the receivers, said it was the expectation that the plan for sale would be completed before Feb. 26, and that the report made to the court then would be the final one.

Foristel said the reorganization plan would mean not only the full payment of creditors and customers, but would protect the partners, so far as possible, against loss. He would not say that the partners would escape loss entirely.

As has been told, the expected form of the reorganization is a sale of the business to the New York firm of E. A. Pierce & Co., in which the name of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co. probably would disappear. No one named Anderson is now in the partnership.

The report, filed in court by Attorney Thomas W. White, says that the receivers are making a full audit of all accounts, with a check of customers to verify the showing of the books. This check, still in progress, will take another week or more.

Unless prevented by obstructing suits, the receivers stated, they hoped to present a satisfactory plan of reorganization. Numerous demands, with threat of suit, have been made, the report said, and for this reason the temporary injunction against such suits was asked for and granted. The injunction would not operate to prevent suits in the Federal bankruptcy court.

The company's 75 employes have been discharged, the report states, and a sufficient number re-employed to form a skeleton force for the audit and for operating under the receivers. The receivers have canceled all cancellable contracts for services no longer needed, such as telephone and telegraph, light, power and heat, and has made such new arrangements as are necessary for operating the building at 711-13 St. Charles street.

Max Sigoloff appeared as counsel for the partners, Arthur C. Hilmer, William C. Fordyce, Ralph B. Fairchild, Andrew H. Kauffman, Edwin H. Hilmer and G. K. Battle. He offered no objection to the proposals of the report or to the court's action.

FARMERS IN COUNTY ARE SOWING OATS

Spring Plowing Reported in State as Mild Weather and Drouth Continue.

Some St. Louis County farmers were sowing oats today with heat and drouth continuing to make the twelve-month beginning last February the driest ever recorded in St. Louis.

Fair-weather golfers and open automobiles have come out in the unusually fair, warm days following the light snow of Jan. 20. A "first robin" was reported yesterday on Washington University campus. Saturday's high temperature here was 70 degrees, three above the record for that day of the month, although four below the record for any January day. Seattle reported 65 degrees yesterday for the warmest January day recorded there, and St. Paul reported 46, the warmest recorded on any Jan. 28.

Farm agents said January oat-sowing was decidedly premature, and would lead to disaster if the grain started to grow in the warm weather and encountered the usual February cold waves. Many farmers throughout Missouri and Illinois sections adjacent to St. Louis were plowing for the first time the agents remember spring plowing in January.

Many Farmers Hauling Water.

Dozens of farmers in St. Louis and St. Charles County, and adjacent counties in Illinois are hauling water as far as three miles. Rainfall less than half normal for the last 12 months has caused drying up of cisterns, ponds and creeks, and parching of the soil to extreme depth.

Grave diggers in St. Louis County cemeteries find the clay, usually wet and soft under a frozen surface at this season, dry and rock-like. They are using picks to break it out in chunks scarcely three inches thick.

Farm agents in this section reported no apparent damage to winter wheat, although near Kansas City it was reported suffering from lack of the usual moist snow-blanket. They expected the thorough drying to have some beneficial effect in "granulating" the soil, but heavier than average spring rainfall would be required to produce average growing moisture.

Burning Out of Weeds Urged.

Dry soil and lack of a snow covering, agents said, would make wheat and even fruit trees more susceptible to damage in cold weather. They foresaw unusually heavy summer damage by insects, multiplying unchecked by normal winter conditions, and advised burning out of weeds in lots and along fence rows and creek banks.

Only one considerable snowfall had been recorded here this winter. That was 1.2 inches on Jan. 13 and 14. Total precipitation for the month, reduced to terms of rainfall, is .4 inch to date, 1.35 inches below normal, with no prospect of any more in the remaining two days of January.

In the extraordinary drouth which affected St. Louis more greatly than Missouri as a whole, rainfall since Feb. 1, 1930, amounts to 17.93 inches, as compared to a normal for that period of 36.85 inches. Last January's precipitation was 5.7 inchesa.

A "stagnant" high pressure area anchored over Utah and Idaho has served as a buffer to the moving pressure areas which bring weather changes to the interior, either across the Rockies' southern passes or to the north, across the Dakotas. The buffer has hovered over the two Western states, giving them normal cool weather, for 32 out of 42 days, against a normal of 10 out of 42.

Storms this winter have shown a tendency to travel the southern route, sweeping through Texas and up across the plains and to the east.

Markets Gone, Storage Tanks Full; They Resort to This Method to Avoid Shutdown.

CHANUTE, Kan., Jan. 29.—Dense clouds of smoke hovered over parts of the Chanute oil field yesterday as producers resorted to fire as a means of disposing of crude oil for which they have no market.

Storage tanks in this vicinity are filled to capacity, and some of the producers are burning their oil in order that pumps may be kept going to prevent further encroachment of salt water in the wells. The product is being burned because it would damage the soil if allowed to flow on the land. Carl Weiner and the Puritan Oil Co. are two of the extensive "stripper" oil wells operators who are burning the surplus oil. Weiner, who is a member of Kansas distress oil relief committee, said the producers were keeping their pumps operating, because they still hoped some adjustment would be reached.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Jan. 29.—The Government yesterday forbade liquor sales throughout Colombia from tomorrow until Tuesday as a precaution against disorder during the congressional elections Sunday. Michael Pazgay, a grocer, 2601 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, was robbed of $15 and $5 worth of cigarettes by three Negroes, when he opened his store at 6 a. m. today.

ACQUITTED OF ARSON ATTEMPT

PANA, Ill., Jan. 28.—After two days' trial, the first criminal case ever tried in the Christian County Court, on which women were jurors, Mrs. Pearl Schultz, wife of Samuel Schultz, a shoe merchant, was acquitted last night of an attempt to burn the Schultz store the night of Feb. 16, last. Schultz is also under indictment for conspiracy to burn his store.

Patrolman McAdam testified he found the Schultz store front door unlocked midnight of Feb. 16 and in the rear room a lighted candle, boxes soaked with inflammable liquid and gunpowder near the candle. He arrested Mrs. Schultz as she entered the store at dawn.

For Coughs Too Trying To Risk A Lesser Help

Creomulsion was made to deal with coughs from colds that worry you. A three-day cough is a danger signal. There the utmost should be done.

But a trifling cough may develop into something deep and difficult. Don't you think it wise to use the utmost help, even if a lesser help might do?

Creomulsion combines seven major helps in one. The seven best helps known to medical science. One is best for one type of cough, one for others. Nobody can tell in advance. So the best way seems to be to combine all in one prescription.

Creosote stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and tasty. For soothing membranes and combating cold germs, the world knows nothing better.

But some coughs best yield to white pine tar, some to wild cherry bark, some to menthol, some to ipecac, etc. So we combine all these factors at their best in a single formula.

For some coughs Creomulsion is better than you need. One of its factors might do. But don't you feel safer when a minor cough is treated in the utmost way?

If so, get Creomulsion. It costs a little more than lesser helps—$1.25. But your druggist guarantees it. He returns your money if you are disappointed. You will feel safer in any cough if this master help combats it. Use it promptly.

WALL STREET

STOCKS SHOW STRONG TONE LATE IN DAY; TRADE DULL

Market Turns Quietly Upward After Drooping During the Earlier Hours — Shorts Are Pinched in Two Shares.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The latest selling wave in the stock market spent itself without having attained more than ripple-size today, and share values recovered abruptly as shorts covered in the last hour.

The small volume of stock for sale on the decline cheered the bullish element. Forecasts of earnings reported by Bethlehem Steel after the close were rather pessimistic, but Wall street veered to the opinion that it represented a record of a stage of depression now past.

Although the market drooped during the major portion of the day, short found themselves pinched in several specialties in the late trading, and the list closed with a strong tone. Trading was light until the last hour, and transfers aggregated only 1,600,000 shares.

Auburn and Ward Baking "A" shot up 7 points, and Worthington 5, the mail order shares were strong, Sears and Montgomery Ward gaining about 2. Farm implements also turned strong. Caterpillar rose about 3 points, and Case almost as much.

Telephone Is Higher.

American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Loews and Atchison closed up 2, and shares up a point or so included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Radio, International Telephone and Anaconda. Wabash A lost 4½ on a dividend defermen.

Foreign exchanges generally eased. Sterling cables slipped back ⅛ to $4.85 9-16, indicating that recent support to alleviate gold shipments to New York had been withdrawn, perhaps on the theory it was no longer necessary.

The mail-order stocks were helped by the earnings statement of Montgomery Ward, showing that fourth-quarter earnings wiped out the deficit of the first nine months and left a small balance.

The slim volume of stock appearing on the decline was commented upon. It was pointed out that bank loans on securities, as reported for weekly reporting member banks, declined about $400,000,000 in the first three weeks of the month, and the weekly reporting banks account for only abuot 40 per cent of the nation's banking facilities.

Acceptance Rate Higher.

The reduction in the price of Government securities caused some banks to sell their noldings of acceptances to take advantage of these prices, which resulted in a ⅛ of 1 per cent gain in acceptance rates. Other credit rates were stationary. The estimate of an increase of $1,000,000,000 in savings deposits in 1930 provided striking evidence of the change in investment habits, and a clue as to the demand for high-grade bonds during the more stable periods of the past year, for almost all of savings bank deposits go into bonds and mortgages.

S. S. Kresge Co. Report.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—S. S. Kresge reported for the year ended Dec. 31, net income of $10,621,151, equal to $1.90 a share on the common stock, against $14,952,211, or $2.68 a share, in 1929.

C. B. Van Dusen, president, said the company looks forward to 1931 with a great deal of confidence, "encouraged by reason of a definite improvement in business as evidenced by increases in sales each week so far this year, by the fact that our stock of merchandise is lower per store than ever before in our history, and because it is reasonable to believe that the recession in commodity prices is about over."

Stock Exchange Seat $236,000.

ROBBERS BIND 3 BOYS, LOOT KIRKWOOD HOME

Parents Intimidated When They Return—$4500 in Clothing, Jewelry Taken.

Clothing and jewelry valued at $4500 were taken from a home in the Osage Hills district of Kirkwood, last Saturday night, by two armed men who bound and gagged three boys and intimidated two adults who arrived home later, it was learned today.

The robbery was said to be the second of its kind in Osage Hills in the last month. Kirkwood police have made no report of either case.

The Saturday night robbery was at the home of Paul Groeninger, on Pontiac Trail. Groeninger is a member of the firm of Isler, Tompsett Lithographing Co., 2940 Benton street. The robbers entered the house, it is thought, about 8 o'clock in the absence of the family.

A son, William, 14 years old, was the first to arrive at home, Mrs. Groeninger told reporters today. When he came in with a young friend who was to spend the night with him, an armed man met the boys at the entrance to the basement garage and took them upstairs, where he and another man bound them with neckties and put them in a closet.

David, 16 years old, another son, arrived at 11:40 o'clock and also was tied and placed in the closet. Five minutes later, when his parents stopped at the garage door, the two men pointed pistols at them. One man took Mrs. Groeninger upstairs while the other held Groeninger in the car. Mrs. Groeninger was told, she said, that she would not be harmed if she kept still.

"But I couldn't," she said. "I knew the boys were upstairs and I thought they'd been murdered. I screamed at the top of my voice. The robbers had loaded all of our things into the Ford sedan that William came home in, and when I screamed they left as quickly as they could. They took all our table service, practically every stitch of clothing I had, including underwear and stockings, a fur coat valued at $600, a watch valued at $500 and a lot of jewelry that had a greater sentimental than intrinsic value.

"And it isn't the first time that's happened out here. Within the last month robbers took virtually everything out of another house in Osage Hills, while the family looked on, helpless."

Deputy Constables Netzger and Cassella, informed of the robbery, saw the Groeninger Ford with two men in it late Saturday night and gave chase. The occupants drove to Valley Park where they eluded their pursuers long enough to abandon the car and escape. The deputies found the car empty.

ATLANTA, GA., POLICE SCANDAL

Four Men Fired, Two Suspended; Drunkenness Alleged.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 29.—The discharge of four police officers and the suspension of two others was ordered today by the City Police Committee after a six-hour meeting during which Chief James L. Beavers said there was more drunkenness in the department now than ever before.

Raymond Paul, inspector of weights and measures, was removed on the ground that on the night of Jan. 11 he was a visitor in a downtown hotel room in which robbers were reported to have held up a dice game for $3000. Paul said he went to the room to find a relative and there was no testimony before the committee that he was in the room while the game was in progress.

The committee said in the future that conviction of drunkenness would result automatically in the dismissal of police officers.

GOV. MURRAY'S DRY STAND

"If U. S. Can't Enforce Law, What Can State Do?"

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Jan. 29.—A statement before Congress that Oklahoma is lax in co-operation with Federal authorities in enforcing prohibition, brought the response from Gov. Murray yesterday that "if the Federal Government can't do it, what could the State do?"

Murray said that while the State had no special enforcement department it has had a dry law since statehood in 1907, and that the best solution was a local tightening up of prosecuting methods. "The trouble with local enforcement is that the cost is too great for the benefits derived," he said. Representative Celler (Dem.), New York, made the charge Monday.

Benedict Crowell for Al Smith.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Brigadier-General Benedict Crowell, Assistant Secretary of War in the Wilson Cabinet, believes Alfred E. Smith of New York is the logical Democratic presidential candidate in 1932. Crowell came to Ottawa today to visit Col. Hanford MacNider, United States Minister.

How to Deal with Soft, Spongy Gums

Combat Two Things—Tartar and Germs—to Prevent Serious Trouble

Tartar forming on the teeth keeps growing and growing down into the gums until it literally separates the gums from the teeth. Inflammation is set up in the gums which is further aggravated by the collection of germs in the sore tissue. Then you have a dangerous condition which may cause loss of teeth and, through poisons formed, ruin your whole health. Be wary of any unfavorable gum condition. See your dentist regularly. In the meantime, follow this simple regime. Brush your teeth faithfully every day and in the right way. Brush the upper teeth downward and the lower upward. Rinse your mouth thoroughly morning and evening with a solution of one part Extol and three parts water. Following this, massage gums gently with your finger. Be sure you use the Extol as it is absolutely necessary to kill the germs.

Reach the Hidden Germs!

Extol is the amazing new antiseptic mouth wash and throat gargle you hear discussed everywhere today. It is of revolutionary germicidal and penetrative powers. It kills germs faster than any mouth wash heretofore known—so fast it called the "10-second germicide." It is so highly germicidal that diluted even 1 to 3 it is far more effective than any ordinary mouth wash used straight. Also, and equally important, it is extremely penetrating! An antiseptic to be effective, must be able to penetrate the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat; also the mucous membrane so it can reach germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of the mucosa. That is what Extol does—it penetrates through to these hidden germs that ordinary mouth washes miss.

Harmless to Tissue Delightful to Taste

Efficient as it is, Extol is absolutely harmless to tissue and most delightful in taste and sensation. And it not only costs less than most mouth washes, but is more economical to use, because you have to use so little at a time. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores carry Extol. Get a bottle today and keep your mouth, throat and gums in the clean wholesome condition that health of mouth and body demands. Note the name, EXTOL — a McKesson & Robbins product.

What Is Gum-Dipping?

Gum-Dipping is the Firestone trade name for that patented, basic process which makes Firestone Tires fundamentally different from all other tires. It is one of the reasons why Firestone, through many years, has easily been able to make good the statement: "Most miles per dollar." It is not something done to a tire after it is made. It is something very vital done before the tire is made.

To grasp the full significance of Gum-Dipping, it is necessary to know something about how a tire is made and what goes on within a tire on the road. The body of the tire bears the principal strains in service. To it is attached the tread which provides traction and takes the wear of the road.

The usual tire body is built up of layers or plies of cotton cords between which rubber has been forced. Rubber is incompressible. Hence the tire body practically does not expand or contract to meet road shocks. It flexes—that is, it changes form.

The strain of the flexing tends to pull the plies apart and also to pull the cords themselves apart. A tire flexes about seven hundred times in a mile—which gives some idea of the strains and the friction which a tire must endure.

The great enemy to tire life is internal friction. Years ago the fabric was square-woven—and the cotton cords sawed, one across another.

If cotton rubs against cotton, the tire soon heats up and collapses. That is why the square-woven fabric tires were so short-lived. Then came the tires with parallel cords that could not saw each other. The best square-woven fabric tire would go scarcely four thousand miles. A poor cord tire will give at least twice that mileage. Making the cords parallel was a great advance—but it was only part of the battle against internal friction.

The Mark of Quality

It was realized that if the fibers of cotton in a cord could be insulated one from another, then a step-up in tire life could be had comparable to that made by shifting from square-woven fabric to parallel cords. That is what all tire makers have been striving for. That is what Firestone has achieved.

Every cord used in Firestone Tires has been treated with a rubber solution which penetrates every cord and coats every fiber; and thus not only the cords, but also the very fibers within them are insulated.

Eight pounds of fine, pure rubber are, by the patented Gum-Dipping process, integrated into every one hundred pounds of cotton cords. This means three extra pounds of pure rubber added to an average set of tires—and added where it means most to the strength and the life of the tire. This extra rubber all goes into the cords of the tire—where you never see it.

Why does Firestone put in this extra value? And what does it mean to you? It means just this. The performance—the extra value—has been shown for years on the road and in the laboratory. It has been proved that Gum-Dipping:

—increases tire life by from 25% to over 40%, according to the severity of the service—the more severe the service, the higher the percentage.

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are not just tires. They are thirty years of organized experience. They are sold only through Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores and only as Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—bearing the Firestone name and bearing the Firestone emblem that appears on this page.

Wherever you live—city or country—a fresh and complete stock of Firestone products is near-by.

Dread Nights of Sle

When every night is a sleepless night for you—when counting sheep is as futile as taking long walks before retiring—when morning after morning finds you looking as if you spent the night in dissipation instead of in your bed, it's time to do something! The chances are acidity has laid hold of you!

When, as a result of our unnatural living habits, the stomach secretes too much acid, it does many things to us. It causes acid-indigestion, with fullness, discomfort, heartburn and nausea—a condition which in time may result in frequent attacks of indigestion. The acid also sets up fermentation in the intestines. In this toxins breed which permeate the whole system. This condition saps strength and vitality, makes us feel tired all the time, and irritable and it rags our nerves to the point where we can't sleep at night, exhausted as we may be. The modern and true way to help correct acidity is by the release of active oxygen within the intestinal tract. This is now accomplished by an amazing and harmless white tablet developed in

Acidity

Gives You Those Dread Nights of Sleeplessness!

When every night is a sleepless night for you—when counting sheep is as futile as taking long walks before retiring—when morning after morning finds you looking as if you spent the night in dissipation instead of in your bed, it's time to do something! The chances are acidity has laid hold of you!

When, as a result of our unnatural living habits, the stomach secretes too much acid, it does many things to us. It causes acid-indigestion, with fullness, discomfort, heartburn and nausea—a condition which in time may result in frequent attacks of indigestion. The acid also sets up fermentation in the intestines. In this toxins breed which permeate the whole system. This condition saps strength and vitality, makes us feel tired all the time, and irritable and it rags our nerves to the point where we can't sleep at night, exhausted as we may be. The modern and true way to help correct acidity is by the release of active oxygen within the intestinal tract. This is now accomplished by an amazing and harmless white tablet developed in Germany by the world's foremost pharmaceutical house. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the gastric juices, generate nascent or active oxygen. The live oxygen does the three things necessary to correct acidity in the right way. It stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, which keeps the acid in check. It helps correct fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It stimulates peristalsis or the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity and only Magnesia Oxoids supply them, because it is the only Magnesia product known to science that, when taken internally, releases oxygen to the system.

Make This Acidity Test!

To see just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen Drug Stores, or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal and see how much better you fel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If, after taking the contents of one bottle the results don't more than amaze you, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money promptly and in full.

SUIT FILED TO TEST GRAVOIS BENEFIT TAX

Circuit Court Asked to Declare Street Widening Assessments Void.

A test suit involving validity of the special benefit tax for the Gravois avenue widening was filed in Circuit Court today by Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Kausler, whose realty on Allen avenue was assessed $420.

The petition is signed by August Walz and A. H. Good, attorneys for the Gravois District Protective Association, of which the Kauslers are members. It is set forth that the suit is filed in behalf of all persons whose rights are similarly affected and who desire to join in the action.

The court is asked to enjoin the city from enforcing collection of the tax judgment against the plaintiffs' property, to declare the judgment and assessment of purported benefit void; and to cancel the lien on plantiffs' property, based on the benefit tax. This is asked on the theory the ordinance creating the widening project is invalid and that the benefit district was improperly established. The ordinance provides for the widening of Gravois from Eighteenth and Hickory streets to Grand boulevard.

In the benefit district about 21,000 property owners were assessed on an average basis of 75 cents a front foot.

Assessment on Property Owners.

The condemnation commission allowed 272 defendants whose property will be taken a total of $1,984,722 damages. To pay this the city was assessed $103,908 to come from bond issue funds and the remainder is to be borne by property owners in the benefit district.

Petitioners contend the improvement should be paid for out of $8,650,000 condemnation bonds which were set aside in the $87,372,500 bond issue voted in 1923. It is charged representations were made by the city that the bonds would take care of such expenses; consequently plaintiffs and other qualified voters "did by their ballots authorize the issuance of the bonds."

However, when the condemnation commissioners assessed the property damages in the Gravois case they also laid out a special benefit district, assessing the principal cost of the improvement against the property in the district.

Validity of Ordinance Questioned.

In regard to the ordinance the suit alleges it contains more than one subject not germane to the project, in that it provides for the condemnation of property for the widening of the street and the granting of limited easement rights to certain property owners. This, it is continued, is in violation of the city charter which provides for a clear expression of all subjects in the title. There is nothing in the title in regard to easements, the petition says.

Another point of objection relates to the qualification of two of the commissioners, Otto Dietz and George W. Johnson. It is alleged they were not freeholders within the meaning of the law, "in that they acquired only a small parcel of land in a city block known as 'politicians' block' for the purpose of qualifying as such freeholders." Objection is also raised to the remaining commissioner, George T. Kollas, because he owned realty in the district.

Fiscal Plan Attacked.

The arrangement made by the city with the investment firm of Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. to finance the improvement also is attacked. The special tax judgments were sold to the firm at a 5 per cent discount in the Gravois and other civic improvement projects, title being taken in the name of the Greater St. Louis Corporation. The sale of judgments was carried out at the expense of property owners, which amounts to depriving them of their property without due process of law, it is alleged.

The firm financed the Gravois improvement to the extent of $1,767,827 required to be paid into courts meet damage judgments. Many property owners in the benefit district have paid the assessment.

TALK ON SMOKE ABATEMENT

Radio Speaker Says Campaign Is Profitable Enterprise.

Smoke abatement is one of the most profitable enterprises in which a city can engage, Erle Ormsby, board member and former president of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League, said in a radio address last night.

In St. Louis and other cities having smoke problems, he pointed out, damage directly traceable to smoke ranges from $15 to $20 per capita annually. The waste of fuel in the United States, due to imperfect combustion, has been estimated at 60,000,000 tons a year, he said. He repeated that the remedy lay largely in the co-operation of householders in firing their heating plants correctly.

ROBBER DROPS LOOT, KILLS HIMSELF, TWO AIDS CAUGHT

By the Associated Press.

LAUREL, Md., Jan. 29.—Covered by a posse a few minutes after he and two other men had robbed a store here of jewelry valued at $1000, a robber dropped the loot and shot himself fatally.

An hour later a second man was captured and identified as one of the robbers, and the last member of the trio was arrested later in the night in a Baltimore residence. He said he was Paul M. Taylor.

Three men entered the store of Sol Lazerovitz, one of them with a small satchel, and asked to see a watch. Then two of the trio seized him while the third dumped jewelry into the bag. Soon after they ran out officers and residents started in pursuit.

Two of the men ran toward the frozen Patuxent River, a small stream at the edge of town, while a third fled in a light motor truck. The man who killed himself fired twice without warning as he was overtaken on the river bank. He was trying to hide the satchel under the ice.

Thomas A. Phillips, 30 years old, of Indianapolis, arrested soon after the robbery, said his dead companion was L. C. Taylor of Topeka, Kan. Officers found him in company with two women, one of whom said she was Taylor's wife. The other said her name was Olsen.

Phillips told police he was a member of the Whittemore gang, led by Reese Whittemore, who was hanged in the Maryland penitentiary.

HALL FAVORED TO DEFEAT THURNBLAD IN 3-CUSHION TITLE FINAL

LAYTON, FORMER CROWN HOLDER, BEATS REISELT IN 32 INNINGS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Allen Hall of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, and Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, mere youngsters as masters come in the most intricate field of billiards, meet tonight for the three-cushion championship of the world and the pot of gold that goes with the crown.

The two 30-year olds, who brushed aside the defending champion and two former titleholders in their sweep to the final of the 1931 tournament, will match artistry and nerves over a 50-point route. A salary of $6000 a year, $1200 in cash, a percentage of the gate receipts and the tidy sum available to a champion for exhibitions will go to the winner.

Hall, conqueror of the three-time champion and his former teacher, Johnny Layton of St. Louis, was a big favorite to win in the deciding match but a hard, nerve wracking duel was certain. Both play a great defensive game and both have that extra ounce of nerve that makes champions. Both have won five and lost one during the 10-day tournament.

Layton Defeats Reiselt.

The loser of the champion match will meet Layton in a play-off for second place tomorrow night. Layton, who finished his regulation tournament play last night by crushing Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, 50 to 32, in 32 innings, won five games and lost two. Runner-up position is worth an annual salary of $3000 and part of the gate receipts.

Although Layton failed to retain the title he has held without interruption since 1928, he played the best billiards in the eight-player field. He had the three best games, running out once in 31 innings, once in 32 an dagain in 36.

Reiselt was fourth in the final standings with four victories and three losses. Tiff Denton, the Kansas City veteran, and Frank Scoville of Buffalo tied for fifth. Denton turned in a high run of 11, worth a cash prize of $100 unless Hall or Thurnblad excels it tonight. Charles Jordan of Los Angeles, Western champion, and David Jacobs of St. Louis, Southern titleholder, shared the cellar.

The standings:

Player.	W.	L.	High. Run.	Best Game.	Total Pts.
Thurnblad	5	1	7	44	299
Hall	5	1	8	38	297
Layton	5	2	8	31	328
Reiselt	4	3	8	42	306
Denton	3	4	11	49	311
Scoville	3	4	6	50	277
Jordan	1	6	7	55	279

Bly-Moss Team Sets New Basket Scoring Record

By Harold Tuthill.

The Bly-Moss five went into a tie with the Aquinas Club for the lead in the Superior Girls' League basketball race last night by smothering the Aces, 56 to 12, in the second game of the double-header at the Armory. The Continentals came from behind to defeat the Libersteins, 17 to 12, in the first contest. The Bly-Moss team's total set a season's scoring record.

Every one of the Bly-Moss girls, with the exception of Hannah Mortensen, who was only in the game for a short while, participated in the scoring. Lillian Bernhart made use of Catherine "Kayo" Dueker's passes under the basket to lead her team with eight field goals. Neither team made a free throw. This was due to the fact that the Aces did not commit a foul and also did not make ayn of their 10 free throws count.

After starting slowly in the first quarter and being on the short end of a 7-to-4 score at the end of the first quarter, the Libersteins managed to hold the Continentals scoreless in the second quarter and to tie the score at 7-all at the half.

At the start of the third session Marie Gerlitz put the Libersteins ahead with a free throw and a field goal, sandwiching Mary Saunders' field goal for the Continentals. Miss Saunders followed with another goal from scrimmage and Marjorie Reichman added two more points to take a lead that was never relinquished.

FIVE LOCAL SKATERS DEPART TONIGHT FOR NATIONAL TOURNEY

Five local speed skaters depart tonight for Oconomowoc, Wis., where they will display their wares in the national outdoor invitation skating championship meet over the week end.

The Class A skaters that will make the trip are Otto Brands, Jim Jamieson and Lamar Ottsen, all of the Winter Garden team, and Harry Furman of the Campbell Skating Club. The fifth member of the team that will represent St. Louis is John Bretz, twice winner of the local intermediate championship and the only local boy that has unofficially broken a world's record. He is also a member of the Winter Garden team.

Henry Kemper, president, and Ben Blanke, secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Skating Association, will officiate at this meet. They will leave St. Louis Friday night. This is the first of the out-of-town meets that will be invaded by local speed stars this year..

Lowe-Campbell's Brilliant Game Wins Again, 31-16

Flashing a passing game that fairly bewildered the opposing guards, Verne Bradburn's Lowe & Campbell team easily defeated the Fitzsimmons team in the open division of the Municipal Basketball League at Sherman Park Community Center last night. The score was 31 to 16. While spectators generously applauded, Barney Oldfield, Ham Strong, Bradburn, Anderson and Joyce worked a combination of passes which almost invariably tied Rossfelt and Parsons, two excellent guards, into a knot and left the basket open.

No St. Louis team in many years has shown the class of all-around skill, both individual and combined, that Bradburn's club is showing in all its games. It is probably the best combination St. Louis has ever had. Even with the reserves, Flannery, Corcoran, Miller and Ruff, playing with Bradburn throughout the second half, the team functioned perfectly. There is a polish about the world of Oldfield, Strong and Bradburn which commands the admiration of even the opposing players.

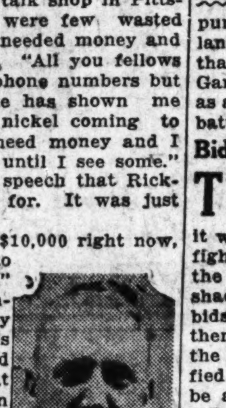
BUILDING UP BIG FIGHTS

By Ike Dorgan.

Press Representative for Tex Rickard.

WHEN Tex Rickard met Jack Johnson to talk shop in Pittsburg there were few wasted words. Johnson needed money and needed it badly. "All you fellows are talking telephone numbers but not a single one has shown me that there is a nickel coming to little John. I need money and I won't even talk until I see some."

That was the speech that Rickard had waited for. It was just what he wanted.



IKE DORGAN.

"I'll give you $10,000 right now, if you'll agree to string with me," said Tex, as Johnson's eyes fairly popped out of his head. He had never got that much money in any fight in which he actually had worked. Rickard fished out 10 new $1000 bills and laid them right under Johnson's nose.

Johnson signed an agreement giving Rickard the option on his services. Tex told him that he was going on to New York to outbid the other fellows. If he didn't, Johnson could keep the $10,000. At least there could be no fight without Johnson and now he was Rickard's man. Tex had stolen a march on the others and had the battle half WON no matter what arrangements had been made in secret with Jeffries.

Rickard tried to hide out on the others when he arrived in New York to attend the bidding. He hadn't given any hint that he was in the field and he might have gone over to Hoboken when the bids were opened in an old hotel in that town without any preliminary warning had he not run into Vince Treanor of the New York Evening World. Treanor knew Rickard and pumped the reason out of him and landed a scoop. It was only then that the Goldfield promoter of the Gans and Nelson bout loomed up as a bidder for the big heavyweight battle.

> UP to the time Tex Rickard made his tremendous bid for the Johnson-Jeffries championship fight, the record "gate" for a title bout was $131,000 established in Australia at the fight in which Johnson took the title from Tommy Burns.

Bidding Gets Started.

THE men who sought the bout trooped over to Hoboken, N. J., to do their bidding. At the time it was illegal to plan or promote a fight in New York. They met in the dining room of an old ramshackle hotel in Hoboken. The bids were to be sealed and opened then and there, the bout to go to the man who had the fattest certified check. Of course, cash would be accepted!

Tom McCarey of Los Angeles was in with a bid of $40,000. Tremendous in those days, but Tom all but fainted when Jim Coffroth's envelope containing a check for $80,000 was opened. Eddie Graney's was caught in between with an offer of $60,000.

Suddenly Rickard spoke up!

"Gentlemen, I'm here, ready to outbid any man in this room. Just open my envelope and you'll see that I mean business. If there is anyone here who meets my bid, I'll add $20,000 to the amount I have on deposit. And I'll keep on adding $20,000 until I get the match."

They opened Rickard's envelope. No check. Just real money. I can see their faces even now as out tumbled 101 $1000 crisp, new bills! Everybody gasped, as Rickard expected they would. Rickard was certain that his bid of $101,000 would top them all the first offering and it did. Jack Johnson, looking on, actually turned white.

Coffroth, old in the game, and clever, too, looked at Rickard with a strange light in his eyes. No such amount had ever been heard of as a purse. Coffroth made no further effort to outdo Rickard. He wouldn't be taken for a ride. He knew when he had had enough. How he misjudged the worth of that bout and how far Tex had peered over their heads! Coffroth laughs about it today and admits he must have been blind to the value of the match.

Felt Sorry for Rickard.

AS I came back from Hoboken in a cab with Coffroth and my brother, Tad asked, "What do you think of Rickard's offer, Jim?"

"Poor fellow, I feel sorry for him. The man is absolutely mad!"

"Why, he can't give that kind of money to the fighters and land anywhere but on the rocks. I've been in this business long enough to know that the bout won't even drew $101,000."

Coffroth was basing his opinion on the fact that Jeffries and Sharkey had drawn only $66,300 in their fight at Coney Island, New York, then the largest gate in the history of boxing in this country. Coffroth had come second to that gate with one of $63,340 with Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett at San Francisco. He paid the fighters $43,628 out of that, leaving $19,612 for his preliminaries and expenses.

The world's record for gates, up to the time Rickard had made his bid of $101,000 was $131,000, taken in when Tommy Burns lost his title to Johnson in Sydney. The promoter, Hugh McIntosh, had guaranteed Burns $30,000 and Johnson $5000, leaving a near profit of $96,000, the largest ever made up to that time. These figures seem puny now but they were staggering in those days.

I think Rickard's tremendous bid made the fight. Of course, there was intense public interest. There was no getting away from that fact.

Jeffries and Johnson met in the Albany Hotel, in New York, but not a word passed between them when they posed for the cameras in what was supposed to be the signing of the articles of agreement. Of course, no such papers were drawn up there. Rickard had drafted them in New Jersey.

Centenary, With 10 Victories, to Oppose Billikens

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 29.—With five conference victories against one defeat the Centenary Gents left Shreveport yesterday on their Mid-western invasion. They will meet some of the strongest college basketball teams.

Their first tough assignment will be at St. Louis, where they play the strong St. Louis University quintet. Other outstanding teams, which will be played are, Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington; Loyola and Depaul at Chicago and Butler University at Indianapolis.

Centenary has played 13 school teams this year and holds 10 victories against three defeats. Besides their own conference games, the Gents surprised the Southwest Conference by beating the powerful Texas Longhorn at Austin, 30 to 28 and coming back the next night to trounce the same team 54 to 22. In the latter game the Gentlemen had everything that a good basketball team needs to win. Texas A. and M. beat Centenary in a couple of pre-season games at College Station.

Nine players were taken on the trip by Coach Curtis Parker, but Finch, Nolan, Johnson, McElreath, Moran and Captain Crowley are expected to carry practically all of the playing burden. The midget Nolan, who is expected to show the Mid-Westerners some of his speed, and Johnson, another good man, will be the starting forwards, barring injuries. Finch, who led the team in scoring his sophomore year at a forward position has been shifted to the center hole, where he has been dividing time with the versatile McElreath. Coach Parker will rely on Moran and Crowley to hold the opposition forwards in check. Both of these basketeers are playing their last year and they are rated as good guards as are in the South. Others on the trip are, Ames, forward; Allemus and Womack, guards.

M'CARTHY PRACTICING WITH BILLIKEN FIVE, MAY FACE CENTENARY

Whether Owen McCarthy will be used in Saturday's game with Centenary College is not yet established but Coach Mike Nylkos of the St. Louis University basketball team is working the tall center into his team in practice. McCarthy has been ineligible for intercollegiate competition since the opening of school, last September, but is said to have passed his mid-year examinations.

While he is always glad to have another good player thrust upon him, Coach Nylkos is faced with the difficult problem of making room for McCarthy. He is normally a center and starred at that position on the Freshman team. A tall, rangy, well-built lad of about 175 pounds, he is exactly fitted for the duties of a center. However, Leo Grandoni has been playing too good a game to be shunted off the team. The logical supposition is that Grandoni may continue to jump at center and then shift to a forward position, leaving McCarthy to take care of center in the general floor game. He is said to be particularly effective in caging short shots from the foul line, in which case he would fit in perfectly with the Billikens' scheme of attack.

> ## Chicago Will Not Hold Title Fight To Aid New York
> By the Associated Press.
> NEW YORK, Jan. 29.
> CHICAGO is all in favor of holding next summer's heavyweight championship battle between Max Schmeling and Young Bill Stribling, says George Getz, a member of the Illinois Athletic Commission, but not if the Milk Fund or any New York charity is to share in the proceeds.
> Addressing his remarks to an informal gathering that included Schmeling, his manager, Joe Jacobs, and Bill Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, Getz added this complication to the fight plans yesterday, explaining that "charity begins at home and Chicago needs all the charity it can get." The Milk Fund has been carrying on the negotiations for the fight.

Rovin Tops Muny Junior Singles Tennis Rankings

Charles Rovin, Forest Park Tennis Club player, was given first place in the junior singles ranking of the Municipal Tennis Association for 1930, according to the official list announced today. With Sam Schneider, Kingshighway, as a partner, Rovin was also ranked No. 1 in the junior doubles.

There were 22 players ranked in the junior singles, while nine teams were selected in the doubles. The ranking list follows:

JUNIOR SINGLES.

District Tennis Association to Meet, Tonight

By Davison Obear.

The annual meeting of the St. Louis District Tennis Association will be held tonight at the Coronado Hotel. Delegates from the 39 clubs holding membership are expected to attend. President Edmund H. Serrano will be chairman of the meeting which convenes at 8 p. m.

One of the most important subjects to be discussed will be the 1931 Natinal Clay Court Tennis Championship which it is expected will be held at the Triple A Club here the week of June 29. The tournament will be awarded at the annual meeting of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association in New York, Feb. 14.

If the Clay Court event is awarded to St. Louis it will be held under the auspices of the Missouri Valley Tennis Association in co-operation with the local district organization. Joseph W. Ivy, Kansas City, president of the Valley Association, has appointed the following committee on preliminary arrangements: Dr. Frank E. Diekneite, chairman; Wray D. Brown, Karl H. Hodge, Karl P. Kammann and Davison Obear.

Plans for a membership campaign during the coming season will also be discussed. The Executive Committee has already established an individual sustaining membership and will also submit a program to increase the list of clubs.

In addition to the usual awarding of district tournaments for the year, the delegates will elect five officers and 10 other members of the Executive Committee to serve for the ensuing year. Charles W. Barnes Jr. of Triple A Club is chairman of the Nominating Committee.

The annual reports will be made by chairmen of the following committees: Constitution and by-laws, entertainment, finance, junior development, membership, publicity, public parks, ranking, tournament, umpires, women's auditing, interclub, Missouri Valley, National.

The meeting will be held in parlor D, Coronado Hotel, and will be open to members of all of the private and public park clubs affiliated with the association.

YANICK LEADS NORTH ST. LOUIS SHOOTERS

O. Yanick was the leader in the weekly meeting of the North St. Louis Revolver Club with a score of 88. Ed Froeckmann, with 85, was second, and W. J. Mellies, with a score of 82, was third. Other scores were: W. Dietz, 78; W. L. Staats, 77; P. Hollingsworth, 76; G. B. Godfrey, 76; H. H. Tebler, 75; F. C. Krug, 72; C. B. Poore, 71; C. F. Schmidt, 69; Dr. Kirsch, 69; C. J. Kron, 66; T. Birkenmaier, 64; G. C. Foster, 61; F. H. Krug, 56; H. Sprunk, 51; E. Seidel, 50.

MODELS TIE FOR SECOND POSITION IN TENPIN MEET

> ### Iowa Bowler Did Not Set Record, Local Marks Show
> WHEN Howard Mapes bowled 2079 for the all-events in the Iowa State championship tournament at Des Moines officials claimed a world's record for him, stating that the best previous record they could find was a 2060 rolled by Jimmy Smith in the Canadian championship in 1912.
> But the Iowa officials overlooked St. Louis. In the City Class tournament, on the Wellston alleys last year, Frank Kastner, a member of the South Side Chevrolets, totaled 2145, or 66 pins better than Mapes' score. Kastner's score was made in a tournament sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress.
> Thus it appears that St. Louis owns a world's record with which it is not generally credited. In putting over his total Kastner, averaged 238.3, which is all the more noteworthy when it is taken into consideration that in tournaments held here, bowlers change alleys after each game.

The Model Cleaners, of the Eighteenth Street Business Men's League, rolled into a tie for second place in the team event of the City Handicap bowling tournament on the Mid-City alleys last night, with a total of 3095. The quintet had games of 1005, 1014 and 1076.

The Pioneers of the Missouri Pacific League took seventh position with 2993, while the St. Louis National Bank team bowled into eighth place with 2992.

R. Nichols was high man for the Models in their fine effort with a 602 total. E. Hohenstein had 597, E. Wolff 577, C. Bieger 560 and R. Klatt 489.

Forty five-man teams and squads of doubles and singles will be seen in action today.

Stein Opposes Hermann.

Cone Hermann, regarded as one of the best young tenpinners in the city will tackle Otto Stein Jr. of the Witter Razz quintet in a special 10-game match at the Washington Alleys tomorrow. Hermann, who rolls an effective hook ball, has been displaying a fine brand of bowling throughout the season and is one of the 16 members of the All-Star loop. At the present time, Hermann is tied for third place in the league standing with Ray Ziegler and Roy Nelson, with a record of 29 points won and 19 lost and owns an average of 201. The series will mark the first match game Stein Jr. has rolled since defeating Frank Kartheiser of Chicago in a 10-game show several weeks ago.

A. B. C. Entries Close Sunday.

Entries for the twenty-ninth annual American Bowling Congress at Buffalo, starting Feb. 27, will close Sunday. It is expected that St. Louis will not have more than 25 quintets entered in the competition. Although the home city must guarantee 850 teams, it is not expected that the record entry of 2523 established at Chicago two years ago will be beaten.

McBRIDE FIVE MEETS C. B. C. IN IMPORTANT PREP GAME TONIGHT

In the feature Prep League basketball game of the week, the McBride and Christian Brothers' College fives will play this evening at the St. Louis University gym, with second place in the league standing at stake. McBride, at present in the runner-up post with one victory and one defeat, can clinch second place by a win and practically eliminate the Brothers from championship consideration. However, a victory for C. B. C. will put the winners in second place and drop McBride to third, with C. B. C. then being favored to fight it out with St. Louis U. High for the title. The game starts at 8:30 p. m.

BILLIARD NOTES

H. M. Morphew, who recently caused a mild surprise when he defeated P. McDonough and thereby caused a three-cornered tie for the leadership, last night continued his winning streak by beating P. Hopson, 100 to 76 in 20 innings, in the city championship pocket billiards tournament at Peterson's. Tonight McDonough takes on Patterson. Morphew last night had a high run of 23.

Ray Counts gained a tie for first place with L. M. Dieckmeyer in Arata's three-cushion billiards tournament last night when he defeated J. Holzhauser, 25 to 22 in 40 innings. Dieckmeyer will oppose Wolff tonight.

Fred Schwartz, St. Louis' leading professional pocket billiard player, faces a deficit of 40 points as he starts the fourth block of his 600-point match with Johnny Saunders of Guthrie, Ok. The scores thus far have been: Saunders, 100-69; Schwartz, 131-84; Saunders, 116-60. The score now is: Saunders, 300; Schwartz, 260. The match is being played in Schwartz's new Grand and Olive Academy, in the Beers Hotel building.

EXTRA INNINGS

by J. Roy Stockton

Is It a Novelty?

BARNEY BURCH, president of the Omaha club of the Western League, visiting at the Brownie offices, said he expected the circuit to do better in 1931, with night baseball to stimulate the fans' interest in the game.

"We made a little money at Omaha and perhaps a club here and there showed a slight profit," Burch said, "but the outlook for minor league baseball is not bright. With the floodlights to bring out a new crop of customers and fans whose work keeps them busy in the afternoons, I expect minor leagues to do well for at least two years. By that time we will know whether night baseball is just a novelty. If it is that and the minors have to return to daylight baseball, the minors might as well fold up and quit."

Burch said transportation expenses made it difficult and in some cases impossible for clubs in some leagues to break even and suggested that a reorganization might be necessary, to make for more compact leagues, thus eliminating long train hauls.

Secretaries Get Together.

TRAVELING secretaries of the 16 major league baseball clubs have united in efforts to get more consideration from a railroad which handles hauls between Boston and New York. Both Boston clubs like Sunday double-headers and usually these double-headers are scheduled at the end of a series, just before a jump to New York. The clubs like to catch an evening train for New York, so the athletes can have a night's sleep in a hotel bed, which is better than a night on the train and a taxicab jump to a hotel at daybreak. But there is only one road doing business and because of the monopoly the road declines to hold the Sunday evening train. If the road continues to be stubborn, the 16 clubs will make efforts to arrange to make all jumps between New York and Boston by bus. You'd think in these times of depression the railroad would be glad to give a little courtesy with their service, especially when the baseball clubs' business over a season is worth a lot of money.

Keen Competition.

DONIE BUSH'S White Sox will have plenty of major league opposition during the spring training season, as 17 games are scheduled with the New York Giants. The White Sox, barnstorming north from San Antonio, which also will be the Giants' training quarters, will go to New York for two exhibitions at the Polo Grounds before returning west for the opening of the American League season.

The other games on the Chicago club's spring schedule—seven of them—will be with minor league teams.

Even the lowly Phillies will play 15 spring games with major league opponents, while the Browns, as is known, will play only four—two with the Phils and two with the Cardinals.

It certainly seems that it would be a progressive move for the American League to rescind that rule against its clubs meeting in spring games. The clubs need major league competition, major league games are better box office attractions and the fans back home are sure to be more interested in games with big league teams. Who cares what the Browns may do against the House of David or the bush league teams? On the other hand the fans would be interested in Brownie games with the Yankees and Athletics. It looks like a stupid rule, no matter how you look at it.

Because of the rule the Browns have only two games in the South with big league teams and the poor Boston Red Sox will not test their batting eyes against big league pitching until they meet the Braves in an abbreviated spring series just before the season opens.

Crystal City Is Victor in Title Basketball Game

A rally in the last few minutes of the game, enabled the Crystal City team to defeat the Bachelors, 18 to 13, and win the first half pennant in the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball League at the Battery A last night. The contest was a playoff to decide the title, inasmuch as the quintettes were tied at the conclusion of the regular first-half schedule. In a preliminary the St. Marks defeated the St. Johns team, 21 to 10.

ALUMNI CONTROL RESPONSIBLE FOR FOOTBALL EVILS EDUCATOR SAYS

> THAT gate receipts, large or small, are quite all right for college football so long as they are properly administered, is an opinion expressed by President James Rowland Angell of Yale to representatives attending the annual meeting of the Yale Alumni University Fund Association last night.
> "Intercollegiate games," he said, "should be carried on within the bounds of such reasonable expenditures as can be provided by the participant, or by special gifts, or by sales of tickets to witness the contests. Abuses which have grown up at some institutions, as the result of the huge gate receipts for football, are being rapidly corrected, and the money is now generally used for the development of intramural sports."

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 29.—The trouble with football is a vicious system of management rather than the granting of scholarships, in the opinion of Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University.

"The fault lies in the vicious system of allowing alumni, students and 'outside business men' to operate and control the athletic programs. Consequent lack of interest in and authority over athletics by the college faculties is at the bottom of all so-called evils of the game," Dr. Jacob believes.

"These schools would not consider turning over the operation of their chemistry department to students and alumni; but they think nothing of placing one of the most important and most popular departments in their hands.

"The department of physical culture, including intercollegiate and intro-mural sports, should come under the faculties the same as any other class or subject, with the coach having direct supervision."

Favors Self-Help Scholarships.

Dr. Jacobs favors the awarding of self-help scholarships to students, athletes or non-athletes, who need aid to finance their way through school.

"I don't hesitate to offer a scholarship to a good violinist to study here and play in our orchestra, so why the objection to making the same proposition to the athlete," he says. "Any other attitude in the matter is hypocritical. If this is subsidization, you can say Oglethorpe University is in favor of it.

"A college athlete receiving help should not be regarded as a professional. He is as clean an amateur as any. He receives less for his participation than the so-called amateur in golf, tennis and other sports not connected with collegiate sport."

No "Over-Emphasis."

Dr. Jacobs says there is no such thing as over-emphasis in football.

"It may be that other departments are under-emphasized, but certainly the physical culture division is worth all the attention given to it. An athlete gives less time to his game than to any single subject of his college course.

"The professors and faculties are at fault in cases of students who are allowed to play regardless of their scholastic standing. A professor should adhere strictly to the scholastic requirements in passing or failing an athlete. If such a course were adopted universally the 'tramp athlete' would quickly pass out."

CONGER EASILY WINS FROM SWISS RUNNER IN 1000-YARD SPECIAL

SINGER, LATEST SPRINTING ACE, DEFEATS BOWMAN IN THREE RACES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 29.—Ray Conger, the schoolmaster from out where the West begins, turned in another brilliant performance at the 113th Regiment Armory last night to win the 1000-yard event headlining the program of the Newark Athletic Club's annual meet.

The Iowan, America's outstanding miler, ran a beautifully paced race, uncorking his famous sprint in the last lap to beat Frank Nordell, the former Philadelphia school boy champion, now at New York University; Dr. Paul Martin, the Swiss surgeon, and James Kennedy of the Newark A. C. They finished in that order.

The resumption of last season's rivalry between Conger and Dr. Martin, who was making his first American appearance of the campaign, was something of a washout. Dr. Martin trailed all the way, and when he called on his reserve kick to carry him through the last few hundred yards, it just wasn't there.

Nordell Sets the Pace.

Conger, in the No. 3 position with Nordell at the pole and Dr. Martin second, burst away into the lead, with Nordell right behind him, and the Swiss ace third. Conger stayed in front until the end of the third lap, when Nordell with a sprint down the back stretch, took first place away from him.

Nordell continued as the pace setter until the bell lap started. Conger was right at his heels as the bell clanged, but he began to go away as they rounded the next to the last turn. Conger led down the back stretch, with the yards opening up between him and Nordell, with Dr. Martin dropping further and further back in third position. Down the stretch they thundered, with Conger, finishing in 2 minutes 17 9-10 seconds, having three yards on Nordell and Dr. Martin being four yards to the rear of the New York U. boy. Kennedy was a poor fourth.

New York Sprinter Stars.

Ira Singer, the latest sprint sensation from New York U., continued undefeated in his favorite event by chasing off with the special dash prize. Head down, surging over the boards with what seemed to be ever increasing momentum, the stocky youngster won by decisive margins in the 50, 60 and 70-yard contests. Among Singer's victims was Chet Bowman, national 60-yard champion and co-holder of the world's record at that distance. Bowman admittedly was taking the meet as a tune-up for the major events to follow and showed he was a long way from top form. He finished fourth in all three races, which were won in slow time.

Kansas City A. C. Triumphs.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 29.—The Kansas City Athletic Club basketball team defeated the St. Joseph Boosters, 37 to 20, here last night. St. Joseph was unable to penetrate the club's defense. The Blue Diamonds led at the half, 19 to 8.

FLYERS MAY USE WINTER GARDEN FOR HOME GAMES

By W. J. McGoogan.

Officials of the St. Louis Hockey Club and the Winter Garden are scheduled to convene today and decide on a proposition which the Winter Garden made the hockey officials yesterday relative to the Flyers returning to their old De Baliviere avenue address for their home games this season.

Earl Reflow, manager of the Winter Garden, told Walter Whiteside of Tulsa, owner of the St. Louis franchise, that if the hockey club would refit the place for hockey and pay a stipulated rental for the building, he would agree to having the team resume play there.

Reflow said that since the Flyers abandoned the building he had destroyed the sideboards and the temporary seats on the ice. These would have to be replaced and it would take about a week and some expense to get the place ready.

The hockey club had planned to use The Arena for games this season, but the expense involved for installing ice, estimated at more than $100,000, proved too great and this plan had to be abandoned, for this season at least. As a result the St. Louis team has been on the road since Nov. 27 and is having rough sledding financially. Fourteen men have been carried and the $250 which the team has received for each game has not been sufficient to cover expenses.

If the deal for the Winter Garden is closed, the hockey club expects to play games there by the end of next week. Six games scheduled for January have been postponed.

Handball Tourney In Semifinals

Semifinal matches in the doubles division of the Western A. A. U. handball tournament will be played tonight at the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

The team of I. N. Kessler and Simon Wolff will meet Walter Kammann and Marshall Lehr. In the other semifinal match Mike Cunningham and Robert Larmore will oppose Dr. Milton Smith and John Stotts. The first-named match starts at 8 o'clock.

Last night's results:

Dr. Milton Smith and John Stotts, Downtown Y. M. C. A., defeated Harry Dreyfus and Charles Eisenstein, Y. M. H. A., 10-21, 21-18 and 21-3.

Robert Larmore and Mike Cunningham, Downtown Y. M. C. A., won from James Powers and Joseph O'Connell, Knights of Columbus, 21-14, 21-4.

I. N. Kessler and Simon Wolff, Downtown Y. M. C. A. triumphed over Ray Noonan and Joseph Rosseau, Knights of Columbus, 21-2, 21-14.

Walter Kammann and Marshall Lehr, Downtown Y. M. C. A., won from Sol and Meyer Steinberg, Y. M. H. A., 21-9, 21-19.

Pla-Mors Beat Millers.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29.—The Kansas City Pla-Mors of the American Hockey League defeated Minneapolis 2 to 1 here last night in the first of a two-game series. Kansas City scored in the second and third periods. Dunfield took Ranger's pass to score the first goal and Halderson passed to McCormick for the second. DePaul took a pass from O'Neil to tally for Minneapolis in the third period.

Wray's Column

"Following the Horses."

A YOUNG fellow recently wrote requesting the editor of this column to give him the name of a reliable commissioner with whom he could place bets on race horses. Instead of being supplied the information he was invited to take his billfold and throw it into the river as a means of getting rid of his surplus and saving himself all the worry that following the horses would give him.

The fact of the matter seems to be that not one in one hundred followers of horses improves his finances by speculation on them. Many persons know how to get a lot of fun and perhaps excitement out of betting on races, but few attain profit. Bookies occasionally are stung heavily, but the game goes on as merrily and as profitably for the commissioners today as it did 50 years ago. More so.

The Reason Why.

READERS inquire why, then, do newspapers print racing information about the betting such as the "probable odds" and also "selections." You might just as well ask why stock quotations are published. It is information that is wanted by the public. The selections usually represent the handicapper's "form" based on past performances and handicapping systems. They are not an invitation to speculate any more than the resume of a stock market reporter which shows by figures the trend of the market.

Can't Make Money.

AS a matter of fact, any individual can convince himself that betting on horse races must be pursued as a sport and not as a profession. For example, a racing publication annually sums up the efforts of 15 leading handicappers for the year. The writer does not recall having noted an instance in which following any one of the handicappers would have brought the investor a profit, had he wagered either a $10 bet on each selection to win, or "across the board."

Quite recently a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle achieved notable fame by proving an exception to this rule. Of 31 handicappers who published selections for the entire metropolitan season, only one showed an appreciable profit for a hypothetical investment of $10 on each selection made. He was W. C. Vreeland and his followers, had they rigidly adhered to his choices at $10 each would have been $224 richer after six months of play. Another handicapper's tops would have yielded a negligible profit of $24. The other 29 handicappers showed losses ranging from $184.50 to $2278!

"Consensus" Was Last.

ONE of the strange features about the losing handicappers' selections was the fact that the "Consensus" handicaps were the heaviest losers. "Consensus" selections are a composite of from six to 12 handicappers. The natural thought would be that the composite would be more nearly correct than any individual could hope to be. And yet the Racing Form Consensus, according to the Eagle's figures, showed the greatest loss—$2278!

Racing seems a good game for those who want a little excitement, now and then. As a means of earning a livelihood or picking up a "stake," it's something else again.

Our National Muddle.

DIFFERENCES of opinion may make horse racing, but they don't seem to help our Wickersham Commission reports or the college football muddle. On the great topic of gridiron over-emphasis, the leading educators of the country are about as close together as Hongkong and Frisco.

Dr. Murray Butler and his supporters believe that football is sliding down the toboggan toward Avernus at a nose-dive speed. Others, like President Angell of Yale and Dr. Jacobs of Oglethorpe, think matters fundamentally are healthy and would be quite all right in all respects if the alumni would just keep their noses out of the situation.

A little consideration probably will cause most of us to lend ear to the supporters rather than the detractors of college sport. Football requires much less of a student's time than it is supposed to, in a majority of schools. Two hours a day for about 50 days of the college year mean only 100 hours. That doesn't compare with the time required by any major study on the student's curriculum. Probably if he were not at football he would be indulging some other form of recreation, which would occupy just as much time.

O K on Scholarships.

AS for helping the athletes along with scholarships, Dr. Jacobs sees no evil in helping along a needy student, whether he plays in the orchestra or on the football team.

President Angell sees help, not harm, in gate receipts, when they are made use of to improve physical education.

Only a Few Extremists.

THERE are schools where all things athletic are carried to extremes through pressure of alumni and in these reforms may be needed. It is the judgment of level-minded men among faculty members that all football needs is a little common sense in its management.

There is one other thing that it lacks apparently. It needs a modification of the paid-coach system whereby the coach can be reasonably sure of retaining his job, even if he fails to put out a championship team.

The fact that a coach's head is lopped off, after a bad season, drives almost every teacher of sports in universities to extremes in recruiting his football and other timber.

And that is one of the main causes of any "over-emphasis" in the schools referred to. Victory, not football, is over-emphasized.

ZAHARIAS WILL MEET JIM McMILLAN HERE

George Zaharias, 22-year-old Puebla, Colo., boy who uses his head as a battering ram against his opponent's midsection while in the ring, has been matched with Jim McMillan, also a follower of "head work" in wrestling. They will wrestle on the Coliseum program here next Wednesday night in a match with a time-limit of 45 minutes.

Ray Steele and Tiny Roebuck will meet in the finish match on the card.

In two other matches on the Coliseum card, Pat O'Shocker, Salt Lake City wrestler, will meet Rudy Dusek, of Omaha, and George Manish, who, like O'Shocker, is a newcomer to local fans, will meet either George Tragos or Lloyd Burdick. The two matches will be limited to 30 minutes each.

Kwariani's Condition Satisfactory.

Kola Kwariani, bald Russian wrestler, whose right eye was seriously injured when jabbed by the thumb of Jim Clinkstock on last week's Coliseum program, was able to discern light when the bandage was partly raised from over the eye at Lutheran Hospital yesterday, and the chances for the healing of the injury and saving of sight are considered good. Visitors are not being admitted to the wrestler's room.

BEAUMONT LOSES TWO BASKET STARS

Two of Beaumont's star basketball players, Bob Kablitz and Raymond Toberman, will be ineligible for the second round of play, it was learned today. Both of the players, regular members of the team, failed to pass mid-year examinations. A player on the baseball nine, Earl Fay, also failed to survive the tests.

MAPLEWOOD BASKETBALL STAR IS OPERATED ON

Gaillard Sheldon, a member of the Maplewood High School basketball team, will not be able to continue in service. He was operated on for an injury received during the 1930 baseball season but when he recovers will no longer be eligible for play. Young Sheldon expects to enter the University of Missouri this fall.

CONCORDIA AND M'KENDREE FIVES MEET TONIGHT

The Concordia Seminary basketball team faces a busy week-end since the Preachers are scheduled to meet the McKendree College five from Lebanon, Ill., tonight and Butler University of Indiana, Saturday night. Both games, which will be played at the Washington University Field House, start at 8:30 p. m.

After gaining their first victory in the season last week, the Preachers feel that they can make a creditable showing, since Herb Etzler apparently has satisfied Coach Eber Simpson's need for a capable running guard. The shift, bringing Capt. Billy Rueter to forward and Etzler to guard, benefited the team.

It is probable that Simpson will start Emil Hartman at the other forward with Rueter, Al Kellermann at center and Etzler and Gil Lehmann at the guards. Ed Krause and Hagemann were in the starting lineup in last week's battle, but the showing made by Hartman and Lehmann virtually assured them of starting against McKendree.

The return of Bob Shafer, McKendree's stellar forward, provides the Bearcats with their best lineup. Either Summers or Wright will play the other forward position, while Capt. "Fuzzy" Hubbell will jump center. Todd and Evers will be the starting guards, leaving Ropiquet, Stoltz, Church, Storckman, Moorman and Fulkerson as reserves.

The probable lineups:

Concordia.	Pos.	McKendree.
Hartman	R. F.	Summers
Rueter	L. F.	Shafer
Kellermann	C.	Hubbell
Etzler	R. G.	Todd
Lehman	L. G.	Evers

OTTO BRANDS AGAIN WINS 5-MILE RACE AT WINTER GARDEN

Eleven skaters entered the five-mile event held at the Winter Garden last night, and only seven of the entrants were able to complete the grind. Seven entrants were Class A skaters and four were of B Class.

Otto Brands, the local indoor champion, again won the event. He set the pace for 35 of the 65 laps, which is a difficult feat. The time was 4.6 seconds slower than the local record set by Brands early this season. It took 17 minutes, 47.8 seconds to complete the 65 laps. Lamar Ottsen was second and Harry Furman was third.

Jim Steckman clipped three seconds off the Glass B record held by himself and finished one-half second behind Brands.

The final standings are: Class A—Otto Brands, first; Jim Jamieson, second; Lamar Ottsen, third; Mel Dubinsky and Harry Furman, tied for fourth, and Adolph Furman, sixth.

Class B—Jim Steckman, first; Ed Weidler, second, and Tony Ginochio, third; Henry Hagenbrock, fourth.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Jan. 29.—Crippled by the loss of Bevers, star center and scoring ace, the Kirksville Osteopaths bowed to the Cape Girardeau Teachers in a basketball game here last night, 21 to 25. The Osteopaths held the visitors to an 8-8 tie in the first half.

NEW YORK BILL WOULD HAVE REFUND IN CASE FIGHT ENDS IN FOUL

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Senator William L. Love, Democrat, introduced a bill in the Legislature yesterday aiming at the foul evil in boxing. The measure provides that in event of the main bout ending in a foul patrons of boxing shows shall be entitled to a refund of the admission charge. The bill is an amendment to the State Athletic Commission act.

FOUR SPECIAL BOUTS FEATURE S. B. A. C. SHOW

Les Schulte, National A. A. U. junior heavyweight champion, meets Primo Sanders in one of the 10 all-star matches on the Mississippi Valley Amateur Association's benefit boxing show at the South Broadway A. C. tonight. The entry list contains the names of more than 50 ringsters. The first bout starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Schulte, who has been meeting local and out-of-town fighters, has not suffered defeat during the past two years. He has been at his best since he annexed the U. S. amateur crown last March at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The featherweight match between Joey Parks of Kid Bandy's ring brigade, and Morgan Lingenfelter, a protege of Jackie Callahan is expected to be a thriller. Parks has not been defeated in a long time while Lingenfelter will be seeking his fifth straight triumph.

The entries:

SPECIAL BOUTS.

Les Schulte, National A. A. U. heavyweight champion, vs. Primo Sanders, unattached.

Speer, With 73, Leads Golfers In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 29.—Filled with energy after having been cooped up by rain two days, professionals of golfdom's traveling circus welcomed the opportunity to team with their amateur cousins today in an 18-hole pro-amateur event, curtain raiser to the tenth annual Texas open.

Jack Speer of San Antonio, a ranking Texas amateur, survived the sticky going to post a 73, two over par, and Johnny Dawson, stocky Chicago star, turned in a 74. They far outdid most of the field, the scores averaging in the 90's.

BODY FOUND IN BURNED SHACK

Theory Is That Recluse Was Robbed, Then Killed.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 29.—Hunters have reported to officers the finding of the charred body of Sam Coffelt, 60-year-old recluse, in the burned debris of his small shack, a mile south of the Missouri line, near here. A Coroner's verdict of death at the hands of unknown parties was returned.

Coffelt's hands and feet were bound with wire taken from bed springs and his head was crushed with what officers think was a wagon bolt found at the side of the bed. Investigators think Coffelt was robbed and then slain. He was last seen a week ago. The house is thought to have been burned Sunday.

DEATH OR LONG PRISON TERMS FOR 78 IN TURKISH REVOLT

Number Who Will Be Executed Not Announced; Parliament Must Ratify Penalty.

By the Associated Press.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Jan. 29.—Sentences ranging from death on the gallows to long prison terms were imposed today by a court-martial on 78 persons arrested in connection with a revolt at Menimen in December.

Twenty-seven persons, including five women, were acquitted and the court withheld the number sentenced to be hanged until Monday, when Parliament will be asked to ratify the death sentences.

The hangings, if the sentences are upheld, will take place at Menimen the next day.

Hundreds were arrested in the town of Menimen, near Smyrna, in the last week of December after rebels had stirred up what threatened to become a revolution for restoration of the caliphate in Turkey.

The originators of the movement, wearing the forbidden fez, entered the village under a religious banner and harangued the people on the evils of forcible introduction of Occidental dress and the new alphabet. Some of the inhabitants joined them and a young school teacher who tried to call the police was attacked and beheaded. The rebels killed two police and fled, leaving three dead and one prisoner.

OFFICERS OF BRITISH WARSHIP BLAMED FOR INSUBORDINATION

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The Admiralty informed the House of Commons yesterday that a recent case of insubordination aboard the submarine depot ship Lucia was due largely to lack of tact on the part of the commander and want of capacity on the part of the executive officer and visional officer.

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, said the three officers had been censured by the Admiralty and in addition would be relieved of duty, retiring on half pay. It was also found that part of the blame was due to agitators among the crew. Alexander said that in view of all circumstances, sentences passed on four members of the crew would be reduced.

The trouble on the ship broke out early this month while it was at Devonport preparing for the spring training cruise. The men objected to an order requiring them to scour the sides of the ship in preparation for painting on a Sunday.

'PICKWICK PAPERS,' $13,000

Price of Dickens' Manuscript Included in Auction Deal.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A rare book dealer, Jerome Brooks, paid $13,000 last night for a copy of the first issue of "Pickwick Papers," with a fragment of the original manuscript by Charles Dickens, at an auction of the library of George Ulizio of Pine Valley, N. J.

The copy formerly belonged to the late George Barr McCutcheon and is one of 14 prime copies extant. Brooks also paid $2500 for a copy of the first American edition of "Pickwick Papers" in parts, complete, and $1600 for a complete copy, in parts, of "The Library on Fiction." A copy of the first octavo edition of Dickens' "The Adventures of Oliver Twist," in the original parts went to Barnet J. Beyer for $1400. He also paid $875 for a copy of the first edition, in parts, of "The Personal History of David Copperfield."

DEATH PENALTY FOR LYNCHING

New Missouri Bill Considers Three Persons a Mob.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—An anti-lynching bill introduced today in the House by Representative G. P. Bourk and William Lafferty, Democrats, of Kansas City, would define a mob as three or more persons assembled together to do violence to any prisoner in the custody of officers, and would empower the Governor to oust any country Sheriff or peace officer from whom a prisoner was seized, killed or injured, if the officer were guilty of negligent of duty.

The measure provides death, or life imprisonment for any person convicted of lynching; from two to five years for attempted lynching; and that any person who hides or conceals any mob participant would be guilty as an accessory after the fact and could be punished by two to 21 years imprisonment.

Road Foreman Ends Life.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 29.—Steve Zepka, foreman of a road gang on construction work between Mount Vernon and Miller, shot and killed himself at his camp today when officers attempted to arrest him in connection with the shooting of Frank Hartman, another road gang foreman, last night in Hartman's bunkhouse. The two foreman had quarreled over the location of a culvert and last night Zepka entered the building where Hartman was sleeping and shot him. Hartman was wounded only slightly, but apparently Zepka thought he had killed him. The wounded man was among those who saw Zepka kill himself when officers located him after an all-night search.

Cleaning Plant Windows Smashed.

Two plate glass windows in the cleaning and dyeing establishment of Ambrose McCluskey, 1117 North Vandeventer avenue, were smashed with bricks early today. A private watchman reported that he heard the crash and saw an automobile pull away from the place. McCluskey said he had had no trouble with anyone.

PRINCIPAL KILLS UNCLE OF PUPIL IN PISTOL FIGHT

Relative, Angry Because Boy Had Been Kept After School; Teacher Disappears.

By the Associated Press.

ONEIDA, Tenn., Jan. 29.—A pistol fight climaxed a dispute yesterday between a school teacher and a patron of the school near here because of punishment inflicted on a pupil. The patron is dead and today authorities are seeking the teacher.

Donald Estes, principal of the Norma High School, told a crowd of citizens that Willie Pennington came to the school yesterday, rebuked him for punishing his nephew and shot twice at his feet and then sent a bullet through his ear. Estes said he drew his revolver and shot six times, killing Pennington outright. The principal told the citizens he would surrender to the Sheriff. Authorities today said they could not find him. Estes punished a son of Luther Pennington, a brother of Willie, by keeping him in after school. Luther protested and engaged the teacher in a fist fight but Estes routed him. Estes said friends warned him and he was armed when the latter came to the school.

LEGGE DECLARES RUSSIA LIED

May Do It Again on Wheat Exports, Says Farm Board Head.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, told the Traffic Club of Chicago yesterday that Russia had deceived the United States about its wheat exports last year and was likely to do it again this year.

"Russia as a wheat producer is a menace," he said. "Its spokesmen said they would export only 20,000,000 bushels. They have already shipped out 80,000,000 bushels and I believe they will sell 100,000,000 or more. They lied to us once, and I believe they're doing it again. Their program for 1931 calls for a 19 per cent increase in acreage, for the avowed purpose of controlling the grain market of the world." The Soviet, Legge said, does not consider the cost of production when selling wheat. The first cost shown on their books is for loading the grain into cars.

LIFTS BAR ON 2 HAVANA PAPERS

HAVANA, Jan. 29.—The newspapers, El Mundo, and Diario de La Marina, suspended by presidential decree Jan. 9, on charges of sedition, are to be permitted to resume publication tomorrow under an order signed today by Dr. Clemente Vivanco, Secretary of the Interior. The publishers are reported to have agreed to certain conditions imposed by the Government in revoking the suspension.

President Machado, who signed the decree suspending the newspapers, expressed his regret at the necessity for so drastic a step. He said today he hoped the newspapers in the future would co-operate with the administration.

Kills Himself Under Train.

SEDALIA, Mo., Jan. 29.—Frank Rippey, 63 years old, ended his life yesterday by lying down under a train that had made a temporary stop. His head was severed when the train started. Rippey was a plumber and steamfitter.

COUNTY LETS CONTRACTS FOR $179,342 OF PAVING

Each of Successful Bids for Highway Surfacing Is Below Engineer's Estimate.

Contracts for the paving of three sections of highway, to cost $179,342, were let today by the County Court of St. Louis County. In each case the successful bids were below the engineer's estimate.

The Crean & Scott Construction Co. will construct a 20-foot concrete pavement 5760 feet on New Hall's Ferry road between Robbins Mill and Patterson roads. The bid was $38,229 and the estimate $44,878.

The contract for a 20-foot bituminous macadam surface on Charbonnier road between Howdershell and Aubuchon roads, 14,082 feet, was awarded to the Bangert Bros. Construction Co. on a bid of $125,897. The engineer's estimate was $134,403. Aubuchon is known locally as the River Bottoms road.

Bangert Bros. Co. also received the contract for 2285 feet of bituminous macadam paving on Accommodation road, running eastward from a point a half mile east of the Carrico road. The bid was $15,216 and the engineer's estimate $15,881.

MISSOURI DROUTH AID BILL

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29.—The Missouri Senate today engrossed a bill sponsored by Senator David Bales (Dem.), Eminence, to appropriate $250,000 for relief of drouth sufferers, after a spirited debate on the floor. The measure goes on the calendar for final passage.

The proposal sets up a committee of the Governor, President pro tem of the Senate, Speaker of the House and four members of the Senate and House, to designate the agencies which will distributed the relief funds. Senator William M. Bates (Rep.), St. Louis, objected to the proposal, insisting that the relief was only nominal and would go to South Missouri and not be generally distributed. Bales replied that the Governor indorsed the relief bill.

SLAIN TRYING TO BREAK JAIL

Robber One of Seven Prisoners in Fight With Arkansas Officers.

By the Associated Press.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 29.—Harold Meeghan, 25 years old, of Oklahoma, awaiting sentence for robbery and arson, was shot and killed by the accidental discharge of Sheriff Henry Walker's pistol last night during a fight between officers and seven prisoners, trying to escape from the Washington County jail. The prisoners were armed with iron bars and knives.

Hurt in Fall in Police Holdover.

Frank Thomas, 1432 South Third street, suffered a fracture of the skull last night when he fell from a bench in the Soulard Police Station holdover and struck his head against a wash bowl. He had been arrested near his home and booked on a charge of being drunk.

1200 IN TWO STATES APPLY TO ENTER TRAINING CAMPS

Arkansas Quota Filled; Number in Missouri List Exceeds That at This Time Last Year.

More than 1200 applications for this year's Citizens' Military Training Camps have been received from Missouri and Arkansas boys, although the procurement campaign will not begin until March 1.

The Arkansas quota, 952 boys, has been completed, and the filling of the Missouri quota of 1860 is underway. The number of applications received to date exceed by 300 the number in hand at this time last year.

Boys in this divisional area, comprising Missouri and Arkansas, are eligible for one of six camps to be held at Jefferson Barracks, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; Fort Des Moines, Ia.; Fort Crook, Neb.; Fort Lincoln, N. D., and Fort Snelling, Minn. The training, for 30 days, and transportation to and from camp, is at Government expense. The Jefferson Barracks camp will open July 7 with an enrollment of about 500.

Fights "Payroll Racketeering."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Elimination of what he called the "payroll racketeering" of members of the House and Senate is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Stone (Rep.) Oklahoma. Stone said in a statement he had found "that wives and relatives of members are being carried on the payroll on high salaries when it is a well-known fact that they perform practically no labor to earn the salary."

$2500 Holdup in Chicago Theater.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Gustav Zettergren, assistant manager of the Majestic Theater in the heart of the loop, was robbed of $2500 and checks amounting to $258 by a Negro who accosted him inside the theater today. This was the second robbery of the same theater within a month. In the previous holdup $2200 was taken.

MAIL CLERK SHOT IN HOLDUP AT STATION IN GEORGIA

Robber Leaps From Train and Escapes With Pouch of Registered Letters.

By the Associated Press.

MERRILLVILLE, Ga., Jan. 29.—M. L. Prather, a mail clerk on an Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast Railroad train, was shot and seriously wounded here last night when a robber held him up and took from the mail car an undetermined amount of registered mail.

Deputy Sheeriff H. A. White of Thomasville, who arrived shortly after the robbery, said witnesses told him the robber swung from the mail car as the train was leaving the station and ran down the track in the opposite direction the train was traveling.

A pistol, thought to have been used by the robber, was found beside the track by White. He said it was a .38-caliber and one bullet had been discharged.

Deputy White said witnesses reported an unidentified man ran to the door of the mail car as the train was beginning to move away, but no one saw him board the train.

It is thought, the officer said, the man jumped into the mail car as soon as the train porter had thrown in mail pouches, shot the clerk when he resisted and swung from the train with a pouch of mail before the train had gathered speed.

AUTO OUTPUT ON INCREASE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—An increase in United States automobile production last month as compared with the previous month and the same period last year, is announced by the Commerce Department.

Production last month was 155,601 vehicles. This compared with 135,752 in November and 120,007 in December, 1929. Total production for 1930 was given as 3,354,870 cars and trucks. The output in 1929, which established a new record, was 5,358,420.

ILLINOIS SEARCH AND SEIZURE REPEAL ADVANCE IN HOUSE

To Be Voted on Feb. 10 With Wets Predicting Victory by Two to One.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 29.—A bill to repeal the Illinois search and seizure act was advanced to third reading and put on order of its passage for Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the House of Representatives here late yesterday, by agreement, after "wet" and "dry" members had waged five and one-half hours of debate.

Wets, declaring that the debate had done nothing but to give both sides a chance to "blow off," predicted the roll call will give them the victory about two to one. Then the bill will go to the Senate for a more strenuous fight.

SOVIET UNION ORDERS RAIL REORGANIZATION

Stalin Appeals to Party and Trade Bodies to Help Solve Serious Problem.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—Seriousness of the Soviet Union's railway problem was emphasized today with an appeal of Joseph Stalin to the Communist party and trade unions to help work out the dilema, and a Government order to effect reorganization of the railways not later than Feb. 20.

Stalin's appeal calls for complete co-operation. The Government order, signed by Vyachaslaff Molotoff, new president of the Council of Commissars, calls on the Council of Labor and Defense to undertake the reorganization.

The appeal declares: "Notwithstanding our many valuable achievements, the work of our transport is lagging behind the tempo and progress of other lines and branches of industry to such an extent that serious difficulties are presented."

The appeal calls for increasing wages of railway men, better food and clothing and other necessaries for them and for the construction during the present fiscal year of 1028 locomotives against 612 in 1929 and 60,000 freight cars against 17,000 in 1929.

It is suggested that in the reorganization of the railway management the supply of engineers and skilled workers be increased and that efforts be made toward better discipline, better work and a general increase in efficiency of workers.

The plan which the Council of Labor and Defense is ordered to provide is expected to mean expenditure of several billion rubles since the present equipment of the Soviet roads is generally regarded as the worst in many years. Transportation demands are growing by leaps and bounds as a consequence of intensive work in completing the five-year plan.

Because of the extreme pressure on the transport system there have been numerous collisions and accidents during the last year. It is safe to say that not a single train in Russia runs on schedule and that a passenger train that is three or four hours late is regarded as practically on time.

DOUBTS SUCCESS OF 9-FOOT CHANNEL IN THE MISSISSIPPI

University of Iowa Professor Thinks River Traffic Is Too Slow to Make Money.

By the Associated Press.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Jan. 29.—Though it may be feasible from an engineering standpoint, the construction of a nine-foot channel on the upper Mississippi River is not likely to be an economic success, Prof. Arthur C. Trowbridge, University of Iowa geologist, thinks.

In a talk here yesterday, Prof. Trowbridge, who has conducted geological surveys on the Mississippi River basin for the Federal Government, expressed the opinion that the return of river traffic on the Mississippi was "a doubtful proposition."

Especially in view of the 27 cross dams which will be necessary to maintain the nine-foot channel, river traffic is likely to be too slow for economic success, said Prof. Trowbridge.

"The country today is organized on a basis of speed," he said. "Economists agree that the project wouldn't pay and the railways are effcient. The plan sounds funny to the scientist, but fine to the politician. Regardless, it is certain to come. Politically, the people are strong for it."

PART OF LAKE BLOWN AWAY

40,000 Pounds of Fish Left Stranded at Hickman, Ky.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 29.—John Harper discovered yesterday that a strong south wind, lasting for nearly 36 hours, had blown almost all the water from the south end of his lake into the deep pool at the north end of the lake, leaving some 40,000 pounds of fine fish virtually stranded. This freak of the wind was possible because of the unusually low stage of the big lake, due to the long drouth.

Ordinarily the lake is three miles long and from a quarter to a mile wide. The drouth has reduced it until the narrow center for about a half mile is only marsh and the fish have been concentrated in the two ends of the lake. Because of the character of the bottom and the distance, Harper found it impossible to dig a ditch to allow the water to flow back to the south end, so he has started carrying the game fish around the lake from the south end to the north end in trucks, employing men in hip boots to catch them, at the same time appealing to the State Fish and Game Commission for help.

HYDRANT BURSTS, MENACING 25

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Twenty-five girls were imperiled yesterday afternoon when the bursting of a high pressure fire hydrant sent a torrent of water and many tons of stone and dirt into the locker room in the basement of the Friends School, an exclusive school for girls in Brooklyn.

One girl was saved from drowning in nine feet of water by two Negro employes. A Negro employe of an adjoining apartment house rescued two employes of the Department of Water Supply who fell into a 10-foot hole in front of the building.

EX-CONVICT TWICE DEFIES EXTORTIONISTS

Kansas Citian Refuses to Act as Go-Between in Plot Against Katz Brothers.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 29.—Fred Osthoff, former convict, is reported to be in hiding here today, fearing death by a gang he had twice failed as an unwilling intermediary in an extortion plot against Michael and Isaac Katz, millionaire drug store owners.

Osthoff was selected as a go-between in two recent attempts to extort money from the Katz brothers. The first time he failed to deliver to the intended victims a letter demanding $75,000. Instead, he left it with a lawyer.

That night he was kidnaped by five men who threatened to kill him unless he visited the Katzes and obtained the money. Again he made no effort to comply with the gang's demands, going instead to another lawyer, who advised him to tell his story to the police. This he refused to do, saying, the lawyer said, his past record would outweigh his testimony.

Since then his whereabouts has been unknown to the police, who think he is awaiting an opportunity to leave the city.

The money, under plans outlined in the letter to Osthoff, was to be delivered to the gang at Boonville, Mo. Osthoff was instructed to use one of the brothers' automobiles and stop every 10 miles and blink his lights. The missive was signed "The Boss."

The first of recent attempts to extort money from the Katz brothers was Jan. 19, when a telegraph messenger delivered a letter to them demanding $35,000. Police set a trap for the perpetrators, but no one was arrested. The second letter, received last Friday, was turned over to the police.

URGES PASSAGE OF BILL TO AID AIRSHIP INDUSTRY

Goodyear Executive Describes Dirigible for Atlantic Service Carrying 80 Passengers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Airships of the future were pictured before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee yesterday. The group had under consideration a bill to encourage the building of dirigibles in the United States and to provide for helpful air mail subsidies similar to those now in existence for airplanes and steamships.

Jerome G. Hunsaker, vice president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation of Akron, O., which is building two giant dirigibles for the navy, described the airship he believes will some day carry passengers and cargoes around the world. For economical operation on an international route, Hunsaker predicted an airship of 7,500,000 cubic feet, able to carry 80 passengers and 25,000 pounds of mail and express in addition to a crew of 50. Such a ship, he said, including parts and helium to lift it, could be built for $4,500,000. For trans-Atlantic service, Hunsaker said, terminal sites in the United States should be established in the general vicinities of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond and Alexandria, Va. The European terminal probably would be in the Rhine Valley between Paris and Berlin.

Hunsaker testified that original construction of ships and terminals would cost about $9,000,000 and urged early passage of the pending bill.

RECEIVER SEEKS RECORDS OF WARSON PETROLEUM SYNDICATE

Court Orders President to Show Cause Why Inspection Should Not Be Permitted.

Rufus G. Pearson, president of the Warson Petroleum Co., which is in temporary receivership, was ordered by Circuit Judge Rosskopf today to show cause why he should not permit an audit and inspection of books and records of the Warson Petroleum Co. Syndicate; also why he should not surrender to the receiver certain correspondence and business contracts which the receiver has not been able to find among records of the Warson Petroleum Co. and which, it is indicated, are in Pearson's possession.

According to the receiver demand has been made on Pearson to permit the audit and inspection of the syndicate's accounts and for surrender of the contracts and correspondence, but he refused to comply. The order was made at request of the receiver and was set for hearing on Feb. 5.

With respect to the syndicate the receiver states it appears from an audit of the petroleum company's books that $275,000 has been issued in syndicate certificates, while the records of the company show it is indebted to the syndicate $129,000. The receiver wants to verify this alleged indebtedness. Isaac N. Brown is receiver.

MISSOURI U. CONCERT FEB. 18

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 29.—Arrangements for the University of Missouri concert in which Amelita Galli Curci will appear in the Field House Feb. 18, are being completed.

This will be the soprano's only appearance in Missouri this season, and the concert, Dean James T. Quarles said, will "represent the most ambitious effort on the part of the university concerts management in years." Hundreds of reservations from nearby towns, he added, have been requested, among them that of Gov. and Mrs. Caulfield.

REAL ESTATE—EXCHANGE

A MESSAGE TO PROPERTY OWNERS THAT WANT TO SELL.
Many property owners wish to sell because the property they now have is no longer suited to their needs; in an active market the logical thing to do is to sell and then buy what you want; in this market where cash buyers are scarce the logical thing to do is to find someone whose property suits you and your property suits them; in this way you both get what you want with considerably less delay; we are agents for several hundred pieces of desirable real estate (apartments, business property, single and double flats, residences, bungalows and vacant ground); the owners of which will exchange for other property; among this list may be just what you are seeking. Let us send you our list of exchanges.

BETHLEHEM STEEL EARNED 17 CENTS LAST QUARTER

Net Income of $2,291,000 Is Reported — Regular Dividend of $1.50 Is Declared.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation today reported net income of $2,291,000 in the final quarter of 1930, against $3,783,425 in the previous three months and $10,046,197 in the comparable period of 1929.

Profit during the quarter after deducting all charges and dividends on preferred stock was equal to 17 cents a common share. In the third quarter profit was equivalent to 62 cents a common share and in the final quarter of 1929 amounted to $2.75 a share.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred and $1.50 on the common.

In a preliminary report for 1930, Bethlehem reported net earnings of $23,843,406, equal to $6.26 a share of common on 3,200,000 shares, against $42,243,000, or $11.01 per share, on the same number of shares in the record peace time year 1929. Net income in 1928 was $18,585,900, or $6.52 a share on 1,800,000 shares.

Total earnings for the final quarter of 1930 amounted to $7,418,383. This compares with $8,943,217 in the September quarter, and $16,444,519 in the fourth quarter of 1929.

The corporation's total income for the year was $45,233,664, against $67,469,245 in 1929 and $43,521,136 in 1928.

Operations averaged 42.5 per cent of rated capacity in the fourth quarter of 1930 as compared with 54.6 in the third quarter, and 76.8 per cent in the December quarter of 1929. Current operations are at the rate of approximately 46 per cent, the corporation reported.

Operation for the entire year were at the rate of 6.7 per cent of capacity, against 91.8 per cent in the previous year and 82 per cent in 1928.

The value of orders on hand Dec. 31, 1930, was $68,426,595, compared with $64,043,053 at the end of September, and $86,060,883 on Dec. 31, 1929.

Gross sales and earnings for 1930 aggregated $258,979,253, compared with $342,516,207 in 1929 and $294,778,287 in 1928. The total amount of new business booked during the year just closed amounted to $242,755,425, against $369,536,888 in 1929 and $295,209,483 in 1928.

The corporation expended $47,158,004 for additions and improvements in 1930. In 1929 they amounted to $22,193,308.

Cash and liquid securities on Dec. 31 amounted to $57,818,962, against $196,019,078, including cash reserved for retirement of bonds, on Dec. 31, 1929.

Mr. Grace said average billing prices during the fourth quarter were $6.10 a ton less than in the fourth quarter of 1929 and average prices for the year were $5.03 a ton less than in 1929.

He added that the February rate of activity would be higher than that for January.

The earnings per share of 17 cents were the lowest since the third quarter of 1924, when a deficit was shown.

FURTHER DECLINE IN GOVERNMENT BONDS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The decline in bond prices, precipitated by the weakness of United States Government securities, gained momentum today and prices in all sections of the list closed lower.

For the second successive day Government issues were hard hit by the selling.

The volume of trading in the Government section was unusually large and declines ranged from a full point in Treasury 3⅜s of 1940-43 to 14-32 in the Liberty 4th 4¼s. Turnover in the Liberty issue alone amounted to more than $1,100,000.

The domestic bond list suffered from sympathetic selling and was faced with an additional handicap through the offering of $60,000,000 in new issues today, bringing the total for the week to approximately $150,000,000. Both prime and second-grade issues yielded from good fractions to more than a point with the second-grade issues suffering the most.

A few foreign loans maintained their firm trend but the majority of changes in that section were on the downside also. Stock privilege issues were heavy.

At the peak prices of the year Government securities in a few instances offered yields only slightly above time money rates but the swift retreat to the low level of the last year has served to enhance the return and therefore make them even more attractive.

WHEAT SCORES SHARP ADVANCE AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Wheat scored a sharp advance late today and aided upturns in corn. Dry weather complaints both from winter and spring wheat territory gave strength to wheat, and so did big export purchases of Canadian wheat, 3,500,000 bushels in the last 48 hours. On early declines, rye as well as corn, made new low-price records.

Wheat closed irregular, a shade lower to 2 cents up, corn ⅝@1⅝c advanced; oats ⅛@⅝c up and provisions 5c to 35c down.

All deliveries of corn today outdid yesterday's record low prices, unequaled before since 1922.

Today's setback proved to be only fractional, however, and increased buying led soon to advances. Opening unchanged to ⅝ cents down corn later showed an all around upturn. Wheat started at a shade decline to ¼ advance, and subsequently fluctuated with corn.

With primary arrivals of corn, as well as Chicago receipts, showing far less volume than a year ago, friends of higher prices gave little heed to increases compared to a week ago. Primary arrivals totaled 709,000 bushels, compared with 628,000 a week ago and 1,131,000 on the corresponding day of 1930. Chicago receipts were 130 cars, against 90 a week ago and 225 at this time last year. Price rallies, though, failed to hold well, and at one time the market fell below early bottom levels.

Provisions sympathized with hog market declines.

CURB PRICES CLOSE AT BEST FOR DAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. — Short covering, inspired by the dullness of the market during an earlier decline, turned the curb higher today and closing prices were the best of the day. Industrials and specialties were particularly strong. Utilities recovered small declines of the morning and early afternoon, but showed only moderate net advances. Electric Bond & Share and American Foreign Power Warrants gained nearly a point each. There were gains of 1 to 5 in several industrials. Trading was light.

DIVIDEND DECLARATIONS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co. directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents, placing the stock on a $1.20 annual basis, against $1.40 previously paid.

Directors of S. S. Kresge Co. declared the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents on the common stock. C. B. Van Dusen, president, said it is the intention of the company to continue the present dividend rate of $1.60 a share in 1931.

UNCHANGED TO HIGHER CLOSE IN COTTON MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A slight early decline in cotton attributed to hedge selling and liquidation, was followed by recoveries in the market today.

Offerings were light after the early selling had run its course and prices advanced from 10.51c to 10.60c for May or about 6 to 8 points net higher on covering and trade buying. The bulges met somewhat increased offerings but the mid-afternoon market was quiet and about steady at net advances of 1 to 5 points.

Futures closed barely steady, unchanged to four points higher: March 10.29@10.30; May 10.56; July 10.80@10.81; October 11.05; December 11.23. Spot quiet; middling 10.42.

Cotton opened steady today unchanged to a decline of three points under some further hedging and scattering liquidation. Some buying was reported on the relatively steady Liverpool Cables, while there was some buying to fix prices for the trade in near months and the comparatively light offerings were well enough taken to give the market a steady undertone at declines of 2 or 3 points from yesterday's closing prices. May sold off to 10.51c and was holding within a point or two of that figure before the session had gone far.

Liverpool Cables were better than due on the New York close of yesterday on Continental buying, covering and trade calling.

Trading was quieter later in the morning with prices holding steady. The early offerings from the South were evidently absorbed by covering or trade buying and prices a little more than recovered the initial declines, with May selling up to 10.55c or about 2 points net higher. The market at midday was holding around 10.53c for that position, with the general list about net unchanged to 2 points lower.

MONTGOMERY WARD REPORT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The annual report of Montgomery Ward & Co., just made public, shows net earnings for the last quarter of 1930 of $3,417,202, which was sufficient to wipe out a deficit for each of the preceding three quarters of the year and leave a net profit of $568,211.

Net profit for 1929 was $13,434,935.

The figures provide an interesting contrast between the current depression which the firm believes is now ended and the depression of 1920-1921. The company's balance sheets at the end of the 1920-1921 depression showed a net loss of $7,855,278 as compared with this year's profit.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the class "A" stock. No action was taken on the common stock on which dividends were suspended Aug. 15.

The report asserts the company is now in the strongest financial position it has ever occupied. Its ratio of current assets to current liabilities being 14.33 to 1, compared with 11.08 to 1 at the end of 1921 and 5.42 to 1 at the end of 1928.

The report points out that principal shrinkage in mail order sales during the depression period resulted from lack of orders from farming communities and small towns.

"Any improvement in agricultural conditions," the report said, "will quickly reflect itself in increased mail order volume."

RAILROAD EARNINGS

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad for 1930 had net income of $21,979,860 equal to $12.75 a share, against $29,576,538, or $17.31 a share, in 1929.

The preliminary report of the Illinois Central System showed for 1930 net income equal to $6.01 a share on the common stock, against $9.14 reported for 1929.

St. Louis Southwestern Railway's preliminary statement showed a net loss of $445,481, compared with net earnings equal to 64 cents a common share in 1929.

Net income of the M. K. & T. lines for 1930 was equal to $3 a share on the common stock, against $5.10 a share in the previous year.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

TITLE GUARANTY TRUST NAMED IN NEW RECEIVERSHIP SUIT

Accounting With Commonwealth Farm Loan Co., a Subsidiary, Is Sought.

Suit for receivers for the Title Guaranty Trust Co., which was closed by its directors two weeks ago, and the Commonwealth Farm Loan Co., a subsidiary, was filed in Federal Court yesterday by James L. Minnis of California, a former St. Louisan, who owns 22 shares of Title Guaranty stock. The companies and officers and directors of each were named defendants. C. Norman Jones is president of both companies. A State receivership suit against the Title Guaranty Co. is pending in Circuit Court.

The petition alleges the properties of both companies are so intermingled and their mutual obligations so confused that an accounting is necessary to determine the rights of stockholders and creditors.

Minnis also asks that individual defendants account for losses accruing from the formation of the Commonwealth company to deal in farm loans and the Title Insurance Co. to take over the trust company's title business in exchange for its capital stock. He alleges these new companies were formed contrary to Missouri law, providing that no trust company shall invest more than 15 per cent of its capital and surplus in other private companies.

Minnis also seeks an injunction to restrain officers from disposing of assets of the defendant companies. The Title Insurance Co. is not involved.

A Harmless Prescription, but a Fine Laxative!

DON'T you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't cause disagreeable effects but cleanses the system thoroughly. It does it without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to act naturally, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice), and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

ASSERTS 'LOW-BROWS' READ GOOD BOOKS

Assistant Librarian Says Demand for Hardy Is Greatest Among Salespeople.

"Low-brows read good books," is the theme which Charles H. Compton, assistant librarian of the St. Louis Public Library, seeks to prove in an essay in the January issue of the Journal of Adult Education.

Addressing himself frankly to the "high-brows" and those who have time for everything but reading, Compton reviewed the Library record of 700 recent readers of Thomas Hardy.

Heading the list of numerous occupations were 96 salesmen and saleswomen and 91 stenographers, with "Tess of the d'Urbervilles" the most popular Hardy novel in both large classes.

"Most of the salespeople are department store clerks and neighborhood grocery clerks," Compton commented. "It is incredible that these salesfolks who sell us sox, and ties, bread and butter, sugar and tea, can really understand Hardy—at least in the way he is understood by our wives, who write papers about him for women's club programs! It must be a mere coincidence that those of Hardy's works which critics generally consider his greatest are also the most popular with these salespeople."

Among the Hardy readers found by Compton in the record are bookkeepers, manicurists, beauty operators, milliners, tailors, cooks, Negro maids, Pullman porters, nurses soda dispensers, telephone operators, waiters, waitresses, conductors, motormen, chauffeurs, mechanics, carpenters, printers, laborers, ice men, teamsters.

Most of the Hardy novels are represented in the list with special attention being called to the fact that a city fireman read "The Dynasts" and the volume of poetry, "Human Shows;" two Negro housemaids read "Late Lyrics;" a Pullman porter read the poetry collection, "Moments of Vision," and a policeman, "Wessex Tales."

J. T. Dyer Estate $126,893.

DO-X Waits Till Saturday.

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 29.—Departure of the German seaplane DO-X on a trans-Atlantic flight to Brazil was delayed today until Saturday to permit further tests of newly arranged motors and recent wing repairs. The start of the trip originally was planned for this morning, but it was said that a trial flight yesterday failed to give complete satisfaction.

ROCKET AIRPLANE WRECKED IN FIRST PUBLIC TRIAL

Elastic Rope Used to Launch Californian's Invention Becomes Fast in Wires on Craft.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—The first public attempt of Maurice Poirier, inventor, of Burbank, Cal., to demonstrate the practicability of a rocket airplane ended in disaster yesterday.

Poirier's model metal plane, with a wing spread of 12 feet, and equipped with an air speed indicator by which he hoped to prove a maximum speed of 500 miles an hour, was catapulted from a hilltop as movie cameras ground away.

The first of the rockets exploded and the craft gained speed, but the elastic rope used to launch the ship into the air became fast in wires on the craft and brought it crashing to earth. The other rockets exploded with the impact and the plane was wrecked.

Poirier said he would begin work immediately on a larger model, with which he hoped eventually to prove rocket passenger planes practicable.

Betty

by Faith Baldwin

WHO WROTE "THE OFFICE WIFE" AND "ALIMONY"

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN.

BETTY hesitated perceptibly. Then she named an evening when she knew Bob would be at a lodge meeting and Harry and Gladys would be having dinner with Mrs. Martin. After all—why not? She herself had brought the whole situation to this point.

Harry and Bob would know, of course, later. But there was no use crossing that bridge until she came to it. Helen would stay in the room, she would see to that.

So she said Yes.

That began it. He came over, friendly, debonair, picking up the threads, as if they had never been broken. And Helen did stay in the room with them and took a good deal of the burden of conversation from their shoulders.

The talk was mostly of the picture and Helen's chances to establish herself definitely through her part in it. Lorrimer spoke of his trip to Bermuda and of the fact that his new novel was not going at the pace which had distinguished Rainbow's End. He did not stay very long, he was far too clever. And he had only one word alone with Betty. He did not try for more.

She went to the door with him as he was leaving:

"Thanks for your note," he said, smilingly, "and you needn't feel grateful at all. It was Harrison, not I, who got Helen the part. I hope that she makes very good. I am sure that she will. Meantime . . . it's been good to see you and to know that you bear me no grudge for what was—sheer insanity. I—I will prove that to you over the next 20 years, if you'll let me."

She stammered something, painfully embarrassed and when she looked up again, he had gone.

In this fashion she saw him now and again, always at her own house. Harry asked her, seriously:

"Is it necessary? Is it wise?"

By this time she was sure of herself, sure that her worries and troublous heart searchings had been needless. She told Harry so, and told him frankly her reasons for seeing Lorrimer again.

"I was mistaken, and so are you—he isn't interested in Helen, at all. But I had to make sure, Harry," she explained.

Harry nodded. He was not seriously alarmed.

IT was Harry who, having reassured himself, reassured Bob with excellent and sober arguments. He said—and believed it when he said it—that it was evident to him that if ever Lorrimer had been infatuated with Betty the infatuation had passed. He liked her, of course, and this picture venture of Helen's had been bound to bring them together again.

A little uneasily Bob agreed and held his peace. But he, too, was not seriously disturbed for, in the first place, he knew nothing of the cause of the break between Betty and Lorrimer, and in the second place Lorrimer's contact with Betty was formal enough now. He called at the house and that was all. Betty did not go out with him either to lunch or dinner, neither did she attend any studio parties.

So Bob was content.

Lorrimer was not. He was keeping a very tight rein on himself and playing his own particular game for all he was worth. The resumption of friendly relations with Betty had meant more to him than he had dreamed it could mean, even in his blackest hours of frustrated desire. She seemed lovelier than ever to him, more to be longed for, more adorable. The little air of aloofness and remoteness, and, well, tolerance, which now marked her attitude toward him, to his keen and watchful eye only enhanced her value in his sight. He was more and more insane about her with every day. He wanted her more and more desperately. And he had to mark time.

He began to toy with the thought of marriage.

He could marry, any day, one of half a dozen girls in one of half a dozen circles. He could marry one from Park avenue or one from the Village or one from Riverside . . . and others. . . . There was always Sonia. He was aware of Sonia's pursuit of him. It had amused him—once.

LORRIMER had never wanted to marry. It was impossible for him to imagine himself tied to one woman—even if only officially—until death or divorce did them part. He could not endure, he had often told himself—and importunate ladies as well—forever having a woman under his feet.

And now, here he was, a born bachelor, seriously contemplating matrimony with, one would think, the last girl on earth who would have appealed to him in such a relation.

But contemplate it, he did.

And so often and so seriously that one evening when, by an unlooked for chance, he and Betty were alone in her little living room, he spoke of it to her.

"I'm thinking of getting married," he said abruptly.

She looked at him in astonishment, in relief, and . . . if it must be confessed, for she was feminine, a little spurt of pique.

"You are?"

"Yes—she won't have me, of course," he replied, gloomily. "And I haven't the courage to ask her . . . not yet. But"——

He shrugged and laughed a little, his eyes dwelling on Betty with the first flame of ardor in them that she had been allowed to see since the time when that ardor had leaped out and scorched her careless little fingers.

She knew what he meant now. She knew whom he meant. She affected not to know. She was determined not to be drawn into questioning him.

"I believe that you're joking," she answered lightly.

"No, I was never more serious. You see, Betty, this girl—I've known her for some time—she doesn't trust me any more, she doesn't even like me very much. I—behaved like a cad and a scoundrel to her. And she forgave me because she is, perhaps, the sweetest thing that ever lived on this earth. But she has never liked me since. I cannot blame her. I've—cared for her a very long time and during the period when we were separated and at odds through my fault, I came to realize that if ever I did marry it must be she. It couldn't be anyone else. I haven't wanted to marry any living woman since I was a freshman at college and fell in love with my roommate's sister, who was six years older than I. I swear it. But now—well—I'm not going to give up. And I shan't ask her . . . the girl I love . . . . until she lets me know by some means that forgiving is forgetting as well, that she can trust me again, that she can be my friend and comrade, that some day she may even come to care for me—unworthy as I am."

And at once, having finished his long, veiled declaration, he began to talk of other things and when Helen came in a few minutes later she found Betty silent and Lorrimer in the maddest of merry moods. He made her put on a record and fox trot with him all over the hall and living room. He called Virginia downstairs and Mrs. Warren too and offered to teach them the Charleston. He told a dozen funny stories, and when Bob and Harry, who had been working on a new scheme for their polish—came in—he bore the two of them off later and took them over to New York to feed them oysters and strange exotic dishes in a little special sea food place he knew.

SHE knew that Lorrimer had been speaking of her, and that he was giving her fair warning.

And, despite her distrust of him, she was greatly moved, even tempted.

After all, he had made the amende honorable.

He had proved that he really cared for her, he wished to make her his wife. It was Lorrimer, the predatory bachelor, whom she had disliked and distrusted and feared, once her eyes had been open. But how could she distrust or fear or even, she admitted, dislike Lorrimer the serious wooer, the suitor, the man whose amazing object was matrimony?

Oh, she loved Bob. She always had since their first meeting. She always would, she thought drearily. But what good could come of it? Their relations, since the first trouble, the first break in their hopes and plans had been unnatural and strained. Their love had settled down to a steady undercurrent but an undercurrent, a tide, that would never reach the sea. There were rocks and obstacles and stone walls that it could not encounter and defeat, it was forced back on itself in aimless whirlpools of emotion, under the smooth surface of their daily intercourse.

Perhaps if she married he would hate her and forget her. Perhaps she would hate herself enough to forget him.

Once she had read at the insistence of her English teacher at High School that great, eerie book which is WUTHERING HEIGHTS. She always remembered that one part of "Catharine's Confession."

"My love for Heathcliff resembles the eternal rocks beneath; a source of little visible delight but necessary. Nelly, I am Heathcliff! He's always, always in my mind; not as a pleasure, any more than I am always a pleasure to myself, but as my own being. . ."

Even as a young girl before love had even touched her this passage had stirred Betty. She looked it up now in the book her teacher had given her and read it again.

Oh, if she married Lorrimer she might come to care for him and she would make him a good and loyal wife, she would take her vows so seriously, she would put Bob out of all the years that lay ahead of her, she would even try to put him from her thoughts.

"HE'S always, always in my mind——"

Poor Catharine, poorer Betty who lived not between the covers of a book but in the midst of real and tumultuous life!

If she married Lorrimer she would be cared for, her people would be cared for. She would make that a condition and she knew that he would agree to it. No one of her own beloved circle need have any anxiety, any financial strain and stress, ever again.

Would she be justified in making this last supreme sacrifice for the people she loved?

Would she be justified in sacrificing Bob?

She did not know. She only knew how tempted she was. Lorrimer had not asked her, outright, of course. He had given her time, a breathing spell. He had as much as told her that the onus lay with her, if she could bring herself to consider him, it would be up to her to find some means of telling him so. . . .

As for Lorrimer, he was well satisfied with his evening's work. It had been carefully calculated, carefully thought out. If anything could disarm Betty, could make her forget her distrust of him, it was that masked confession. As for himself—well, he meant it, of course, but he had, at the same time, left himself, cautiously and characteristically, a very pretty loophole. He had spoken, as it were, with his eye on a possible exit.

SUITS ACE HIGH IN STYLE

By ANN ROBERTS

THE one great standby in the wardrobe of a well-dressed woman is her suit. This she can wear when everything else fails, and if she is held down to but very few clothes, her suit she can make do for almost every occasion.

Some women know these basic facts so instinctively that they cling to suits even when they are not a leading style feature. This year, however, everything is in their favor. The suit, possibly more than any other style of dressing, is ace high in fashion. You are sure to be interestingly as well as smartly dressed if you have one.

There are two distinct sorts of suits that are right. One is the strictly tailored suit following mannish lines in its making and clinging to mannish materials for its fabric. Then there is the softer, or what is called the "dressmaker" type of suit, made of more pliable materials and not so cut and dried in its designing.

ONE type of woman is simply made to wear the tailored suit. You know her just as well as I do. She is preferably tall. She is slim as to hips and square as to shoulders. She is the type the tailor himself delights to fit. For her there is no other sort of dressing that will do as much in her favor.

But she is, properly speaking, the only one who should attempt the tailored thing. For her more feminine and more fluffy sisters the dressmaker suit is better.

Tailored suits this season, while they follow strictly the established tailored and accepted lines, are still just a bit softened in their appearance. They are not so square-looking. They keep away from padded shoulders and have interesting inserts of cutting that break up their relentlessness somewhat. They have patch pockets, revers and straight collars none the less, and their skirts are plain in aspect with kick pleats and folded-over sections to keep them shapely when walking.

Notable among them is Chanel's suit of homespun-looking tweed. It has all the style points above mentioned, and then there is made to go with it a topcoat of the same material, double-breasted—pulled in a bit at the waistline—much on the coachman type of thing. For this coat there is still another addition in the shape of a long cape which can be attached to the coat or worn separately. And, by the same analysis, the coat also may be worn by itself.

You can see what an all-around serviceable suit you have when you buy one of this sort—something that will do for just about every purpose of an outdoors day either for the city or the country.

Sailor hats, you will find, will be quite smart as the season goes on. They have stiff brims and some of them are worn by smart women with mesh veils pulled tightly over the brims and under the chins—much in the 1900 manner. They look very chic, too, and are the rightest sort of thing to wear with tailored suits.

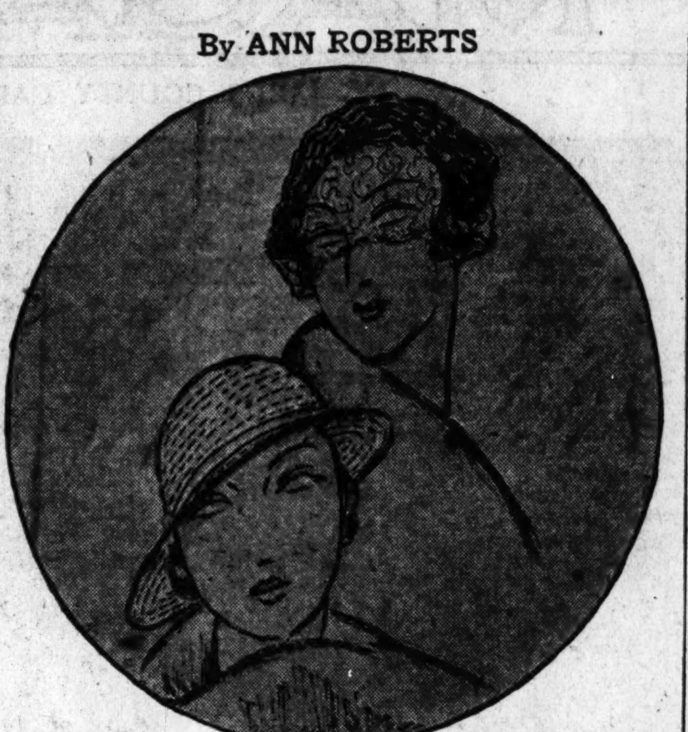
SOME of the new dressmaker suits have plaid skirts of rough wools with plain colored coats, while some of them reverse this process and show plaid or striped coats worn with plain skirts. These are the newer among them, but there are many made of the softer, lacier woolen fabrics with coat and skirt made of the same material—worn, of course, with blouses that carry out the character of the suit's design.

With these suits the Agnes berets of chenille are lovely and sometimes little nose veils are worn with them to help a little bit toward formality when that is something to be desired.

The Vionnet sort of suit has a very soft drapy coat buttoning over at one side or belted into place. One of these in gray would be most awfully smart at the present writing, worn with a black hat, black shoes, white gloves and either a black or a gray hand bag.

If you wish to buy your new suit at once you can begin wearing it almost immediately, for there is nothing better looking under a fur topcoat.



A stitched sailor and a beret suitable for wear with tailored suits.

THE MARRY —GO— ROUND

By Helen Rowland

LOVE-PIKERS.

The mid-Victorian girl lived in the fear of losing her reputation. The modern girl lives in the fear of losing her heart.

She will gamble with fate, risk death, jail or broken bones in a wildly speeding car. Risk scandal by doing all sorts of foolish and daring things. Risk drowning in summer; risk her limbs on the skiis in winter, and risk pneumonia all the year round in backless gowns, invisible hose and flimsy clothes.

She will fearlessly fly a plane and flirt with eternity in the clouds. She will take parachute leaps, take plunges in Wall Street, swim dangerous channels, and wreck her health in dancing contests.

But she WON'T gamble on love! She won't take an emotional risk. She won't risk having her feelings or her vanity lacerated by taking a chance on happiness.

She is afraid of marriage, afraid of love, afraid of her own emotions; and, in heart, she is far more afraid of MEN than her mother was.

She will flirt, she will pet, she will PLAY at love; but she holds on tight to her heart and head. And, when she cautiously goes into marriage, she wants all sorts of modern guarantees and safety devices, such as "companionate marriage" and written promises to part, at the first sign of dissension, to make it a "sure thing."

That's the funny thing about modern lovers. Old-fashioned lovers used to vow to cling to each other forever and ever. Modern lovers promise faithfully NOT to cling to each other one moment after the thrills are over. They step to the altar with their fingers crossed and one eye on the divorce-lawyer. They have no sporting spirit!

I wonder WHY. Why take chances on things that don't matter— risk your life for a thrill or an adventure or a medal or a "record"—and refuse to take a chance on the one thing in life worth gambling for?

Of COURSE, marriage is a gamble! It is the longest shot on earth. You never know how a husband is going to turn out; you never know how long love will last; you never know how you, yourself, will react to matrimony. And, granted that you could know these things, you never know what exigencies and burdens and problems the years will bring. It's all a gamble!

But so is life—and so is everything else in the world worth having. You take a chance when you go into business or into a profession or on the stage. You may be a flop—or a glittering success. You may fail ignominiously or conquer gloriously. But you are willing to take the risk. It's worth it!

Why not be sporting about love and marriage? Why demand or expect a "SURE THING" in the greatest and most glorious gamble on earth? People who go into marriage with a lot of reservations are love-pikers. And pikers never win anything—much!

Music for Ch

Take the Drudgery Out of Noted Pianist—Sees Ra in the Future

By HAROLD BA

MUSIC teaching in the future has a f than the one with which it is at p most enduring instruction in music which children and adults are directed distinguished from individual lessons.

I favor the direction of musical ed lishment as a social activity rather tha plishment, and I believe that the musical day needs emphatically to be directed to mutual enjoyment.

Music is in its essence a play, a game, an entertainment and a joy, and not something which implies distasteful routine and work. I should like to see music studied in the future from the same angle as tennis or golf, where the development of individual skill is bound up with the desire for fuller and better participation with others. Nobody wants to play tennis or golf alone.

Children whose interest in music first has been aroused through the pleasure that comes in taking part with other people in a musical activity not only will show greater progress in their subsequent individual music lessons, but will receive from this instruction something that will last them through life.

Both teachers and parents in the past have been inclined to believe that music study necessarily implies routine drudgery. Without first endeavoring to stimulate the need of music that is latent in all human beings, parents have thrust their children into music lessons that often were nightmares to them. As a result, their children have developed a horror of music, and once they have escaped from their music classes they never return to music.

MUSIC education should be begun by inculcating a desire for self-expression in a child, and music teachers of the future should realize that their task is to direct these ideas and feelings which are inborn. Musical activity should be given a form that interests and pleases, such as the singing and playing groups of many of our public schools. When the curiosity and interest of the children have been stimulated to the highest point, the group activity will in turn arouse a desire for individual performances.

In this connection, I believe that schools are equipped to do more music for children than homes, on account of the small living quarters of the present day, and the lack of facilities for practice rooms and practice periods.

Of late considerable propaganda has been made to "educate the listener." I am opposed to this, for I feel that music is something innate in human beings, and that people enjoy it solely because it responds to a desire and need that is in them from the day they are born. Children do not need to be taught how to enjoy themselves and one might as well try to teach people that without education they cannot enjoy their meals, as to tell them that the taste for music can be acquired only through intellectual processes.

WE must not put the cart before the horse. The object of musical education, as I see it, is to enable us to satisfy our natural curiosity as to what happens to us when we receive a thrill from certain combinations of sounds. Unless we take it for granted that the feeling comes before the knowledge, we shall not get far in developing a love of music either in children or adults.

Incidentally, I am not one who believes that the radio is ruining children's taste in music by mixing indiscriminately classic music and jazz. Children have the right to satisfy their curiosity about all sounds, and to explore the domain of the commonplace as well as that of the sublime. It is only by doing both that the child can learn to discriminate, and he will finally discover for himself, as others have done, that what is great in art survives and retains its mystery and its newness, while the meretricious becomes tiresome in a short time and soon disappears entirely.

THE radio has made it possible for more people to listen to music than ever before in history, and the fact that they are listening is in itself significant. The exposure of children to all music is far better than an attempt to tell them "This music is good" and "That music is bad." They will accept such dogmatic evaluations of music as they would accept superstitious ideas. Just give them the opportunity for exploration and discovery. Remember, however, that it is not enough merely to listen to music and, above all, give them a chance to take part in musical activities.

Ox Tail Soup

Cut one medium-sized oxtail in even pieces and place in a saucepan with seven cups water and one-half teaspoon salt. Simmer until the meat is tender, removing any scum that may rise. Remove the tail from the stock and add to the stock one cup chopped celery, two chopped carrots, two whole cloves, one chopped onion, salt and pepper. Simmer slowly until the vegetables are tender. Return meat to the stock, reheat and serve.

Music for Children

By HAROLD BAUER.

MUSIC teaching in the future has a far greater field to explore than the one with which it is at present concerned, and the most enduring instruction in music will be given in classes in which children and adults are directed in joint performances, as distinguished from individual lessons.

I favor the direction of musical education towards its establishment as a social activity rather than as an individual accomplishment, and I believe that the musical education of the present day needs emphatically to be directed towards the opportunity for mutual enjoyment.

Music is in its essence a play, a game, an entertainment and a joy, and not something which implies distasteful routine and work. I should like to see music studied in the future from the same angle as tennis or golf, where the development of individual skill is bound up with the desire for fuller and better participation with others. Nobody wants to play tennis or golf alone.

Children whose interest in music first has been aroused through the pleasure that comes in taking part with other people in a musical activity not only will show greater progress in their subsequent individual music lessons, but will receive from this instruction something that will last them through life.

Both teachers and parents in the past have been inclined to believe that music study necessarily implies routine drudgery. Without first endeavoring to stimulate the need of music that is latent in all human beings, parents have thrust their children into music lessons that often were nightmares to them. As a result, their children have developed a horror of music, and once they have escaped from their music classes they never return to music.

MUSIC education should be begun by inculcating a desire for self-expression in a child, and music teachers of the future should realize that their task is to direct these ideas and feelings which are inborn. Musical activity should be given a form that interests and pleases, such as the singing and playing groups of many of our public schools. When the curiosity and interest of the children have been stimulated to the highest point, the group activity will in turn arouse a desire for individual performances.

In this connection, I believe that schools are equipped to do more music for children than homes, on account of the small living quarters of the present day, and the lack of facilities for practice rooms and practice periods.

Of late considerable propaganda has been made to "educate the listener." I am opposed to this, for I feel that music is something innate in human beings, and that people enjoy it solely because it responds to a desire and need that is in them from the day they are born. Talks to PARENTS
By Alice Judson Beale

Indoor Afternoons

DURING the coming months there will be many afternoons when inclement weather will make indoor play necessary.

Those will be trying days unless the children can be kept so occupied that they will neither become peevish and bored nor violent and noisy. For such days it is well to have in reserve a few special play ideas and materials.

In homes where the children have a play room all to themselves, an attic or a dry light cellar, they can engage in such games as ring toss, deck quoits, bean bags and a modified form of handball.

But where the living quarters are somewhat more cramped, as in the average city home, it will be necessary to find more quiet activities.

A box of old clothes and costumes brought out on such days leads to dressing up and sometimes to charades, games of make believe and amateur dramatics.

It also is a fine opportunity to interest the children in some kind of craft work. Even a 6-year-old child can learn to work with pleasure at a very simple type of loom which is now sold in most toy shops. Paint, large sheets of paper and crayons offer an outlet for the child who prefers working in a freer medium.

A few woodworking tools, which include a coping saw, some thin wood and clamps, open up endless possibilities for toymaking. Old magazines, paste, scissors, a scrap book can always be counted on to interest children from 4 to 10 years of age.

The mother who is skillful in winning co-operation from her children will find that these indoor afternoons present excellent opportunities in getting the children to put their rooms in order, to tidy up desks and cupboards and perhaps to help in some special household chores.

Skirts for Evening Are Even More Full

THE skirts of Paris evening gowns boast more and more fullness. While hip-lines cling to a fitted effect, hemlines swirl into yards upon yards of material that fall softly to the wearer's instep.

A yellow chiffon gown holds its fullness in shirred gathers to the knee, releasing it to billow around the ankles, while an ivory satin frock gains its fullness through fitted diagonal pieces which flare below the knee.

Sewing Machine Helps

Your sewing machine will give much better service if kept clean. Did you ever try a mucilage brush—get a new one—for this purpose? Be sure to insert the oiled brush in every crack and crevice, especially underneath the needle bar. When the oiling is accomplished, clean the brush and place it in the machine drawer to be handy for future use.

The Maid's Room

Encourage the maid to keep her room clean and in order, even if your guests never see it. Give her time to attend to her own domain and she is much more apt to remain contented, at the same time helping along the sanitary condition of the house.

The Flapper Co-Ed
FAST DISAPPEARING

SYRACUSE, Jan. 27.

A "CLINIC FOR CO-EDS" at Syracuse University has discovered that the flapper is no more and that the modern young woman who has taken her place at the university has brains, courage, keen insight, determination and conviction.

The clinic is the office of the dean of women and the doctor in charge is Acting Dean Eugenie Andrus Leonard, who spent nearly a year studying the thoughts and reactions of the freshmen girls to the various aspects of life. These included academic pursuits, girl and boy friendships, recreation, clothes and personal adornment, religious ideas, vocational aspirations, use of money, contacts with home and mother and health habits.

Dean Leonard arrived at her findings by the questionnaire and interview methods. Two hundred first-year girls were studied.

Here is her conclusion:

"There is clear-eyed courage and keen insight in their analysis of their needs. There is a determination back of their conviction that each girl should do her own thinking, have her own code of morals and build her own philosophy of life. There is wisdom in their recognition of social values."

She found that the modern girl isn't a great deal different from what her mother was at the same age. No question of good or bad, moral or immoral, better or worse was involved in the survey, the dean emphasized. The report of her findings, now in the hands of the publishers, is addressed to the National Council of Parent Education, of which Dr. Leonard was a fellow in 1929.

SOME of the clinic's findings:

That 33.5 per cent of the girls smoked in high school, while 41 per cent took up the habit in college—a gain of 7.5 per cent in the change from home restrictions to campus freedom.

Eighty-five per cent of the first year girls already have decided what their work is to be after graduation.

Twenty-three girls thought that a co-ed should know about sex and 59 thought that it would be well to know how to go about with boys.

Twenty-eight per cent of the co-eds avowed they had been in love many times; 8 per cent said they had occasional "crushes" on boys; 21 per cent said they had been in love twice; 10 per cent said they had loved once; 31 per cent said they had never been in love.

Sixty-two per cent of them said their mothers agreed with their opinions about "necking" and "petting"; 23 per cent differed with their mothers on this question.

Only 1 per cent said they had changed all of their religious beliefs since coming to college; 64 per cent had retained all of their religious ideas, while 35 per cent had changed a few.

They were asked whether they agreed with their mother's religious beliefs, and 44 per cent said they agreed with all of them, 43 per cent with some of them, 6 per cent with a few and 2 per cent did not agree with any of them.

The problem of sex adjustment brought interesting replies. Sixty-six per cent of the co-eds talk over their love affairs with their mothers.

"Do you think your mother understands the present day problems of young people?" was another question.

About 67 per cent answered affirmatively; 25 per cent thought their mothers did not understand.

HERE are some of the co-ed's suggestions in their own words, as furnished to the dean:

"I think that a mother should tell her daughter everything about life before she comes away to school instead of letting her find things out for herself."

"I believe that a girl who has not been on her own to some extent during her high school years should not be allowed to go away to college."

"My mother told me everything necessary, but what she didn't tell me I found out for myself in 'bull sessions' (informal talk meetings) at boarding schools."

"I think that a girl should know practically everything about life before she comes to college. It is much better for her mother to tell her than to pick up the knowledge for herself."

"I think that a girl entering college should know all about sex relationship. It is only right that the mother should tell her daughter this."

"I would have been glad to have known more. I think my younger brother and sister will be better fitted for college when their turn comes because of the hints I have given mother."

"A girl should know how to take care of herself under all conditions. She should know how to dress, how to smoke, how to drink a little, how to pet so she won't be surprised into anything, how to keep her heart and not to fall easily, and how to get along with other girls."

"A girl should know all about the greater problems of sex. She should have some experience in petting, should have gone out with men and know how to hold them in check. She should know how to smoke and if she drinks, when to stop."

DR. LEONARD said she believed that in the main these girls have kept their heads. "It is remarkable," she said, "that there are not more shipwrecks instead of less.

"These girls need counsel rather than punishments. We are not aiming at discipline but searching for a solution not only to the academic problems, but to life problems as well."

The other conclusions she reached included:

"College life at Syracuse is not carefree or peaceful. It is like all other forms of American life—fraught with serious problems, hazards, responsibilities and supreme desires.

"The data show a yearning for ideals of 'perfect knowledge,' finding expressions in such phrases as 'A girl ought to know everything about life,' 'A girl ought to know all there is to know.'

"If all knowledge is not possible, what knowledge and skill are essential and how may they best be given to the growing girl? The study suggests at best a partial answer to both aspects of the question.

"It suggests that native ability may play a large part in the process of learning social customs.

"Study of the responses is inclined to show that preparation for college life should extend over the full three or four years of high school life. . . .

"There is clearly a need for knowledge and experience in the handling of money. The girls were unanimous in thinking that every girl should know how to select and care for appropriate clothing. Some of this training should be given in home economics classes in high school.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner.

The Real Party

THE little old man and John and the Little Black Clock arrived for the party. John had had a beautiful time. The little old man had shown him his carpentry room where he had made ships of all kinds and sizes when he had been a little boy. He told John how he still liked to make ships and how the boys of the neighborhood came in to help him.

He had gone to sea many, many times and had so many thrilling stories to tell of the storms through which he had sailed.

The little old woman said that children never decided whether she was young or old, because she had always kept her first doll, Alba, and Alba's many friends kept an old person young.

And the little old man said the reason he believed that he had kept young was because he had always kept the first ship he had made and the boys used it as a model in making other ships, or it made them want to hear his stories which he so loved to tell.

They had no sooner finished giving their reasons than the house was simply filled with children from all the countryside around.

And then the games began. They played all sorts of games, but hide-and-go-seek more than any other. The little house was full of marvelous hiding places.

The Little Black Clock took a rest during the party. He said the other children might not know what to make of a little clock running around on legs.

But after the party was over—and all had had creamed chicken and ice cream and sponge cake, and paper caps to wear—he came back for John and Peggy and took them home once more.

"We must go for a sleigh ride tomorrow," he said. "I've asked the Snow King to come, too."

"I wonder if I could ask him a question," Peggy asked.

Don't fail to dry the hands thoroughly and rub into them a lotion every time they are washed.

SCENES ON WALL PAPER

SCENIC designs now are on the scene again, and flowers are gone.

Wallpaper, draperies, even china now are simply backgrounds for landscapes and story pictures.

Scenic wallpaper never really has left us altogether, but more of us are appreciating the way in which it seems to make big rooms out of little ones. And in the hall or dining room it prevents the formal furniture groups from appearing too "self-conscious."

There is that many-colored paper on which repeated red-coated hunting parties gallop through similarly repeated groups of green trees. It is beautiful for a dining room with maple furniture.

Toile de Jouy draperies have been the ideal in scenic effects for many of us for a long time. New reproductions in linen, cotton crash or chintz carry out faithfully the one-color scenes characteristic of the originals designed long ago in the little French town of Jouy and printed on bleached or natural grounds in shades of garnet, blue or amethyst.

Other new toiles are beige, green, sepia and familiar reds on pale grounds, like delicate blue or pink.

In the same spirit are the newest toiles bright with scenes from colonial life, including Paul Revere's ride, the gallant clipper ships and life in New York in the late eighteenth century.

Black and Oyster

Has your child a fine, full chest, straight legs, sound teeth?

Bottled Sunshine

helps to build them

● How many children never fully develop, how many suffer from poor teeth which decay easily because they fail to receive enough of one particular factor!

This is the factor they must have to build strong bones and sound, even teeth—Vitamin D.

For your child's appearance and health, authorities stress the importance of providing him with enough of this factor.

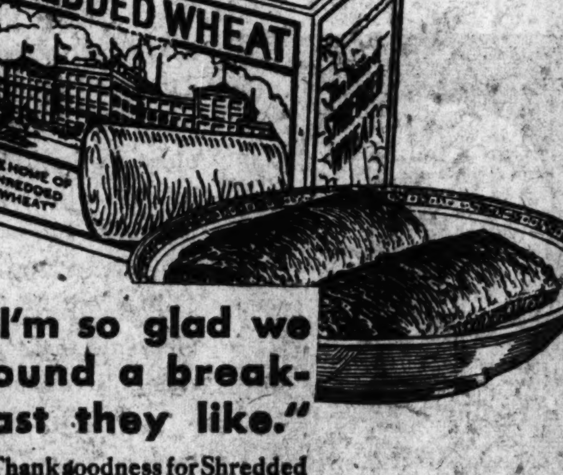
But sunshine, to be effective, must reach your child directly. Cloudy weather, clothing, window glass prevent this. Every day you should make sure he receives the dependable source of Vitamin D—Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil.

Besides helping your child develop his bones and teeth properly, good cod-liver oil has another value. It provides Vitamin A, the factor needed for growth and for protection against colds.

Squibb Cod-Liver Oil contains an abundance of both Vitamins A and D. It is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected and so very rich that Squibb guarantees its vitamin content.

Protect your child with Squibb Cod-Liver Oil! Give it to him twice every day. All reliable drug stores have it, plain or mint-flavored.



"I'm so glad we found a breakfast they like."

"Thank goodness for Shredded Wheat! The children just wouldn't eat breakfast and I was so tired of coaxing them. But when they tried the crisp, tasty biscuits, floating in milk and cream, they were delighted. And best of all—Shredded Wheat is ideal for children. It's just the food to build bone and muscle."

Wakeful restless CHILD needs Castoria

WE can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Other times it's constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked promptly. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother continues it in more liberal doses as a child grows up.

Readily obtained at any drug-store, the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature and the name Castoria on the wrapper like this:

COLD INFECTION

carried and spread by handkerchiefs

Use Kleenex
then destroy

IMPORTANT to the health of every man, woman and child in the United States is the latest scientific information about the importance of Kleenex during colds.

This information comes as a result of tests performed on ordinary handkerchiefs used during colds. These handkerchiefs, without exception, were found literally teeming with disease germs. Used even once, a handkerchief may contain over 200,000 germs! These germs are carried back to the face by the ordinary handkerchief . . . but are destroyed when you use Kleenex.

What Kleenex is

Kleenex is a soft, super-absorbent tissue. So inexpensive that you use each tissue only once, then discard. So gentle that irritation is impossible.

You buy Kleenex in Cellophane-sealed packages. Each tissue is as completely sanitary as it looks—and its snowy whiteness is a joy to see.

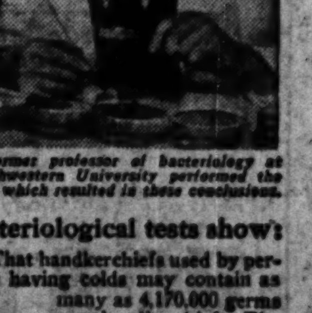
Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store; 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.



A former professor of bacteriology at Northwestern University performed the tests which resulted in these conclusions.

Bacteriological tests show:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief. The organisms included are those associated with colds.

2. That organisms associated with colds, when impregnated upon linen and rinsed in boiling water and soap water, were not killed nor appreciably inhibited from growing.

Escalloped Tomatoes

Always an old reliable to tuck in the oven on a winter's night. Drain some of the liquor from one can of tomatoes. Season with salt, pepper, onion juice and sugar. Cover the bottom of a buttered baking dish with buttered crumbs, cover with tomatoes and sprinkle top with more crumbs. Bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are nicely browned.

Rust in Water Tank

DON'T blame the plumber if the hot water spigot tends to drain off a red, rusty stream when you first turn it on. It happens in the best regulated heating systems. It is a simple matter to remedy this condition. Rusty water means that the hot water tank contains a fine sediment of rust. When the first symptoms appear, open the spigot of the drain valve on the hot water tank and allow the water to run off for about five minutes. Repeat this for several days and soon all the rust will be removed and the water will be as clean as ever. This operation is best performed while the water in the tank is cold.

Grape Juice Nectar

A nice harmless drink for the ladies of the needlework guild when they meet at your house. One pint pure grape juice, one-half cup sugar, the juice of two lemons and one pint of water. Mix well and garnish each glass with thin slices of lemon or orange and serve ice cold or with cracked ice in the glasses. The ingredients may be increased proportionately.

Threaded Needles

A WOMAN who finds threading needles a difficult task received a Christmas gift that expressed thoughtfulness.

In a fancy box were several spools of white and black cotton in the desirable numbers and a spool of black, navy and gray silk, these being the colors this woman had need of. Each spool had a dozen threaded needles attached and knots at the end of threads to prevent their slipping off.

When the woman wants to sew she just slips back all the needles excepting one and, holding this one in her hand, she cuts off the length of thread she desires and she has a threaded needle. Of course she does not forget to make a knot in the spool of thread containing the remaining supply of needles.

Baked potatoes will be much more mealy if, before being put in the oven to bake, they are allowed to stand for 20 minutes in hot water.

Sore THROAT

The daily press tells of increasing numbers of cases of sore throat. A sore throat is a menace to the person who has it, and to those around him. Don't neglect the condition. Check the soreness and the infection with Bayer Aspirin! Crush three tablets in ⅓ tumblerful of water and gargle well. You can feel the immediate relief. The soreness will be relieved at once. The infection will be reduced. Take Bayer tablets for your cold; and for relieving the aches and pains common to colds. Bayer Aspirin brings quick comfort in neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism, etc. Get the genuine, with the Bayer cross on each tablet:

4-PILLAR TUBES winning Radio Public

New type radio tube thrills listeners. Demonstrates great improvement in thousands of sets

Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation, the many fragile parts in the tube can be assembled with watch-making accuracy, and cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position! They are always poised for performance, like the strings of a fine piano, tuned for a concert!

In ordinary tubes, the many delicate parts have only a two-legged foundation — like the goal-posts on a football field. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps, vibration from dynamic speakers — all can impair their vital accuracy. That means uncertain results . . . unreliable reception!

The radio service-man, who keeps your set in repair, is a technical expert . . . he knows tubes! He can explain the value of the 4-pillar principle, and demonstrate it, in your own radio set.

ENGINEERING science has developed a new and better way of constructing radio tubes. Taking a sound, fundamental principle, and applying it to tubes for the first time! The result is 4-pillar tubes . . . the first and only real advance in modern tube design.

Four rigid supports . . . one at each corner of a square . . . give the elements in 4-pillar tubes a firm foundation. Protecting them against vibration from dynamic speakers, keeping them safe from the dangerous jolts all tubes receive in shipment, and guarding their split-hair accuracy so that their tone remains true, clear and powerful.

Other tubes, with two-post construction, are subject to all of these dangers. Why not be sure?

Free Home Demonstration

There's no longer any reason to miss a note of the beautiful, clear tone your radio can give. You can try a complete set of these tubes at home, with no obligation. Find out how quickly they act when you turn the switch! Listen to the volume and realism they give to a program. Notice how free they are from hum and noise. Give them a real test in your own radio! No electrical test in a dealer's store can tell you as much as that.

National Carbon Company, Inc., has arranged with Eveready dealers to give you this free home test. Let the tubes speak for themselves. If your present tubes are a year or more old, you can't afford to miss this opportunity. Call the nearest Eveready Raytheon dealer now!

A Cleansing Hint

JUST because the collar of your coat is soiled it is not necessary to put the garment in the hands of the tailor or cleaner.

If it is only slightly soiled or greasy, just dissolve a little salt in alcohol and rub this over the collar with a soft cloth. For obstinate grease spots, first rub well with soapsuds made of lukewarm water and pure white soap, then sponge with alcohol.

Starch on the Iron

If the iron is giving poor service because of starch on it, saturate a cloth with water wrung partly dry and rub soap on it. Place this on several thicknesses of paper and run the iron over it several times. The starch will rub right off.

The AGE of YOUTH

By Arthur Somers Roche

A dashing modern love story by one of America's favorite novelists . . . telling how a girl borrowed $25,000 from a rich bachelor to finance her campaign for a wealthy husband—with herself as security if she should fail . . . .

To Rejuvenate Fur Coat

IF you have worn your fur coat daily it may be looking dull now, but just a little freshening will brighten it right up.

If it is a dark fur, brush it with a little brilliantine, using a soft, clean brush, and do not be too generous with the brilliantine. Brush the coat well before cleaning it. Use hot salt on a sealskin coat. For other furs, sprinkle warm cornmeal liberally over the coat, rubbing it into the fur and changing it as it becomes soiled. Use yellow cornmeal for dark fur and the white for light fur.

When you have gone all over the fur and it seems clean, lay the coat on the table and beat lightly with a smooth, two-inch-wide ruler. Then hang it outdoors for a few hours, after which brush it thoroughly with the whisk broom.

Couzens Girls Prefer Horses to Automobiles

THOUGH their father made millions in motor cars the two daughters of Senator James Couzens of Michigan prefer horses to automobiles.

The former Margo Couzens, now Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, always has liked horses. She is an expert rider and since her marriage has continued to take part in horse shows in the capital and in Virginia.

Flower Bonnets Chic for Theater

BONNETS of flowers are the Parisian debutante's favorite chapeau for theater and dancing hours.

The Spring Bride's Linen

THE Easter bride is now assembling her linen closet supply. Most brides prefer the twin beds, but whether she is to have these or the double bed, she will find the 108-inch length sheets the best for the making of a perfect bed. For twin beds 63x108 inches will do, but a 72x108-inch makes a much better fitting sheet. For a full-size bed the regulation sheet is 81x108 inches. For twin beds she will need six pairs of sheets and 12 pairs of pillow cases.

A mattress cover is a protection and is now included in hope chest contents. These come in white or color.

There should be two pairs of woolen blankets and those in color are now preferred, blue, green, rose, lavender and mahogany being the present favored colors. There should be two patchwork quilts for the cool summer nights and two woolen comforters. Most brides include two covers for the comforters because these are so easily laundered.

Custard Pear Pie

Line a deep cake tin with rich pie crust. Cover the bottom with stewed pears. Pour over the pears a custard made of one cup milk, one cup pear juice, the yolks of three eggs, four tablespoons sugar and a pinch of salt. Bake in the oven until the custard is firm and the crust well baked. Make a meringue of the four egg whites and spread on top. Return to the oven to brown lightly.

A Little Boy's Shoes

When lacing the little fellow's shoes try this method and then there will be no accidents from hanging strings. Upon reaching the top eyelet, instead of lacing from the inside out, lace from the outside in. Tie and tuck the ends well down inside the shoes.

COMIN' THROUGH THE RYE
THE RIVER RYE IN SOUTHERN SCOTLAND IS SO SHALLOW IN CERTAIN SPOTS THAT PEOPLE WADE ACROSS IT. IN BURNS' TIME THE GIRLS WERE FORCED TO USE BOTH HANDS TO HOLD THEIR SKIRTS WHILE CROSSING. WHEN THIS HAPPENED THE BOYS WOULD COME ALONG AND STEAL KISSES. THIS SITUATION INSPIRED THE SONG.
RAINING CATS AND DOGS
IN SCANDINAVIAN MYTHOLOGY WITCHES WHO RODE THE STORMS ON BROOMSTICKS HAD THE POWER TO TRANSFORM THEMSELVES INTO CATS. THE DOG WAS A PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE OR SYMBOL OF ODIN, THE STORM KING. SO THIS EXPRESSION, APPLIED TO STORMS, IS A HERITAGE FROM THE OLD SCANDINAVIAN MYTHS.
ROLL CALL
WHEN THE ROMANS MARSHALLED SOLDIERS INTO THE ARMY THEY INSCRIBED EACH MAN'S NAME ON A ROLL OF PARCHMENT AND USED THE RECORD TO CHECK UP ON MISSING MEN FROM TIME TO TIME. FROM THIS PARCHMENT WE RECEIVED OUR EXPRESSION ROLL CALL.

MY WORD, WHAT HAPPENED? I DON'T HEAR OUR RADIO GOING FULL-BLAST. WHERE'S OUR VISITORS, NIMROD AND LUCILLE?
GONE OUT. HE SPENT ALL AFTERNOON TELEPHONING UNTIL HE FOUND SOMEONE WHO WOULD INVITE THEM TO DINNER. THEY WAITED FOR YOU UNTIL ABOUT TEN MINUTES AGO SO YOU COULD TAXI THEM TO WHERE THEY'RE GOING.
SUCH CRUST! WHAT A TIGHT BABY HE IS. EVERY TIME HE GETS A DOLLAR BILL HE PUTS GLUE ON ONE SIDE OF IT AND PASTES IT TO THAT BIG ROLL HE CARRIES. LUCILLE IS DIFFERENT.
DIFFERENT? WHAT DO YOU MEAN? SHE'S BORROWED MY FACE POWDER AND LOTION AND WHEN I LOOKED TODAY I FOUND NEARLY HALF OF THAT EXPENSIVE HAIR TONIC I USE, GONE.
BEING MARRIED TO A MAN WHO PROBABLY SHOPS AROUND TO FOUR OR FIVE POSTOFFICES BEFORE HE BUYS A TWO CENT STAMP IS BOUND TO HAVE ITS INFLUENCE.
HE'S CERTAINLY VERY OPEN-HANDED WITH HER. SHE HAS A BIG FUR COAT THAT COST THREE OR FOUR TIMES AS MUCH AS THE ONE I'VE BEEN WEARING FOR SIX YEARS.
FUR COAT? YOU MEAN...OH YES, SHE HAS A FUR COAT. I WAS THINKING OF THE BLUE ONE WITH THE BIG FUR COLLAR SHE WORE WHEN SHE GOT HERE.
EXPENSIVE STOCKINGS. TWO BIG DIAMONDS. THEY'RE YELLOW BUT DIAMONDS JUST THE SAME. NOTHING TO DO BUT DOUSE HER FACE TWO OR THREE TIMES A DAY WITH SKIN FOOD. NO WONDER SHE LOOKS AT LEAST A YEAR OR TWO YOUNGER THAN I DO.

MUSSOLINI SAYS BUTLER AFFAIR IS CLOSED INCIDENT

Cables Envoy He Felt Sure He Would Obtain "Just Redress From Fairness of Americans."

J. W. DAVIS MAY DEFEND GENERAL

White House Says President Had No Part in Note of Apology—Heflin Makes Protest Against Arrest.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Premier Mussolini cabled to Italian Ambassador de Martino today he had felt sure that he would obtain "just and prompt redress from the fairness, the loyalty and the friendship of the American Government and the American people whose respect for the truth is well known to me" after the incident in which Major-General Smedley D. Butler of the Marines made derogatory remarks about him.

Mussolini's Message.

The text was:

Rome, Jan. 30, 1931, 2 p. m.

"His Excellency de Martino, Royal Italian Ambassador, Washington.

"I felt sure that I would obtain just and prompt redress from the fairness, the loyalty and the friendship of the American Government and the American people whose respect for the truth is well known to me.

"Will you please communicate to the Federal Government that I consider closed the incident, which for my part I have already forgotten.

"Mussolini."

Meanwhile, a protest against the arrest of Butler for his criticism of Mussolini was made in the Senate by Senator Heflin (Dem.), Alabama.

J. W. Davis May Head Defense.

The expectation that John W. Davis, New York lawyer and 1924 Democratic nominee for the presidency, would head the counsel for Gen. Butler during his courtmartial was expressed today by friends of the Marine officer who have been studying the case.

Arrangements for counsel were discussed this morning in the office of Maj. Henry Leonard, U. S. M. C., retired, a Washington attorney and friend to Butler. With Leonard were Lieutenant-Colonel J. J. Meade, Gen. Butler's chief of staff: Lieutenant-Colonel P. F. Archer, Quartermaster of the Marine Post at Quantico, and Brigadier-General Randolph C. Berkley, acting commandant of the post.

The four men were closeted for nearly two hours.

Officers Who Will Try Butler.

Secretary of the Navy Adams approved a list of six Rear Admirals and one Major-General of the marines to constitute the court which will try Butler. Those selected are Rear Admiral De Steiguer, president of the court and commandant of the third naval district at New York; Rear Admiral Phelps, commandant of the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard; Rear Admiral Taylor, head of the war plans division, Navy Department; Read Admirals Day and Blakely, both members of the Navy General Board; Read Admiral Clark, director of fleet training at the Navy Department, and Major-General John H. Pendleton, U. S. M. C., retired, of Coronado, Cal.

Capt. William C. Watts, chief of staff at the fourth naval district, Philadelphia, was named as Judge-Advocate of the court martial. His duties parallel those of a Prosecuting attorney in civil court.

Heflin Gets Excited.

In the Senate, Heflin of Alabama said he was "getting tired of this kowtowing to the monarchs of the Old World.

"Why should an American General bow down and crawl in the dust to the most red-handed tyrant on earth—Mussolini—the monarch of the Old World?" he asked.

He demanded that before Butler is disciplined an investigation should be made into the truth of the statement that Mussolini ran down a child and did not stop. "It sounds exactly like Mussolini," he said.

"I stood here three years ago and related stories of Italian Masons being murdered at the instance of Mussolini. There were 137 of them in one night, if I remember correctly.

"They were followed to the lodges and butchered and their bodies thrown out of the windows. The Grand Master of the Masons in Italy was sent to prison by Mussolini and put in a dark dungeon and kept there until his eyesight failed."

It was said at the White House today that President Hoover had taken no part in the developments
